IN MEMORIAM.

FANNING—In sad and loving memory of my dear father, John James Fanning, who died January 25th, 1928, at his residence, Steward's Lodge, Cronebane Castle, Avoca, County Wicklow.
Thank God for the faith that teaches,
When the struggles of life are o'er,
We shall meet our own, our loved one,
And shall know him once more.
What matter if life be dreary,
And we tread its paths alone,
When, after the journey is ended,
In Heaven we will know our own.
Inserted by his loving wife, son, and daughters.

JOHNSTON—In fond and loving memory of my dear sister, Jennie, whom God called to rest on 25th January, 1921. "Safe in the arms of Jesus."

LEAHY—In loving memory of Frederick Leahy, 57 Ballybough road, who passed peacefully to rest on January 25, 1929. "Now the labourer's task is o'er."

McDONALD—Second Anniversary—In loving memory of my dear wife and our dear mother, Margaret McDonald, who entered into rest on January 25th, 1928. Ever remembered by her loving husband and family. — Iona. Thomas McDonald.

RICKARD—In sad and loving memory of my dear husband, Martyn James Rickard, 15 Broadstone avenue, who died January 25, 1929. Sadly missed by his loving wife and family.
"His earthly toils and cares are o'er,
He dwells with Christ for evermore."

"In my memory we are never parted."
"Until the day break and the shadows flee away."—Florrie.

R.I.P. On whose soul, Sweet Jesus, have mercy. Masses this day at St. Joseph's, Terenure; Rathgar, Mount Argus, Poor Clares, and Sacred Heart, Donnybrook. Fondly loved and very sadly missed by her sorrowing daughters and son.
A better mother never lived,
Nor one more devoted, unselfish, and kind.
For each and all of us she did her best,
May God grant her soul eternal rest.
True hearts that loved you, dearest mother, in life,
Always will love you in death just the same.

Harmony

There is nothing slip-shod about Harmony—it is natural—but it is the outcome of precise thinking and accurate execution. This means perhaps years of patient labour, but the reward more than compensates for the effort.

Applied to Motor Cars you will observe on trial the vast amount of research and care which has been needed to produce such a wonderful vehicle as the celebrated Armstrong Siddeley—the car that leads the stream of fashion without ostentation. In a word—Armstrong Siddeley means harmonious motoring.

THE ALLSPICE.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says: The Allspice, Calycanthus floridus, the deliciously fragrant Carolinian shrub of which the Japanese Chimonanthus, now flowering, is a very near relation, seems indispensable to any shrubbery planting, or should be so considered, and is exceptionally hardy. Whether the Californian species, C. macrophyllus, will prove so we have yet to determine; if so, with its larger foliage and dark red blossoms, it will be considered preferable, as it flowers profusely the summer season through. Both species are easily propagated by layering down a slender branch. Neither are aggressive growers, seldom exceeding four feet. Of the rarer, and alleged to be superior, species, occidentalis, also from California, we have had no experience.

EGGS FOR HATCHING.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—Frost destroys the fertility of eggs; therefore, collect the eggs frequently during frosty weather. If they have to be kept for some time before hatching, they should be stored on egg trays, large end downwards, in a temperature between 54 and 65 degrees. They should not be kept longer than about two weeks for hatching by hens, or one week for incubators. Choose eggs with strong shells, but smooth, without a thick appearance. They should be even, clean and of good shape; size, the average for the breed, neither too large or too small.

MANSION HOUSE COAL FUND.

A special meeting of the Committee of the Dublin Mansion House Coal Fund was held last Thursday evening. Rev. Dr. Denham Osborne presided. Also present:—Very Rev. John Flanagan, P.P.; Rev. J. C. Breakey, B.A.; Mrs. Maud Walsh, Senator Alfred Byrne, Mr. William Field, and Sir John Irwin and Mr. J. J. Nagle, hon. secs. An apology was received from Rev. W. J. McCreery, B.D. The Committee had under consideration a number of reports received from the organisations through whom for many years the distribution of the coal has been effected, including the St. Vincent de Paul Society, Sick and Indigent Roomkeepers' Society, Dublin Parochial Association, etc. These reports showed that, notwithstanding the relief afforded to some by the recent Act of the Oireachtas, there are still a considerable number of poor to be helped by this fund who will not be reached in any other way. A bag of coal to elderly and sick people, widows with young families, is found to be almost as essential as food. The Committee were satisfied that the system of personal investigation carried out by their distributing agencies, and who are in touch with the relieving officers, minimises the risk of overlapping. The hon. secs. were requested to communicate with any subscribers who may have any misgivings as to the necessity for continued support of the coal fund.

The hon. treasurers announced the receipt of further subscriptions received.

YESTERDAY'S CASES IN THE COURTS

MEANING OF THE WORD "MONEY."

JUDGMENT IN INTERESTING ISSUE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

Reserved judgment was delivered in the matter of the Jennings Trust and in an action of Caldbeck against Stafford, which related to the will of Mrs. Anastasia Jennings, who died in Surrey, England, in 1928, leaving property at Monkstown, Co. Dublin; at Thurles, Co. Tipperary; in India Stock and War Loan. Her will was in the following terms:—

"I will my grand-daughter, Beryl Kathleen Moira Lindemere, to have the use of all my money for her life. I revoke all my former wills."

The suit was instituted by Francis Curran Caldbeck, Grosvenor Gardens, London, a retired civil servant and architect, in order to obtain the opinion of the Court upon the true construction of the will. The defendants were Florence Anna Stafford, Surrey, England, a widow, who claimed to be one of the next-of-kin of the deceased woman; and Beryl Kathleen Moira Lindemere, of Surbiton, Surrey, the legatee mentioned in the will of the testatrix.

JUDGMENT.

Mr. Justice Meredith, in his judgment, said that the case related to one of the many extremely short wills in which the use of the word "money" had led to difficulty. The terms of the will were: "I wish my grand-daughter, Beryl Kathleen Moira Lindemere, to have the use of all my money during her lifetime. I now revoke all former wills." About the time of her death the testatrix had some comparatively small sum on current account and on deposit receipt at her bank, a substantial sum of India 5½ per cent. Stock, a sum of £1,212 War Loan and some interest in land. The main question was whether the bequest was confined to the sums at call in the bank or included the India Stock and the War Loan. It was contended that "money" in the strict legal sense meant "cash." In the popular mind, however, money invested is regarded as money saved, not spent, and is regarded as preserving the character of money. The contest in the case before the Court was one between a primary and a well recognised derivative sense of the word, and not between a right and a wrong use. It had been said that if a testator deviated from the strict legal meaning it was difficult to say how far the deviation was to be carried.

A PRESUMPTION.

There was no presumption that the layman would be sufficiently obliging when making his will to use words in the sense which would occasion the least difficulty. Indeed, if there were any presumptions experience would suggest that it was a presumption that the layman would select the sense that would occasion the maximum conceivable difficulty to the Court. The Court in the circumstances, however, should do its best. For two centuries the Courts had been endeavouring to force testators to use the word "money" in the sense of "cash," but had signally failed, notwithstanding a number of decisions in which they regretfully held that as a matter of law the testator said what they were convinced he did not mean, and it was time to hoist the white flag. Testators evidently prefer to say "cash" when they mean "cash." There was an obvious point which seemed to have been overlooked in a number of cases. £100 is money in the primary sense of the word as much when it is out in mortgage as when it is in a person's pocket, just as a bird is a bird in the same sense whether it is a bird in the hand or a bird in the bush. (Laughter.)

DECISIONS.

Most of the narrow decisions which professed to be decisions on the meaning of the word "money" were really only decisions on the meaning of the expression "my money" or "the money of which I die possessed." The sum of £1,200 War Loan was money even in the strict sense. It bears interest, and is redeemable though at a distant date.

He further held that the testatrix intended to include it in the expression "my money."

As to the items of property requiring a wider interpretation of the word "money," the introduction of the word "all" showed that the testatrix was obviously trying to make her intention clear as to something; and as the only thing that there could be any doubt about was whether the expression "my money" was to be understood in a narrow or a wide sense, he took it that she meant "all my money" in every sense.

THE WILL.

Further, the will said that the grand-daughter was to have the use of all the money for her lifetime. It was only as invested that she could have that use, and that implied that it was still called "money" when invested. Consequently, he held that the expression "all my money" covered everything that could be properly called an investment.

He had been asked by counsel on both sides to defer giving a decision as to the land that had vested in the Land Commission, as that involved the question of the date at which the conversion should be regarded as having taken place. All the parties, he added, would have their costs out of the estate.

Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. T. A. Finlay (instructed by Messrs. T. F. O'Connell, Rooney and Co.) appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Messrs. T. F. O'Connell, Rooney and Co.) for the defendant, Florence A. Stafford; and Mr. Price, K.C., and Mr. Mornan (instructed by Messrs. Casey, Clay and Collins) for the defendant, Beryl K. M. Lindemere.

HIRE OF FILMS.

DISPUTE BETWEEN RENTERS AND EXHIBITORS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

In a case of the Fox Film Company, Ltd., 13 Berners street, London, against the Irish Kinematograph Company (1920), Ltd., 12 and 13 Burgh quay, Dublin,

Mr. Overend, K.C., who, with Mr. Nolan-Whelan (instructed by Messrs. Taylor, Son and Robinson), appeared for the plaintiff, applied for an order against the defendants for further and better particulars. He said that the action was for £780 17s., balance due for the hire of motion picture films and for goods sold and delivered. There were over one hundred items given in the particulars of the hire of various films to the several picture houses owned by the defendant company in Dublin. The total sum shown was £3,480 17s., against which there were credits reducing the sum to £780 17s. The first four paragraphs of the defence consisted of traverses, and the defendants, as a further defence, said that by two agreements in writing, each dated 30th July, 1926, the plaintiffs agreed to furnish to them for exhibition all the specials released by the plaintiffs on their 1926-27 programme, with the exception of "The Outsider," "The Road to Glory" and five "Giants," at the hire price of £45 each for seven days each.

SPECIALS.

Before the making of the agreements the plaintiffs, by letter dated 8th May, 1925, represented to the defendants that their 1926-27 output would include thirty-five specials, of which a partial list was given. The plaintiffs, in breach of the agreements, refused to furnish to the defendants a number of specials released by them on their 1926-27 output, and in lieu thereof furnished to them inferior films of much less value, some of which formed portion of the plaintiffs' output of other years, and purported to withhold as "Giants" many more than five of such specials to which the defendants were entitled, and supplied only some to the defendants at greatly increased prices.

It was a term of the agreement that the plaintiffs should not authorise the exhibition of any of the films comprised in the agreement at any theatre in the Irish Free State until seven days after the last day of the hire period. Yet the plaintiffs, in breach of the agreement, let several of the specials released by them on their 1926-27 output to other theatres in Dublin at figures largely in excess of the hire payable by the defendants under the agreements, and authorised their exhibition at these theatres before the expiration of the hire periods, and without having furnished these films to the defendants in accordance with the agreements. Of the films furnished several were seriously cut, whereby their value to the defendants was greatly diminished. The defendants counter-claimed £5,000 damages for the alleged breach of the agreements.

PARTICULARS.

In that state of the pleadings, continued Mr. Overend, the plaintiffs furnished the defendants with notice for particulars, and the defendants gave them an answer which the plaintiffs said was not sufficient, and it was for further and better particulars that the plaintiffs now came before his lordship.

Counsel specified the various matters referred to in the defence in regard to which these further and better particulars were required.

Mr. Phelps, K.C., who, with Mr. Fitzgerald, K.C., and Mr. Newett (instructed by Messrs. Frederick Croskerry and Son) appeared for the defendants, said that the defendants made a contract with the plaintiffs on the basis of representations made to them in a letter of 8th May, 1925, from the plaintiffs, in which the plaintiffs set out seriatum the names of a great number of films, which they undertook would be specials in their 1926-27 output, and the defendants' complaint was that they did not get anything like the films corresponding to the representation made in that letter. Defendants had served notice of a cross-motion to amend their defence, and they now asked for liberty to amend their defence in view of further information that they had received.

Mr. Justice Sullivan said that if Mr. Phelps wished he would allow the matter to stand over for one week, when counsel could come in with any amendment that he might wish to make in the defence and counter-claim, and he would consider whether he would allow it or not.

This course was agreed to, and the matter was adjourned for one week.

LOUTH GOLF CLUB.

SUMMONS AGAINST OLD MEMBERS.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH.)

A summons came on for hearing in the matter of the County Louth Golf Club and the Trustee Act. The plaintiffs are the President, Officers, Committee, and Trustees of the Club; the defendants being Messrs. James Davis, James A. May, and Robert Murdock, all resident in Drogheda, and old trustees of the club. The plaintiffs claim an order transferring to Messrs. L. F. Branigan and Patrick Connolly, the trustees appointed by the Committee, moneys, the property of the club, namely, £210 10s. 6d. War Stock and £507 6s. 7d. on deposit receipt in the Drogheda branch of the Bank of Ireland, standing in the names of the defendants. The latter in a counter-claim stated that they were appointed trustees in January, 1914. At an annual general meeting in March, 1929, a new committee was appointed, none of the defendants being elected on it. No resolution was passed removing them, but the new Committee purported to elect the two new trustees named, in substitution for the defendants.

It was further stated by the defendants that they desired to be relieved from their position as trustees, and would at the hearing of a pending civil bill ask to be so relieved, and to be declared entitled to any costs they might incur, and authorised to bring into Court the balance of the trust funds remaining after deduction of such costs.

Mr. Lavery, K.C., and Mr. Kingsmill Moore (instructed by Messrs. Smyth and Son) appeared for the plaintiffs, and Mr. James Geoghegan, K.C., and Mr. P. J. Roe (instructed by Mr. Patrick Tallon) for the defendants.

Arguments having been submitted, the further hearing was adjourned until another matter arising in connection with the suit had been decided by Circuit Judge Devitt.

LEGACY DUTY CLAIM.

CHEMIST'S £10,000 ESTATE.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE JOHNSTON.)

In the matter of the estate of the late Julius Ostersetzer, chief analytical chemist in the employment of Messrs. Goulding and Co., Ltd., Dublin, the hearing was resumed of an application made on behalf of Mr. David Drimmie, Dublin, executor of the will of the deceased man, for an opinion as to whether the sum of £2,500, paid to the administrator of Austrian property under an order dated the 17th November, 1925, formed part of the estate of the deceased man.

It appeared that an action had been brought before the late Master of the Rolls, in which it was alleged that Mr. Ostersetzer was a Polish subject, not an Austrian subject, so as to bring his property within the provisions of Article 249 of the Treaty of St. Germain-en-Laye, dated September 10th, 1916. The deceased man left assets amounting to about £10,000, which formed the subject matter of the action to decide his nationality.

A CONSENT.

A consent had been entered into between the parties to the action—the defendant being the administrator of Austrian property in Great Britain—whereby £2,500 was paid by the plaintiff to the latter, together with a number of shares in companies, in full satisfaction of all claims made by him against the assets of the deceased man, in respect of the provisions of the Treaty of Peace with Austria, concluded at St. Germain on September 10th, 1919.

In December, 1925, the executor of the will received a communication from the Inland Revenue, Department of Death Duties, of Saorstat Eireann, stating that no claim for legacy duty arose with respect to the £2,500, which had been paid over to the administrator of Austrian property.

It subsequently appeared that the money handed over to the administrator of Austrian property had been transferred to the Austrian Curator in Vienna of the British Clearing House, subject to the right of persons who were entitled to claim compensation in respect of it under Article 249 of the Treaty. The money, transferred in the form of Austrian Bonds, had since been distributed among the heirs, on the basis of the findings in the Examiner's certificate in the action on October 28th, 1927.

THE CLAIM.

The Inland Revenue Commissioners now claimed to be entitled to the payment of legacy duty upon the £2,500, represented by Austrian bonds, on the ground that it was part of the estate of the deceased man, and became payable to the beneficiaries under the will, just as much as if the payment had been made by the executor to the beneficiaries direct.

Mr. Rosenthal, K.C., and Mr. J. Bartley (instructed by Mr. Ernest W. Harris) appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. David Drimmie; Mr. McCann, K.C., and Mr. E. J. Kelly (instructed by Mr. B. Collins) for the Commissioners of Inland Revenue, and Mr. M. Maguire, K.C., and Mr. Tobias (instructed by Messrs. Franks and Oulton) for Madame Elise Frolick, Vienna, defendant, who had been appointed to represent the beneficiaries under the will.

The argument having concluded, Mr. Justice Johnston reserved judgment.

TWO ACTIONS AGAINST DRIVER.

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE SULLIVAN.)

In a case of Elizabeth Devine and James Devine, of 50 Smithfield, Dublin, against Basil Eyston, of Burcott cottage, Bierston, Aylesbury, Bucks; and, in a case of Thomas Flanagan, of 50 Smithfield, Dublin, against the same defendant,

Mr. Geoghegan, K.C., who, with Mr. Frank Sweeney (instructed by Messrs. Joyce and Joyce) appeared for the plaintiffs in both actions applied to have the action tried by the same judge and jury together, or one immediately after the other.

He said that the first action was brought by the father and mother of a boy, Patrick Devine, who was killed by the defendant last July at Kingsbridge. The defendant, on the date of the motor races in Dublin, was driving a racing car, and while crossing Kingsbridge he collided with a horse-drawn van, the result being that the boy was thrown into the river and was drowned.

Thomas Flanagan, the plaintiff in the other action, was the owner of the horse-drawn van, and he brought an action for damages for injury to his horse and cart. Pleadings had been closed in the Devine action, and, after some correspondence between the solicitors, it was agreed that pleadings should be dispensed with in the Flanagan action, and that although it was a comparatively small action it should be retained in the High Court, but the defendant, in the event of the plaintiff in that action succeeding, not to be liable for more than Circuit Court costs.

Mr. Joseph O'Connor, K.C., who with Mr. Marnan (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) appeared for the defendant, agreed to the order being made. There would, he said, be no plea of contributory negligence in either case.

Mr. Justice Sullivan made an order that the second action should be heard after the first, the question of liability to be determined in the first action, and, in the event of a verdict against the defendant, the jury to assess damages in the second action also.

HIGH COURT NON-JURY CASES.

The non-jury cases for hearing in the High Court, Dublin Castle, will not be taken up before next Wednesday.

ESTATE DUTY.

TRUSTEES' APPEAL.

(BEFORE MR. GEORGE HEWSON, OFFICIAL REFEREE.)

The trustees of the estate of Mathew J. Minch, deceased, appealed against the values for the purposes of estate duty placed by the Revenue Commissioners on June 5, 1921, the date of the deceased man's death, on property, consisting of profit, rents and head rents arising out of a considerable portion of the Town of Athy and in the City of Dublin, also the demesne properties known as Rockfield and Cardington, with extensive lands attached, and property in Queen's County. The Commissioners estimated that the value of the property amounted to £22,300, and the appellant estimated it at £12,670.

The Referee fixed the value of portion of the property—which was valued by the Commissioners at £18,150, and by the appellants at £11,100—at £15,705, and he reserved his decision concerning the remainder of the property.

Mr. Cecil Lavery, K.C., and Mr. T. J. Finlay (instructed by Messrs. D. Purcell and Son) appeared for the appellant.

Mr. B. Collins, solicitor, appeared for the Revenue Commissioners.

DUBLIN CIRCUIT COURT

BANK NOTES UNDER A SIDEBOARD.

APPEAL BY MOTHER AND SON FAILS.

(BEFORE JUDGE SHANNON.)

Mrs. Margaret Keating and her son, Charles, who reside at 5 Michael's lane, off High street, appealed from a conviction by the District Justice finding them guilty of being in illegal possession of a sum of money and failing to give a satisfactory account of how the money came into their possession. They also appealed against the order confiscating the money and fines of 20s. and 10s.

It appeared that on September 24 last two detective officers entered Mrs. Keating's house with a warrant to search for arms under the provisions of the Firearms Act. They found no arms, but they found a leather purse containing £5 4s. in silver and a ten-shilling note. Under a sideboard they found a roll of bank notes amounting to £122, which were wrapped in a piece of linen. When questioned Mrs. Keating said that the money was her own savings over a number of years. Her son said that the money had belonged to his father. He later said that he had won the money on horses and in games of "house."

The case for the appellants was that the money was the bona fide property of Mrs. Keating, and that the officers had no right to seize the money under the warrant, which was one authorising a search for arms.

Mrs. Keating, in evidence, stated that her son and herself occupied one room, the rent of which was 2s. 6d. a week. Her husband, now dead, had been in the service of the Post Office for fifteen years at a wage of, first, £4, and later £3, a week. Of that money she saved 5s. a week. When her husband died in April, 1928, the Post Office servants gave her £5 or £6, and she got £20 from a burial society. When her mother died she got a legacy of £33. About twelve months ago, when cleaning up the room, she found £40 behind a picture. She earned, besides these sums, money by "charing" and acting as nurse. The detective officers took her to the station, and subsequently to the District Court, from which she was sent to Mountjoy Jail, where she and her son were kept for a fortnight.

Charles Keating gave evidence as to his earnings and his stay in the Free State Army, and supported the story of his mother.

Mrs. Ellen Scallan, Golden lane, stated that her mother was on the old age pension list, and that after her death, about a year ago, £160 was found in the house. Witness got £33 as her share, and the rest was divided among three other sisters, including Mrs. Keating.

Mr. Sherry submitted that there was not a particle of evidence to show that the money had been stolen or unlawfully obtained.

The Judge said that he did not accept some of the evidence of the defendants on most points, and he thought they were guilty of perjury in denying that they made statements to the officers in the house as to how the money had been got. Upon all the facts he found that the District Justice was quite right in not being satisfied with the explanation given to him, and accordingly he (the Judge) affirmed the conviction in both cases.

Mr. F. Sherry (instructed by Mr. J. V. Brady) appeared for the appellants.

Mr. T. A. Finlay (instructed by Mr. Clarke, Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the prosecution.

GRAIN ADMIXTURE PROPOSALS.

COMMISSION HEARS EXPERT EVIDENCE.

PROBLEMS OF STORAGE AND NEW MACHINERY.

A further sitting of the Grain Commission was held yesterday in the Boardroom of the Department of Agriculture, Merrion street, Dublin. Mr. J. J. McElligott presided, and Dr. J. H. Hinchcliffe and Mr. J. B. Whelehan were present.

Messrs. D. C. C. Mercier (mills superintendent of Bannatyne's and J. N. Russell, Limerick, and John Furlong, Cork), and C. P. McCarthy, M.Comm., F.S.A.A. (of A. J. Magennis and Co., Cork), gave evidence on behalf of the following associations of grist millers:—Cork Meal Millers' Association, Dublin and Provincial Meal Millers' Association, Limerick and Tipperary Meal Association, Kerry Millers' Association, Waterford Millers' Association, and West of Ireland Corn Millers' Association. These bodies comprised the whole of the Irish grist milling trade.

The witnesses were not giving evidence either for or against the proposed scheme. The evidence was prepared at the request of the Cork Farmers' Union, and dealt with the technical and costing problems involved in admixture milling.

TESTS

The witnesses had undertaken a series of tests on maize, and on maize plus admixtures of home-grown cereals, and they showed that for power costs the tests gave the following figures:—

MILLING POWER COSTS.

Maize alone	100
Maize, plus kiln-dried barley	102
Maize, plus green white oats	120
Maize, plus white oats (kiln-dried)	125
Maize, plus green barley	129
Maize and green black oats	150

The witnesses indicated that for the milling of the finest qualities of meal, such as was sold extensively in Kerry, the power costs of admixture milling would be exceedingly high. From the tests made they indicated that the majority of the mills were not equipped to handle admixture problems unless new machinery was installed and storage accommodation for home-grown grains provided. Native grains were of such a high natural moisture content that kiln-drying would be necessary before milling. Figures were given showing that kiln-drying and shrinkage loss on oats would be 11s. per ton.

REGULATION OF PRICES.

The witnesses referred to the possibilities of "cornering the market," and stated that the proposal, if adopted, should provide for special regulations as regards local prices.

In the opinion of the Irish Grist Milling Industry, regulations would have to be introduced covering imports and exports, local storage of grains, mill records and the setting up of standards of admixture meals if the proposal was to be wholly effective.

The witness showed that if oat milling was made compulsory in mills not now engaged in such milling, very sharp increases in fire insurance premiums would take place. Thus in unsprinklered mills for oats grinding and shelling the increase would be 7s. 6d. per cent.

COSTS BASED ON FACTS.

In reply to the Chairman, Mr. McCarthy said the tests were ordered by the grist millers at the request of the Cork Farmers' Union.

Chairman—And you know that the Cork Farmers' Union is opposed to the application of the Grain Growers' Association? I believe so.

You have not been biassed or affected in any way by that opposition? No. These costings have been prepared on facts, as far as we could get them, by questioning the interests involved.

In reply to further questions, he said the Associations mentioned did not include all the millers of the Saorstat, but it represented a large portion of them.

In reply to the Chairman, Mr. Mercier said that, if the scheme were adopted, he did not think it desirable to grind the admixture together, because the machine suitable for maize was not suitable for home-grown grain cereals.

Answering Dr. Hinchcliffe, he said that he did not anticipate any difficulty in mixing flaked home-grown grain with maize.

The Tribunal went into private session, and at the conclusion of the evidence of Messrs. Mercier and McCarthy, examined Senator O'Rourke, whose evidence was also taken in camera.

The Commission then adjourned to a date to be announced.

Mr. J. J. Bergin represented the Grain-growers' Association.

IRISH CENTRAL BUREAU FOR EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN.

The general meeting of the Irish Central Bureau for Employment of Women was held on Thursday at the office, 33 Molesworth street, Dublin—the Countess of Mayo presiding.

The Organising Secretary, Miss Leigh, reported on the work during the past year, pointing out, in particular, that those ladies trained in secretarial work in the office had been very successful in obtaining satisfactory employment.

The accounts for the year, as audited, were presented, and it was pointed out by the Organising Secretary that a very large amount of the work of the bureau, viz., giving advice to those anxious to train for various professions, is entirely unremunerative, owing to the poverty of those seeking information. On this head the Hon. Treasurer reported that the amount of subscriptions and donations intended to cover this work had fallen as low as £33 for the year, and it was suggested that the attention of those interested in the work be drawn to this fact.

OFFICER RESIGNS.

Iris Oifigiuil (formerly the Dublin Gazette) states that the resignation of Second Lieutenant (Acting Lieutenant) Benedict Lenegan has been accepted, and his commission in the Free State Army has been withdrawn, with effect from the 25th January, 1930.

RAILWAYS WAGES BOARD.

REINSTATEMENT OF EX-SOLDIERS.

CASE OF AN INCHICORE FIREMAN.

Mr. Justice Wylie presided at a meeting of the Irish Railways Wages Board at 24 Upper Merrion street, Dublin, yesterday, when there was also present:—

Representatives of the Railway Companies—Mr. C. E. Riley, Great Southern Railways; Mr. J. B. Stephens, Great Northern Railway (Ireland); Mr. George R. Wigg, London, Midland and Scottish Railway (Northern Counties Committee); Mr. H. Forbes, County Donegal Railways Joint Committee; Mr. W. F. Minnis, Belfast and County Down Railway; Mr. S. C. Little, Sligo and Leitrim Railway.

Representatives of Users of Railways—Messrs. W. Hewat, Dublin Chamber of Commerce; J. E. Wellwood, J.P., Belfast Chamber of Commerce; L. J. Duffy, Dublin, Irish Trades Union Congress; D. R. Campbell, Belfast, Irish Trades Congress.

Representatives of the Railway Trades Union—Senator J. T. O'Farrell and Mr. E. O'Carroll, T.D. (Railway Clerks' Association). Mr. P. Murphy and Mr. C. T. Cramp (National Union of Railwaymen). Messrs. W. Steele and J. G. Stobie (Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen).

Advocates—Mr. A. W. Herty (Great Southern Railways), Mr. J. H. Scott (Great Northern Railway), Mr. C. D. Watters (National Union of Railwaymen), Mr. W. J. R. Squance (Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Fireman), Mr. Preston.

QUESTION OF SENIORITY.

On behalf of the Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, Mr. Squance applied on behalf of certain of the Associated Society members at Inchicore for adjustment of their seniority position in the line of promotion which had been prejudiced by the reinstatement of Fireman J. Sherlock. The Associated Society states that Sherlock was discharged from the Irish Free State Army after about seven years' service with the colours and was given his position in accordance with his seniority when first he joined the company's service. The Associated Society contended that the decision of the company in placing Sherlock in his seniority and grade position as though his service with the company had been continuous, prejudiced the position of all men junior to him.

The company had maintained that Sherlock had been re-employed under the same conditions as men who had temporarily left the service to join the army.

Mr. Squance submitted the application made locally by reduced firemen, who protested against the reinstatement of Fireman Sherlock, as they considered any man out of the service for seven or eight years could not claim reinstatement into the service as fireman and claim his seniority under the terms of the sectional agreement. He referred to the case of a man named Donoghue, who left the company's service in 1914, and returned in 1924, but was not reinstated in his old position. If that was the case in connection with Donoghue, it should apply to Sherlock's case also. The Associated Society maintained that seven or eight years was not a temporary period.

Mr. A. W. Herty stated that Sherlock entered the company's service on 20th February, 1919. He was given permission to join the Free State Army on 7th July, 1922. He was demobilised in June, 1929, and returned to the company's employment on 16th June, 1929. Sherlock was one of a large number who joined the Free State Army during the period of civil strife, and, so far as the company were aware, he had joined up for temporary service, and left untouched his subscription to the superannuation fund, which amounted to £18.

RAILWAY COMPANY'S PROMISE.

The company's arrangement was to re-employ men who had been in the National Army first. These men had been promised re-employment on the termination of their military service. Other men were reinstated in the same way, provided there was nothing against them. So far as the company was aware Donoghue was never in the National Army. As a matter of fact the company had to ask the military authorities if they had any objection to his re-employment. There was no comparison between the two cases.

Mr. Squance—You have evidence that Donoghue was in the force of Dail Eireann.

Mr. Herty—I am unable to say in what force he was. He certainly was not in the National Army.

Mr. Duffy—You said that a large number of men joined the National Forces.

Mr. Herty—Yes.

How many of them have gone back?—I think, in fact, I am certain, every man who joined the National Army has gone back.

Have these men gone back to their seniority positions?—Yes; men who joined either the National Forces or the British Army.

Your contention is that any man who joined the National Army was reinstated to his former seniority position on rejoining the company's service?—That is so.

Mr. Hewat—Is this application of Sherlock's an isolated case or a test case?—I do not know of any other case.

Mr. Squance—We know of no other case.

PAYMENT OF WAGES WEEKLY.

WILL COST £2,000 A YEAR MORE TO SOUTHERN LINES.

Mr. Squance put forward an application for weekly payment of wages in lieu of fortnightly—wherever the latter system prevailed—on the Great Southern Railways system. In the Athlone dépôt, he said, 101 men were paid fortnightly, in Mullingar 56, and in Tralee 68.

Mr. J. B. Stephens said that every man on the Great Northern Railway line was now paid weekly.

Mr. C. D. Watters said that much satisfaction had been expressed by railway workers where weekly payment existed.

Mr. A. W. Herty said that the number of men paid weekly was 8,836, and fortnightly 4,641, and to extend the weekly payment to the whole system would cost the company a considerable sum, partly because men now paid fortnightly were scattered all over the amalgamated system, which was 2,000 miles. The weekly system would involve extra clerical assistance, stationery, etc., while gangers would have to walk four or five miles to and from the paying station to draw pay for gangs, meaning the holding up of the gangs during their absence. Where weekly payments were made before amalgamation, the arrangement still operated. The company felt they should not, particularly at present, be called upon to bear extra cost entailed by the extension of weekly payment in the circumstances referred to.

Answering the Chairman, Mr. Herty said the estimated cost would be £2,000. In the case of Athlone, Mullingar and Maryborough there would have to be extra clerical labour. In Wexford there were weekly payments, and fortnightly in Rosslare, because this was the arrangement before amalgamation.

Answering Mr. Cramp, Mr. Herty said that he was unable to say whether a uniform system of weekly payment would obviate, rather than increase, clerical labour at the head office.

The application was granted by the majority of the Board.

"AWAY-FROM-HOME" EXPENSES.

The next application was one by the National Union of Railwaymen for "away-from home" expenses for Shunters Fitzgerald and Healy, Waterford, when they were working at Carlow.

The general opinion of the Board was that there was an important principle involved in this matter; that there must be many cases where a similar situation arose, where extra men were required at certain stations at certain times. How was such a situation dealt with as a question of general application?

Mr. Duffy asked Mr. Herty if he could point to a case comparable to the present one, and he replied in the negative.

The Chairman remarked that he would like very complete information on the point, and said that he was quite sure that there must be many similar cases in England and everywhere else. He did not think the Board could give a decision on the information before it.

Consideration of the application was accordingly adjourned till the next meeting of the Board.

AGE FOR RETIREMENT.

Submitting a joint application from the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and the National Union of Railwaymen on the question of fixing an age for retirement on the Great Southern Railways with the suggestion that the age should be sixty-five years,

Mr. Squance said that since the item was put on the agenda there had been letters from the Great Southern Railways, expressing willingness to have direct communication on this subject. He was prepared to enter into these negotiations, and suggested that consideration of the matter should be deferred by the Board for about two months to allow of a possible agreement.

Mr. Riley said that the company was prepared to discuss the application direct with the representatives of the unions.

The Chairman said he hoped they would be able to come to agreement.

It was agreed that consideration of the matter should be postponed for two months.

TRIBUTES TO SECRETARY.

At the conclusion of the sitting, Mr. Cramp paid a warm tribute to the courtesy shown and assistance given by Captain H. A. J. Preston, Secretary, who was resigning.

Mr. J. B. Stephens expressed regret that Captain Preston was leaving.

Mr. Squance said that his relations with Captain Preston were always of the most cordial nature.

The Chairman and Mr. J. E. Wellwood, Belfast Chamber of Commerce, joined in the good wishes to Captain Preston, who had been Secretary since April, 1924.

"CRYSTAL" GAZING.

GIPSY WOMAN CHARGED AT BRAY.

At Bray District Court yesterday, before Justice Price, Emily Reilly (21), a travelling gipsy, was charged with stealing £4 10s. in gold by means of a trick from Mrs. Catherine Royce, Ballydonagh, Delgany.

Superintendent Casserley, who prosecuted, said that the defendant was born in Wales, but was married to a Dublin man. They travelled around the country in a caravan. On January 10th the defendant sold a table to Mrs. Royce for 5s., and, telling her that it would bring her luck, also told her that a friend who was sick would get better and would receive a letter containing £20. She then produced a "crystal," which, said Superintendent Casserley, was really the top of a decanter, and said to Mrs. Royce: "You have gold and paper in the house." Mrs. Royce replied that she had some gold in a box, but that it was locked up.

Eventually Mrs. Royce brought out three gold sovereigns and three half-sovereigns, and while she held them in her palms Reilly placed the "crystal" over them and did some "humming and hawing," and then said that she would take the gold away and "hide it under a planet." She added that she would return the gold on the following Friday and charge her 10s. for telling her fortune.

Defendant pleaded guilty "in a way," but said that she intended to bring back the money.

The District Justice said that she had no such intention, but as Mrs. Royce had recovered all the money he would allow the defendant out under the Probation Act on her husband's bail.

PETITION TO THE GOVERNMENT.

At the request of President Cosgrave, the officials of the Dublin Branch, Irish Union for the Abolition of Vivisection (24-1-'30) presented him with a memorandum, in lieu of a deputation, for the consideration of the Government.

This memorandum, dealing with vivisection and compulsory vaccination in Ireland, was accompanied by a petition bearing the signatures of thousands of citizens from almost every town and village in the Irish Free State to have the practice of vivisection prohibited by law in Saorstat Eireann.

THE PENAL LAWS

VIEWS OF CATHOLIC EMANCIPATION.

THE REV. P. RONAN AND PROTESTANT CLAIMS.

FULL JUSTICE AND NO MORE.

"The Irish Catholics and the Penal Laws" was the subject discussed by the Auditor, Mr. R. W. Dudley Edwards, B.A., in his inaugural address at the 75th session of the Literary and Historical Society, University College, Dublin, last night. The subject had been chosen as being appropriate to the National University's share in the Emancipation Centenary celebrations.

The Auditor confined himself to an inquiry into the causes of the enactment of the Penal Laws, the reasons for their subsequent mitigation and ultimate repeal, and a survey of their effects.

He said that it was usually assumed that, as a result of the remedial legislation which culminated in the Emancipation Act, Catholics were no longer penalised for practising their religion. What of the hundreds who had suffered the loss of estates through the Penal Laws? Were those estates restored? What of the thousands who had been excluded from trades and professions because they adhered to the faith of their fathers? Were they to remain in poverty and want? What of the tens of thousands who had been deprived of the glorious culture of their ancestors, because they refused to receive education from strangers as a bribe for the betrayal of their religion? The Acts which repealed the Penal Laws were not Indemnity Acts. They left the Catholics to fight with all the odds which had accumulated against them. While tacitly admitting the wrongfulness of their enactment, no effort was made to repair their deadly and cumulative effect.

From what other disabilities did Catholics still suffer? What of the continued anti-Catholic prejudice, extending to every profession, trade, appointment, or social position still under Protestant control?

EDUCATION.

But it was in Education, above all, that Catholics still suffered from the continuance of the spirit of the Penal Laws. Under the system of primary education, not only was the Irish language discouraged and almost wiped out, and all mention of Irish culture and nationality carefully avoided, but no reference to religion was allowed during the course of the regular school work, even though both teachers and pupils alike were all Catholics. Secondary education was easily obtained by the children of Protestants, whose schools were largely subsidised from the rents of the confiscated lands of the Catholics. Catholic schools had largely to depend for support on the descendants of the very people whose lands had been confiscated. While the Protestant-endowed schools retained all the advantages which they gained under the penal system, Catholics for a long time could only obtain a secondary education with small aid from the very State they were compelled to support financially.

It was, however, in the matter of University education that the effects of the penal system lasted longest. The only Irish university was avowedly Protestant, even when it admitted Catholics to degrees, and subsequently to scholarships and fellowships. Its predominant Protestant atmosphere left the bishops with no option but to condemn it as unfit for Catholics to enter. All efforts to obtain university eduaction suitable for Catholics failed until recently. With the founding of the National University in 1908 Catholics were still at a disadvantage. Possessing no endowment, entirely dependent on the Government for grants, desperately in want of money for building extension and even suitable premises, inadequately provided with scholarships—with all these handicaps the National University gave every possible opportunity to the Irish Catholic. No longer was there any necessity to enter a university, which, though possessing ample buildings and copious funds, and the only university tradition left to the country, was rightly regarded by his spiritual guides as unfit for his education.

A significant effect of the Penal Laws was to be observed in the popular attitude towards higher education itself. Having been excluded for centuries from almost all the professions, the Irish Catholics had developed an exaggerated respect for them. His most promising son was reserved for the Church. It was the ambition of every farmer or shop-keeper to scrape together enough to make the next son a doctor or a lawyer. This was his only use for the university. What chance had the land of prospering when no farmer would hear of his son's going to learn in a university what he took for granted he could teach much better himself. Material loss, however, had resulted in spiritual gain. From this generation of their university would come the next generation of Ireland's thinkers, statesmen and workers. What return would they give to the land which had suffered so much that they might have a Catholic university education? Were they prepared to do their part in effacing the last vestiges of the baneful effects of the Penal Laws on the Irish Catholics?

A UNION OF HEARTS.

The Rev. Patrick Gannon, S.J., B.A., proposed—"That the Auditor deserves the best thanks of the Society for his address, and that it be printed and published at the Society's expense." He said that in their celebration of Catholic Emancipation last year they did not intend to hurt the feelings of others. They were told that they were somewhat careless in remembering that it was a Protestant Parliament and a Protestant assembly that had given them their freedom—that they were lacking in perfect manners in their address. He did not think that they meant to be discourteous, but the plain fact was that the efforts of the Protestants of good-will—and there were many in the land—the efforts of Burke, Grattan and the rest had proved utterly vain. They made no impression whatever on the bulk of the English people or on the leaders of the ascendancy class in this country, or the majority of that class.

They could not afford to forget the past. The battle was fought with an embittered hatred that really made pitiful reading. It was Christian and wise to forgive, for hatred could only destroy. It could not create a great nation or a prosperous land, and Ireland needed a union of hearts among all sections of the people. They wanted political and religious union, and hence there was no intention to make life difficult for those who differed from them in religion. They did not offer freedom to their fellow-countrymen as a gift, but as the merest and most elementary justice. They were entitled to it. They wished to exercise no unjust pressure on any man's conscience. They wanted justice and toleration for all.

THE SOUTHERN MINORITY.

Dealing with complaints about the treatment of the minority in Southern Ireland, he said that if there was any effort on the part of anyone to make perverts of people by unjust means let them hear of them. In fact, Catholics showed a lack of zeal in their desire to convert their fellow-countrymen.

Referring to a statement by the Archbishop of Dublin (Dr. Gregg) that he had rejoiced with Catholics in their celebrations, but he made one complaint—that he thought the Protestant minority in Ireland had not nearly its rightful influence in public administration, in virtue of its education, and the proportion of the taxation which it paid, Father Gannon said that from that it would seem that the party represented by Dr. Gregg was more highly educated on the average than the unfortunate party to which he (Father Gannon) had the unhappiness to belong, and that because they paid a proportionately larger share of taxation they should have more representation in the land. He wondered if the first statement was sound.

Protestants to-day, continued Father Gannon, held a far higher percentage of the best paid posts in the land than Catholics did, and what he wanted to know was whether the Protestant idea of religious equality was a claim to retain the percentage of high places in Ireland which they had acquired by an unjust system in the past. If that were the idea, Catholics could not accept it. Protestants were seven per cent. of the people in the Free State, but they held well over seven per cent. of the places of influence, wealth and power in the land. In many of the higher professions they had up to 20 per cent. and 40 per cent. Were they entitled to a higher percentage of places in the higher walks of life? They were not.

While Catholics hoped that they would always get a fair field and no favour—which was all they asked for themselves—Catholics believed that gradually but inevitably Protestants must be content to take the place in the land that their numbers entitled them to. This would not be done by persecution. The last thing he wished to see was that so strong a percentage of talent and ability should feel a sense of grievance against their native land, because they had the power to serve Ireland.

"The minorities in the South of Ireland," continued Father Gannon, "who are so touchy about their treatment and who seem to be afraid that they will not get what they call a fair show, will get that and no more, and they have no right to claim more.

AN APPEAL.

Defining that as religious equality, I would make an appeal. These religious bodies, which, very rightly, are touchy about their own interests and status in the country, also extend to the North of Ireland. There we have a different position. We have 34 per cent. of the people Catholic, and the remainder Protestant, and yet in that little enclosure there is really grave injustice done to the minority. That injustice consists in so arranging political divisions that the minority is almost entirely without political representation.

The principle of proportional representation was removed in order to render them more helpless in the hands of the majority, and the consequence is that nearly all public patronage is in the hands of a non-Catholic majority. I ask these gentlemen, reverend and otherwise, who are always insisting that the Free State must treat their minority with the strictest justice, even in the distribution of patronage, to turn their eyes northward, and ask themselves honestly, is anything like justice accorded to the minority there?

He described as a scandal the situation in Belfast, by which the 25 per cent. Catholics held 4 per cent. of the positions under the three bodies which dispensed patronage—the City Council, the Harbour Board and the Gas Works—and these were uniformly the lower posts, and worst paid, so that 25 per cent. of the people drew only three per cent. of the public monies. He had no reason to believe that the scandal had been remedied since he learned of it. They might ask the leaders of the non-Catholic bodies if they had ever made the slightest protest against that state of affairs. It was really very trying to the patience of those who were tolerant in the South, and who interfered with no man's creed, that they should be perpetually held in suspicion, and that the suggestion should be made that they were not playing the game. "We are," said Father Gannon in conclusion. "Up in the North the converse is true, and no protest is made. I think it well that this protest should be made. Justice cannot be confined to the South of Ireland. It must extend to the whole of Ireland, and when it does there will be perfect peace in Ireland."

RE-WRITING IRISH HISTORY.

Sir Joseph Glynn seconded the motion. He dwelt on the necessity for re-writing Irish history. It was only beginning to dawn on people that what was needed was a history of the people themselves and of the development of Irish character. The Penal Laws prevented the natural development of the country from the tribal system to the modern system, and held up the natural course of events for almost two centuries.

Mr. Daniel Corkery, M.A., in supporting the resolution, said that he agreed with those who stated that the Penal Laws were born in racial hatred rather than for religious reasons. They were set up to destroy the integrity of Irish minds, "and our primary purpose," he added, "is to restore the integrity of Irish minds."

A "FAILURE."

Chief Justice Kennedy proposed that the Literary and Historical Society is deserving of the support of the students and authorities of University College. He said that he would be highly pleased if the magnificent paper which they had heard read by the Auditor would lead to the writing of a new history of Ireland. Speaking of the effect of Catholic Emancipation, he said that, much as they must rejoice in the fact that O'Connell did accomplish a great thing in achieving Catholic Emancipation, they must see that really Catholic Emancipation, as they looked back at it, had been a great failure. It was difficult to foresee what would be the issue of any one group of facts. Catholic Emancipation, divorced from political freedom, was almost a tragic disaster for this country, because, divorced from political freedom, it meant little more than the opening of place and patronage to Catholics. It meant the divorcing of religion and patriotism. As it worked out, Catholic Emancipation went a long way towards the cementing and establishing of union with England, because it gave to those Catholics who could succeed in getting sufficient education to qualify for professions an opportunity of focussing all their interest in English politicians and in London, so that their minds and aspirations were turned towards a foreign land, and towards making themselves prominent in the affairs of foreign lands.

The after-effects of Catholic Emancipation, divorced as it was from political freedom, merely drowned the voices of Davis and Griffith, and brought us to a point at which the efforts of 1916 and 1919 would have been too late—and they were almost too late, because the creative work in the recreating of our people is still an immense task. It was not until recent years that there had been any possibility of building up a university founded in an atmosphere of Irish thought and inspired from Irish sources, and it depended on the authorities of this college and associated colleges whether or not they were going to recover themselves as being in any sense worthy descendants of their fathers.

Mr. W. F. Butler, M.A., seconded the motion.

At the conclusion of the proceedings, Dr. Coffey congratulated the Auditor on the very interesting paper that he had read, and on the capable way in which he had dealt with the subject.

THE LANGUAGE OF MUSIC.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY LECTURE.

Mr. Arthur Hirst, F.R.S.A., who lectured yesterday before the members of the Royal Dublin Society on "The Universal Language of Music," said that music could be composed purely and simply for the sake of design. Beethoven in particular showed the world that music could be language, but a great deal of music was written for the sake of its design. Much of Handel's "Messiah" was pure design music, and was not written for its emotional message. It was really Beethoven who forged music as the language of the heart and the head.

Speaking of folk music, Mr. Hirst said that it epitomised the history of a people. English folk music was remarkable for its simplicity and beauty of outline and straightforward character, but it had no very deep feeling. In the further course of his lecture, Mr. Hirst demonstrated his observations by interesting illustrations on the piano.

LIBEL PROSECUTION SURPRISE.

ACCUSED MAN CERTIFIED AS INSANE.

A dramatic announcement at Londonderry that the accused man had been certified insane, brought a sudden end yesterday to the case against John Payne (51), a Head-Constable in the Royal Ulster Constabulary, stationed at Limavady, and formerly of Strabane, who had previously appeared before the magistrates charged with having published a defamatory libel concerning James Brown, of Leckpatrick.

It was alleged that in a letter addressed to Brown's wife, Payne wrote that Brown was of immoral character and engaged in ruining girls.

District-Inspector Walshe, of Strabane, stated yesterday that while there was only one charge against Payne at the moment there were many more serious charges pending.

Captain T. M. Stuart, Governor of Derry Prison, then announced that he was unable to produce the prisoner who had that morning been certified as insane.

Inspector Walshe said that he regretted very much the development that had taken place, and especially as regarded the very respectable people of Strabane, Belfast, Lurgan, and other places who had been maliciously libelled.

"I am in a position to tell you," added Inspector Walshe, "that had this case gone on I could prove to the satisfaction of any jury that every single charge made by the prisoner was unfounded, and that the writer of every one of the libellous letters was none other than the prisoner himself, who is now unable to appear. It is very regrettable from the point of the people who have been libelled."

Mr. Glass—And who have no opportunity of establishing their innocence. You have no doubt these charges are unfounded, so far as the police investigations have gone?

Inspector Walshe—Absolutely none. Every one of the charges is absolutely unfounded, and I am as satisfied that my statement is correct as I am that I am appearing now before you. Inspector Walshe added that they would go no further in the case unless the prisoner became sane at some further date.

FUNERAL OF MR. HENRY WARRY.

The funeral of Mr. Henry Warry, Stillorgan, took place to Drumcondra Churchyard, Dublin, last Thursday, after a service conducted in Stillorgan Parish Church by the Rector, Canon Lewis Crosby.

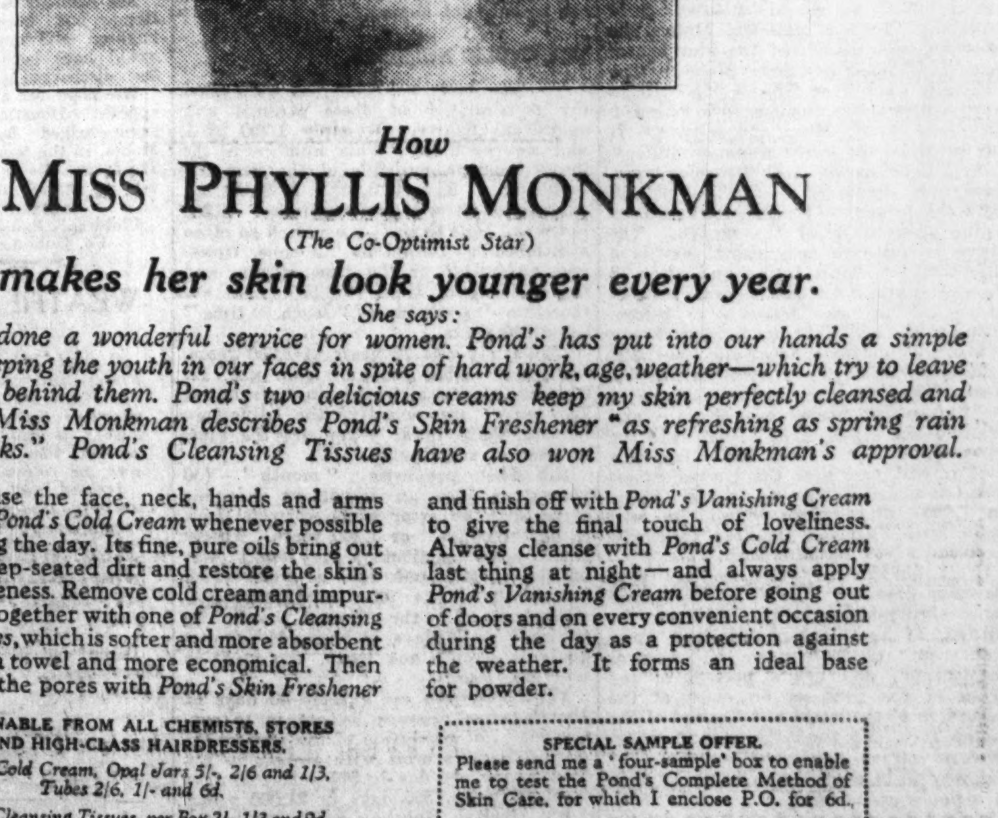

Mr. Warry, who had only a brief illness, had been with the firm of Messrs. Harvey and Co., Gardiner street, Dublin, for over forty years, and was well known in the city, where he was most popular. In Stillorgan he took a prominent part in parochial affairs. He was the only surviving son of Mrs. Warry, 21 Shandon road, Dublin, who, as well as his widow, Mrs. Sarah Warry, has received many messages of sympathy.

There was a large attendance at the funeral, and a great number of wreaths was sent. Canon Crosby officiated at the graveside.

The chief mourners were Vincy Sanderson and James Hammond (nephews), David Watt and Aldolphus Hammond (brothers-in-law).

Among those present were:—Messrs. S. Allin, J. N. Attwooll, R. Atwooll, J. Ballantine, T. Barber, A. E. Birdel, S. Begue, R. Brownlee, W. Calvert, H. T. Coen, D. Collins, W. Connell, the Rev. J. T. DANIEL AND THE APOCALYPSE.

(A PAPER READ AT THE ARMAGH CLERICAL UNION.)

(By the REV. W. F. A. ELLISON, B.D.)

"A time, times, and the dividing of time"—Dan. vii., 25. xii., 7. Rev. xii., 4. "2,300 days"—Dan. vii., 14. "Seventy Weeks"—Dan. ix., 24. "1,260 days"—Rev. xi. "Seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks"—Dan. ix., 25, 26. "1,290 days"—Dan. xii., 11. "1,335 days"—Dan. xii., 12. "42 Months"—Rev. xi., 2; xiii., 5; xii., 6.

YOU will think that I am leading you very far from the Book of Daniel when I ask you to refer to the "Tables to find Easter" in your Prayer-books. Yet, curiously enough, there is an intimate connection between the above mysterious-looking numbers and the said Tables, over which, no doubt, many of you have made your heads ache (I know I have in days gone by) trying to see a meaning in them and their queer headlines, the "Golden Number," the "Sunday Letter" and the "Epact."

It is not necessary to explain to a gathering of the clergy that the date of Easter is fixed by that of the Paschal Full Moon. Our Lord suffered at the time of the Jewish Passover, or rather the day before it. The Passover took place on the 14th of the Jewish month Nisan, and therefore on the day of the Full Moon, or as near to it as the very imperfect astronomy of that day permitted. The earliest controversies about the date of Easter centred round the question whether it should be celebrated actually on the 14th of Nisan or on the Sunday following. The upholders of the 14th of Nisan were called, from the fact, Quartodecimans. The later Church decided for the Sunday; and all later controversies on the subject, and there were many, were only concerned with the method of calculating the date on which the important Full Moon would fall.

Now, having got it clear that the date of the most important festival in the Christian Year is determined by an astronomical event—to wit, a phase of the Moon—we naturally turn our attention to questions of the Moon's phases, and the rules for predicting their recurrence. The Moon has, from very ancient times, been a date-fixer only second in importance to the Sun. The cycle of her phases gave the month. The interval between successive phases—New Moon, Half Moon, Full Moon—gave the week. Primitive man needed no other calendar than that which Nature had given him in the skies above his head. So many moons ago, or to come, was a time measure that every savage could understand; and civilisation had to advance very far before anything better was devised.

THE PORTENT OF ECLIPSE.

If the Moon was important as a calendar, there was another way in which she made herself felt, and that with tremendous, not to say sinister, force. From time to time humanity was startled by eclipses. A partial eclipse of Sun or Moon was a portent, which might cause various feelings, from mere curiosity to anxious foreboding. A total eclipse of the Moon was something more. When "the Moon became as blood" uneducated man felt profoundly uneasy; but a total eclipse of the Sun was a nerve-shaking event, the cause of widespread terror and consternation. I did not fully realise its possibilities till I witnessed one myself. The sudden, dense, inky darkness, unheralded by any warning—unlike any other darkness—is distinctly nerve-trying, even now when we know all about it, and can calculate to a fraction of a second when, and to a few hundred yards where, it will occur. I could feel the effect it had on the vast crowd on the hill-top at Lysfaen on that grey, cheerless morning of June 29th, 1927. I feel sure that, had the darkness lasted three or four minutes, instead of only twenty-three seconds, some of that crowd would have begun to get hysterical. A vast sigh of relief, followed by a burst of cheering, hailed the return of light and the hastening away to the North-East of the awful black veil which had been drawn over the sky. Yet those people knew what was coming, and had gathered there to witness it as a holiday spectacle.

In primitive times eclipses won or lost battles, shook kingdoms, frightened rulers to death. In Rev. vi., 12-14, St. John can find no more awful portents to accompany the opening of the Sixth Seal and the Judgment Day than an earthquake, a total eclipse of the Sun, a total eclipse of the Moon, and a great meteoric shower. "The Sun became black as sackcloth of hair," is an accurate description of the appearance of the Sun when totally eclipsed, the blackness of the disc accentuated by the silvery radiance of the surrounding corona. "And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together." The man who wrote that must have seen the great cloak of darkness roll up, as the daylight sky retreated before the shadow of the Moon. The description is exact and vivid in the extreme. I realised that when I saw it. No one who had not seen it could have put it into words so apt.

THE CYCLE OF METON.

Now, this being so, we can imagine how great a man he was, and what an impression he must have made on his contemporaries, who first discovered the cause of these terrifying phenomena, and showed that he could predict their recurrence. Such a man was Meton, the Athenian, who discovered the first known cycle of the Sun and Moon. The "Metonic Cycle" or "Saros" is still in use as a first approximation in calculating the phases of the Moon and eclipses. It may be called the lowest common multiple of the lunar month and the solar year. Briefly, it amounts to this: every 19 years the phases of the Moon come back to the same days of the month. The return is not rigorously exact, but is a little over two hours later; and after 18 years, 11 days, 8 hours, the same eclipses return to the same latitude as before. Owing to the odd eight hours, they do not return to the same longitude, but 120 degrees, or one-third of a rotation, further West. Thus the curious total eclipse of the Sun which passed over France and Belgium on April 17th, 1912, will be repeated on April 28th, 1930; but this time it will pass over the United States and Canada, 120 degrees further West. In 1966, after three Saroi, it will again visit Europe. Its date then will be 33 days later, or May 20th.

It is hardly too much to say that Meton's discovery lifted a nightmare from civilised humanity. If not the million, at least learned men now knew that an eclipse was a natural phenomenon, and not a portent of the wrath of the gods, or an omen of the disruption of the world and the end of the human race. So the Athenians showered honours on Meton and ordered his discovery to be engraved in letters of gold on a public memorial.

It is this cycle which appears in the Prayer-book, and the somewhat cryptic phrases, the "Golden Number," the "Sunday Letter" and the "Epact" refer to its figures. The Golden Number is the number indicating the place of the year in the 19-year cycle. The year 1 in the cycle is that in which the New Moon occurs on 1st of January. The Sunday letter is a letter expressing the day of the week on which January 1st falls. Sunday is A, Saturday B, Friday C, etc. It counts backwards, not forwards, in the order of the week, as we might expect. The Epact is the Moon's age in days on January 1st. It changes by 11 at a time, going back again whenever it exceeds 30—thus, 0, 11, 22, 3, 14, 25, etc. These three data being known, the date of Easter follows, or of any other phase of the Moon in the year.

DANIEL AND SCIENCE.

You will be wondering when I am coming to Daniel; but these preliminaries were necessary before you could understand the rest of my paper. I have said that the Metonic Cycle is the lowest common multiple of the lunar month and the solar year; also that it is only an approximate multiple. There are other common multiples of the same two periods—much longer, but far more exact. The calculation of these cycles is a matter of great difficulty, requiring an accurate knowledge of astronomy and great mathematical ability. A Swiss astronomer named De Cheseaux, about the middle of the eighteenth century, felt curious on the subject, and in the course of his investigations he found that 315 years make a cycle with only one-tenth the error of the Metonic. He had no sooner observed this than he recognised he must have been a student of his Bible as well as of the heavens—that the number 315 is one-fourth of 1,260, one of the principal periods of Daniel and the Apocalypse.

This made him, in vulgar parlance, "smell a rat," and he began to examine all the "Mystic Numbers" of the two books, with the remarkable result that they all, without exception, proved to be cycles of the Sun and Moon (and therefore eclipse cycles) of very high accuracy. 1,260 years, 2,300 years, and their difference, 1,040 years are all of them accurate cycles of the Sun and Moon; and the last is a triple cycle being a common multiple of the solar day, lunar month and the year.

The refinement of modern methods has made possible corrections of the lunar tables from time to time; but the remarkable fact has thus been brought to light that all such corrections as have hitherto been made, in bringing the lunar tables up to date, have reduced the discrepancies between the lunar tables and these ancient cycles almost to vanishing point. In other words, the ancient cycles used by Daniel and St. John—without understanding what they meant, be it observed—are more accurate than the modern tables, which are only now, with difficulty, struggling up to the accuracy attained by some old-world astronomical authorities, forgotten millenniums ago. Had the numbers survived in tradition long after their purpose and meaning had been lost? Were they used as mystical symbols by prophets and apocalyptists, who had not the vaguest idea of their real meaning? Daniel and St. John are not the only writers who used them. They appear to have been the current coin of Jewish mystics for several centuries.

ELABORATIONS.

In our own time the Rev. Grattan Guinness took up the subject and expanded De Cheseaux's work. He observed some remarkable results:—

(1) That the 2,300 year cycle is the primary natural cycle for the correction of the Metonic Cycle—is, indeed, only an expanded Metonic Cycle, or larger Saros. Before Meton earned Athenian honours by discovering the Saros, Daniel had embodied in his revealed chronology the grand cycle adapted to correct the errors of the latter. The use of the Saros is indispensable in any calendar adjusted to the months and years of Nature. The slight error of the Saros accumulates to nearly a day in 11 Saroi, or 209 years, and to nearly 11 days in 11 times 11 Saroi, or 2,299 years, which error is balanced by the 11 days Epact in the 2,300th year. The 2,300 year cycle, which is 33 times as exact as the Metonic, and is the primary cycle adapted for its correction, is therefore the natural basis for a calendar correctly adjusted to solar and lunar revolutions.

(2) That the accumulated Epacts of 2,300 years (or what is the same thing, the difference between 2,300 lunar years and 2,300 solar, the Epact being the 11 days remainder after subtracting 12 lunar months from 12 solar) make up exactly 70 lunar years and 7 months. The rate of Epact, or the Sun's gain on the Moon per annum, is one month in 1,000 days, 12 months (lunar) in 12,000 days—33 years, one human generation, the lifetime of Christ; and 70 times this in 2,300 years.

(3) That 2,300 years are not only a cycle of the solar year and synodical month (New Moon to New Moon), but are also a cycle of the anomalistic lunar month. Lunar cycles are contracted or enlarged in their various returns by what is knowns as "the Moon's anomaly." This is an acceleration or retardation of New Moon, amounting to 9 hours 47 minutes on either side of zero—19½ hours altogether—and has to be taken into account in all calculations in which the Moon is concerned. The 2,300 years, being free from this important error, as well as the others, make an unrivalled lunar cycle. The periods all fit into their places with exactness, so that it is clear that we have here a design. It is like the fitting together of a dissected puzzle. If the pieces fit and make a picture, it is evident that we have obtained the arrangement which the artist designed. Who was the artist in this case? There can be only one answer.

THE CYCLIC NUMBERS.

(4) We have not even yet exhausted the peculiarities of these strange and significant figures. Multiply 1,260 by 2 and we get 2,520. This number is the lowest common multiple of the first ten numbers. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, all will divide it without remainder. 1,260 years are 3½ "times" the period so often mentioned by Daniel as "a time, times, and an half," or "a time, times, and the dividing of time." 2,520 years are therefore "seven times," each "time" being 360 years.

(5) If we add 75 years to 1,260 years, we get the 1,335 years of Dan. xii., 12. This addition is also made in Nature; for 75 years are exactly the difference between 2,520 lunar years and the same number of solar years.

(6) The prophetic "month" (30 years), is also an important calendar cycle, with an error which corrects itself in 42 "months," or 1,260 years. Thirty lunar years constitute a very exact cycle of the month and day—a cycle which forms the basis of the Mahometan Calendar. If the lunar month be reckoned as 29 days 12 hours 44 minutes (only 3 seconds too long), the cycle is absolutely exact.

(7) 2,300 years are exactly 40 days of the "Annus Magnus"—that is to say, the period of revolution of the major axis of the Earth's orbit with respect to the Equinoxes: one day in 57½ years, 40 days in 2,300 years, 365 days in 21,000 years.

Dr. Grattan Guinness writes: "At the present time the Earth's Perihelion, or nearest approach to the Sun, occurs on January 1st. In Daniel's time it was on November 22nd. The difference is 40 days, and Daniel's time was 2,300 years ago." Since Dr. Grattan Guinness wrote, more than 50 years have elapsed, and the date of Perihelion has moved on a day, and now falls on January 2nd or 3rd, according as the year is an ordinary or a leap year.

A CORRECTION.

This detailed agreement between natural and prophetic chronology—whence did it come? The facts would seem to suggest a very serious pause before we presume to criticise Daniel out of existence.

You will of course, have observed that I have throughout made the seemingly necessary, and usual, assumption that the "days" of the prophet represent years at least. There is nothing to prevent their representing longer periods, provided they are integral numbers of years. It is familiar to students of the Hebrew Scriptures that the sacred writers used the word indiscriminately for literal days of 24 hours, and for years, epochs and ages. The Authorised Version of Genesis I., with its "the first day . . . the second day," etc., involves both a mistranslation of the text and a disastrously misleading suggestion. I believe it to be our bounden duty to explain from our pulpits that the words should read "period one . . . period two," etc., which is the exact literal meaning of the Hebrew. In Isaiah XXX. 26. we have the word used in the two different senses, within four words of a single verse. "The light of the Sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that the Lord bindeth up the breach of His people."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE NATIONAL WAR MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The sorry plight of large numbers of ex-Service men was strikingly stated a few nights ago by Sir William Hickie when he presented a banner to the [illegible] Branch of the Legion of Ex-Service Men. Sir William said that "there were thousands of ex-Service men who were pulling the devil by the tail, and they were not in a position to pay, and could not become Legionnaires." Men who are not in a position to pay the small subscription to the Legion must be existing in extreme poverty.

Since the convincing summary of the facts, and the clear analysis of the arguments for and against, in your leading article of two weeks ago, we have heard no more of the foolish proposal to expend the National War Memorial Fund upon a public park to provide fresh air for those who need bread—which is so far good. Neither have we heard any more of the proposal that the accumulated interest, at least, on the subscribed sum should be used for the relief of the acute distress among ex-Service men. It would be interesting to know what action the trustees of the Fund are taking in the matter.—Yours, etc.,

THE BUTT BRIDGE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—There are aspects of the Butt Bridge problem that have not been put before the public. As matters stand, the ratepayers of the City and County of Dublin are committed to the expenditure of a very large sum of money. Sums varying from £65,000 to £120,000 have been mentioned from time to time, but, as the latter figure is the amount sanctioned in the Bridges Bill, one may fairly assume that this is the sum ultimately to be provided by the ratepayers.

What are we to get for it? We are to get a wider bridge, a re-aligned bridge and a bridge of three, instead of four, spans as at present. The widening is certainly required, but is a re-alignment involving a change of some five degrees wanted? The excuse for this new alignment appears to be a problematical widening of Tara street, which is a matter still on the lap of the gods, and for the execution of which authority has been neither given nor sought. I feel confident that, as far as the ratepayers are concerned, there is no mandate for the incurring of unnecessary expense in order to avoid an almost imperceptible kink in a street that may some day become an important thorough are. If the alignment is left as it is, the ultimate Tara street-Butt Bridge thoroughfare can lead as fairly across the river as the Westmoreland street-O'Connell Bridge thoroughfare crosses to-day—and that is straight enough.

Again, it is proposed to use three spans instead of four, for æsthetic reasons. In fact, for the removal of this kink, and in order that the susceptibilities of the citizens may not be offended, we are to be asked to foot the bill for a complete new set of piers and foundations. On the face of it such a proposal suggests madness, but when one considers the site of the proposed new work the desire to chain some one up can only be resisted with difficulty. The Butt Bridge has only one view point of importance—that from O'Connell Bridge. Immediately behind it, and apparently on top of it, is Tara street railway bridge, which is an ordinary utility structure of steel girders and cylindrical piers. To spend money, urgently required for other things, in order to construct a work of art in masonry or concrete with such a background and horizon is bad taste and vulgar. For a city and county, that cannot afford to house its poor decently to incur avoidable expenditure under such a head is worse than bad taste or vulgarity—it is civic immorality.

The bridge we should construct is one to take four lines of traffic comfortably and two footpaths, built, unpretentiously and economically, of steel on the existing piers and abutments, at a cost of some £20,000 to £25,000. In fairness, it should be pointed out that the proposed reconstruction includes an improvement in the existing grades on the bridge, but this need not confuse the issue, since equally favourable grades can be provided with a steel as with any other form of structure.—Yours, etc.,

SUBSCRIPTIONS AND APPEALS.

AN APPEAL FOR CHILDREN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—An appeal was made in your columns in March last for funds to build, equip and endow a new ward at the Children's Sunshine Home, Stillorgan. A certain proportion of the money (almost sufficient to cover the cost of building) has been received, and the Committee heartily thanks all who have sent contributions.

The Committee pleads for further financial support to meet the cost of equipment and endowment, so that the ward may be ready for the admission of children before the summer. There is a long waiting list of urgent cases.

The open-air treatment of children in the Home has been most successful. One hundred and one children, who otherwise would have been permanent cripples, have been discharged cured.

We hope for a generous response to this appeal. Donations will be most gratefully acknowledged by the Secretary, Miss C. Moore, in the temporary absence of the Hon. Treasurer.—Yours, etc.,

ELLA G. A. WEBB, M.D., Chairman.
CATHERINE MOORE, Secretary.

To-Day's Match.

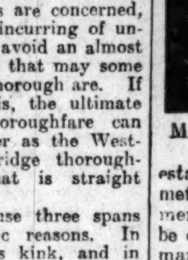

There is no doubt at all that France's victory over Scotland, and the fact that they are travelling almost the whole of their winning team, has invested the Rugby international at Belfast with unusual interest. So bad, however, is France's away record that, however strong their team appears on paper, they can never be regarded as favourites when they have to travel. Although they played their first international nearly twenty-seven years ago, they have only won two matches outside France in that time. The first was in 1914 against Scotland at Inverleith, and the second was at Lansdowne road in 1920, when they comfortably beat the poorest Irish team that has ever taken the field. Therefore, despite the uncertainty about the full-back position, Ireland probably start favourites to-day.

A Quaint House.

I wonder how many of those who will travel by road from Dublin to Belfast for to-day's Rugby match will notice, at the junction of the Lisburn and Dublin roads, not five minutes from the City Hall, a little white house whose faceted roof is reminiscent of a lighthouse lamp. Nowadays one gets out at the road station at Newry to show one's papers, but when the Lisburn road was first made "duty" was payable at this little white house, which was then at the edge of the town. Very many things have changed since then, and the old Turnpike Toll House is now occupied by an enterprising chimney sweep whose "Baby" Austin is often to be seen waiting at the kerb with a bundle of circular brushes sticking out at the back.

Old English Music.

I understand that a Foundation has been established in England by a committee, which includes Dr. Bridges, Sir Henry Hadow, Sir Richard Terry and Mr. Lloyd George, to perpetuate the work which has been done by Mr. Arnold Dolmetsch in interpreting the music of the sixteenth, seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. For the past fifty years Mr. Dolmetsch has made a special study of the lute, viol, recorder, clavichord and harpsichord. He has not only played on these instruments; he has also manufactured them, both in America and Paris.

MR. A. DOLMETSCH.

Mr. Dolmetsch is now established at Haslemere, and the Dolmetsch Foundation has made arrangements that in future selected pupils shall be enabled to study under him the craftsmanship of the old English masters.

Lovers of music must ever remain indebted to Mr. Dolmetsch for recovering all that is to be known about the instrumental music of the Elizabethans. There is no longer any danger of this wonderful store of knowledge being lost, because all the members of his family are almost as proficient as he is himself. The primary object of the Foundation is to introduce the study of these delicate instruments to a wider public, and, perhaps, to serve as a gentle counterblast to those weird noises from the other side of the herring-pond which pass for music nowadays.

The Passing of the Shires.

Anyone traversing the Dublin streets cannot fail to be impressed by the splendid standard of horse flesh that still draws the cart of the laundryman or baker, and hauls along the quays the hefty lorry-loads of goods. The breweries seem to own the largest type of haulage horse here, but one looks in vain for the pure shire horse. The mighty frame, with beauty in every line of it, the sturdy yet graceful neck, the fleecy mane and fetlocks and all the easy power and good-tempered staunchness of that king of draught horses is not to be seen, I think, in Ireland. I am told that he has passed also from the English roads, giving place to the general utility motor lorry. The cost of raising the shire horse is not compensated for by the price he will realise upon the market, and the studs that bred him are closing down or transferring their attention elsewhere. For my part I regret the change with a certain bitterness, and I have doubts whether those who, in the interests of an alleged economy have sacrificed the horse to the machine, may not come to discover that the economy was more apparent than real. Some firms have already awakened to the advantage of horses for draught under special circumstances, and are replenishing their stables that the motor illusion had depleted. The day of Dobbin is not done yet.

Kilkenny.

The ancient city of Kilkenny is much in the public eye at the moment, owing to the visit of the Papal Nuncio, and many references have been made to that paid by Rinuccini in 1645. Exactly a hundred years later there is an interesting entry relating to the town in the Minutes of the Royal Dublin Society. At that time the system of premiums or awards for enterprise in Ireland, inaugurated by Dr. Samuel Madden, was in practice, and thus, on 30th May, 1745, we learn that the city of Kilkenny was awarded £10 for having rid itself of beggars by affording employment to the poor. About one hundred poor people were usefully employed in cleansing the streets. As the historian of the Royal Dublin Society remarks: "It is refreshing to read of a community which in the middle of the eighteenth century had such enlightened views on employment, and on keeping a town clean."

Grand-Niece of Cardinal Newman.

Miss Eleanor Mayley, who has received a special message of good wishes from the Pope on the occasion of her marriage at Leeds to Mr. T. L. E. Spilmont, is a grand-niece of Cardinal Newman, her father, Mr. John Richard Mayley, being a nephew of the Cardinal.

Her family occupy a distinguished place in cultural circles in the North of England. Her father, when at Cambridge, took a first class in Classics and Mathematics, and won the Senior Chancellor's Medal; and her younger brother, the Rev. Kenneth Mayley, the author of many theological books, also took a first class in Classics and was President of the Cambridge Union.

Miss Mayley has been prominent in charitable work in the Leeds district. A few years ago she joined the Roman Catholic Church, of which her husband is a member. Her father is ninety-one years of age.

Schoolhouse Lane.

A reference in the "Diary" recently to Schoolhouse lane, where the boy who was later the famous Duke of Marlborough was educated, recalls the fact that this narrow passage, only nine feet wide, was originally known as Le Ram lane, from a fifteenth century building in High street called Le Ramme, and it was not until the free school of the city was subsequently erected here that the name was changed. It is known also as the home, in the early part of the eighteenth century, of John Brocas, the printer, and likewise of the King's Bench Office, on which the House of Lords Committee reported in 1739:—"The King's Bench Office is in Schoolhouse Lane, one of the narrowest in the City of Dublin. About two years ago a fire broke out very near the office, which gave them great alarm, and there is now an old cage workhouse within so small a distance as to make its situation very dangerous . . . If a fire should break out, it would be scarce possible to preserve either houses or records." The reference to a "cage" workhouse meant, of course, a building of timber in cage-work fashion, many of which were erected in Dublin in Elizabethan days, and the last of which disappeared from the corner of Werburgh street and Castle street in 1813.

Irish Publishers.

The topic of Ireland's reading public always brings tears to my eyes; for if the number of books read in this country is small, the number published here is incomparably smaller still. Not a tithe of our Irish authors find it commercially advisable to get their work published in Ireland. Gone are the roseate days of the eighteenth century, when books were often published simultaneously in London and Dublin, and when Dublin teemed with booksellers and publishers. That many of those last were "pirates" is beside the point. They were keen and had an eye to business; they had a moneyed public who could afford to buy largely. Circumstances have changed, and Dublin is no longer the second largest city in the British Empire. In many ways the world has gone on and Ireland has been left behind. Not until the country is more prosperous and money is circulating more freely can we hope to have our book-publishing business in anything like a flourishing condition.

Antiques.

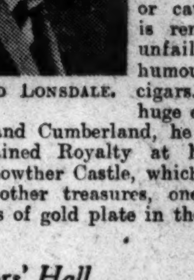

Those were happy days for the collector of antiques when every country cottage had its possibilities of unrealised treasure, and many good things changed hands for a song. Now, however, these modest dwellings have been well combed, and their inmates grown sophisticated, so that the connoisseur must hie himself to the antique dealers' or to the auction rooms. Sometimes, indeed, a piece of old lustre ware may still be spied on a country dresser; for it was a homely ware, intended for use by the farmer and the cottager, and now extremely interesting from a collector's point of view. The making of lustre was an age-old art of the East, and, in mediæval times, of Spain and Italy; in England it was in vogue during the nineteenth century. One hears it said that the secret of the old metallic glazes must have died with the old potters; certainly genuine old lustre has a deep rich glow and power of reflection not often seen in modern examples. Copper and silver are the most usual varieties to be found, but "pink" lustre is also delightful. It is really a weaker solution of the copper wash, and may be any colour from lilac to purple. Placed where they will reflect the sun's rays, or gleam with reflections from a glowing fire, pieces of lustre ware will reveal their true beauty.

A Burns Episode.

Among the millions who will honour the immortal memory of Robert Burns to-night, there may still be a few who were present at the great centenary banquet in Edinburgh in 1859, and, if so, they are not likely to have forgotten a remarkable incident that took place on that occasion. During the proceedings the chairman introduced "the only man now living who saw the day we commemorate"—a centenarian named Walter Glover, who had been a Dumfries carrier and a crony of the poet. The old man mounted the platform and amazed his audience by reciting the whole of "Tam o' Shanter" without slip or hesitation, following on with many racy stories of his friendship with Robbie.

A Popular Peer.

Easily among the most popular of Englishmen is the Earl of Lonsdale, who celebrates his seventy-second birthday to-day. An ardent sportsman all his life, he takes special interest in racing, hunting and boxing, founded the coveted Lonsdale belt, is seldom absent from any important horse or cattle show, and is renowned for his unfailing good humour and his big cigars. The owner of huge estates in Yorkshire and Cumberland, he has frequently entertained Royalty at his magnificent seat, Lowther Castle, which boasts, among many other treasures, one of the finest services of gold plate in the world.

LORD LONSDALE.

Tailors' Hall.

A correspondent in the "Diary" asked recently if anyone had ever succeeded in deciphering the now almost illegible inscription over the entrance to the Tailors' Hall in Back lane, Dublin. Sir John Gilbert, in his "History of the City of Dublin," gives the following description of the interesting old building:—"The entrance is through an iron gate enclosed in a limestone frame, on the entablature of which is an inscription stating that the building was erected by the Corporation of Tailors in 1706." He further states that a bust of George III. was placed over the entrance in 1770, and that the Board Room was at one time decorated with portraits of Charles I., Charles II., William III., Swift, and a curious ancient painting of St. Homohon, a tailor of Cremona, who was said to have given all his labour to the poor, for which and for his miraculous actions he was canonised in 1316. These paintings, all the plate and other moveable property were hurriedly disposed of immediately before the passing of the Corporation Reform Act, and the building was subsequently used as a school.

Shifting in Sands.

It may not be generally known, writes a correspondent, that the bent-planting which you advocate in connection with the coastal erosion at Greystones and other places has already been employed in other parts of Ireland, notably in Co. Donegal.

In the last century Lord Boyne built himself a magnificent house opposite to the village of Carrigart; he laid out spacious gardens, and the estate of Rosapenna was much talked of for its beauty. Then the sands began to drift. The house was quickly swallowed up, along with the holdings of several of the small farmers, and soon the district became a miniature Sahara. In 1843 Lord Leitrim bought the estate, and gradually saved it from further ruin by resolutely planting bent year after year in great quantities and at great expense; hence the beautiful turf which to-day delights the heart of the golfing visitor to Rosapenna. The old house built by Lord Boyne is down underneath the sand; you walk over the roof of it now.

The same thing has happened at Dunfanaghy. Prior to 1917 bent grass was growing there by nature in great profusion, but in that year it was cut. The sands promptly began to shift, and soon the old military road had disappeared. Seven or eight years ago a new road was built, but that, too, has been swallowed up. A similar fate has befallen the signal-tower which was built in the time of Napoleon. Year after year the bent is being replanted on an extensive scale, but unless this takes root and spreads quickly Horn Head House itself may, indeed, be sunk beneath the sands.

The Late Bishop Orpen.

The late Bishop of Limerick, the Right Rev. Dr. Orpen, spent forty-two years as Rector of Tralee, and died recently at the great age of 92. Whether at the time of his death he was the doyen of the Irish clergy is a matter of some doubt; the claim obviously lies between him and Canon Stoney, who is still young at 94. It is certain, however, that by Bishop Orpen's death the last link was severed with the old Church of Ireland by law established. He was appointed Rector of Tralee by the late Bishop Graves only a few days before the Act of Disestablishment came into force. He is survived by his youngest son, Canon Orpen, Rector of Adare. His eldest son, Richard Theodore, became Chief Justice of the Barbadoes. He died in his sleep in 1926, and his sudden death was a great blow to the Bishop. Richard Theodore Orpen, the Bishop's son, was a Scholar and Moderator of T.C.D. He was called to the Bar, and went to West Africa under the Colonial Office. At the time of his death, the two chief offices in the Island were filled by Trinity men, since His Excellency the Governor was our old friend W. C. F. Robertson, who has since been knighted. Another great sorrow in the Bishop's life was the death of his second son, Charles MacGillycuddy, nearly 25 years ago. He had passed brilliantly into the India Medical Service, and was posted to Quetta, where he died of pneumonia after a few days' illness. He had only been eight months in India.

THE LATE MR. R. T. ORPEN.

Vodka.

Some time ago I was amused to read that members of Parliament were complaining that they could not obtain vodka in the House, and I now see that the grievance is removed and that a vodka from Riga is on sale there. I am inclined to see in this but another example of the very human element in the make-up of the politician. I cannot feel—and I think anyone who has tasted vodka will agree—that anybody could really want to drink that substance if he could get anything else. Human nature, however, aches for the unobtainable, and, like the youngster in the bath of a famous soap advertisement, "he won't be happy till he gets it." Vodka's flavour is a mixture of gin and methylated spirits, and its potency is like that of poteen. From my experience of it in its country of origin and in Western Europe, I am of the opinion that the exported article is superior in quality and inferior in strength. It is a curious speculation, which will probably never be satisfied, how many bottles of vodka will be "consumed on the premises" by the imperial legislators.

The First Irish Railway.

This is the centenary year of the institution of public railways, the line from Liverpool to Manchester having been first used on September 30th, 1830, and first thrown open to the public a week later. The Irish were quick to follow suit, and the construction of the Dublin to Kingstown Railway was commenced in 1832. As may well be imagined, this marvel created a great stir at the time and on the completion of the line in 1834, The Dublin Penny Journal published a special number to commemorate the occasion. In this it is magnificently observed: Harried by the invisible, but stupendous agency of steam, the astonished passenger will now glide, like Asmodeus, over the summits of the houses and streets of a great city—presently be transported through green fields and tufts of trees—then skim across the surface of the sea, and, taking shelter under the cliffy coast along the marine villas and through rocky excavations, until he finds himself in the centre of a vast port which unites in pleasing confusion the bustle of a commercial town with the amusements of a fashionable watering place."

The Light of Other Days.

It is amusing to note in connection with this railway that, when it was first mooted, the inhabitants of Kingstown very strongly objected to the desecration of their town by the introduction of such a vulgar mode of conveyance. They agitated violently against it, and eventually succeeded in getting the bill altered so as to prevent the company from bringing the railway any nearer than the commencement of the West Pier. So pleased were they at their fortunate escape from complete degradation that they presented Mr. Gresham, of hotel fame, with an illuminated address and 500 sovereigns in recognition of his valiant and successful defence of the town against the attempted invasion.

QUIDNUNC.

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES

FROM A CORRESPONDENT.

Hilary term is now well under way, and is to witness the consolidation, if not the actual birth, of a new Society. This will be the League of Nations Society, which already possesses a temporary committee and secretary. Those interested are busy preparing a constitution, which will be submitted to the next committee meeting, and later to the Board. They should have little difficulty with the authorities; for the Provost himself is President of the League of Nations Society of Ireland.

A branch of this Society already exists in University College, Dublin, and groups of students in Cork and Belfast are keenly interested in the scheme. It is proposed to hold inter-University debates, to read papers and to have discussions on matters connected with the League of Nations. On January 31st, or on February 1st or 2nd, M. Jean Balinski (Count Jundzi), of Poland, will speak in Trinity on this subject. M. Balinski is ex-President of the International Conference of Students, and was one of the pioneers of the University League of Nations Federation.

Amongst those who have been instrumental in bringing the new Society into being have been Mr. C. B. McKenna, Auditor of the College Historical Society; Mr. B. W. Lloyd, ex-Auditor; Mr. Fitzroy Pyle, Mr. J. J. Auchmuty, Mr. O. S. Skeffington, Mr. M. A. Ellison, and Mr. Joshua Baker.

THE HIDDEN HAND.

The bulk of the credit for the organisation, however, is due to Mr. A. R. Ennis, the temporary Secretary. Mr. Ennis has put in a terrific amount of correspondence and quiet work in the background, and will almost certainly efface himself unobtrusively as soon as the Society is firmly established. Mr. Ennis is President of the Student Christian Movement, and has a finger in many other philanthropic pies. He is to lecture in Mathematics during the coming term.

MR. A. R. ENNIS.

AN AMERICAN TO DEFEND AMERICA.

Mr. Ennis is also Secretary of the University Philosophical Society, which will hold its opening meeting next Thursday night. Mr. E. R. Marlin is to read a paper which will be a "Defence of American Civilisation." Mr. Marlin is himself an American, of course, and has coerced a number of his fellow-countrymen to support him when he pleads his case before the philosophical Phillistines. This meeting should be well worth attending.

BOXING.

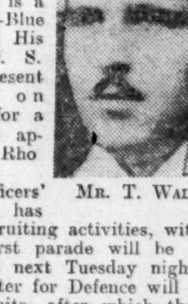

The Boxing Club are preparing to enjoy themselves; for the Novices' Championships will be decided on Thursday night. Over forty entries have already been received—a record for the club, and the preliminary contests will be fought on Wednesday. Many Rugby footballers will make their pugilistic début on this occasion, including Messrs. Tighe and McNeilly. The two Pike brothers will also be there.

The Boxing Club has a busy time before it; for they meet Edinburgh University on 21st February, after which they have a fixture with Dundalk, followed by a tournament at Kingstown in aid of the funds of the British Legion. Then there are the Junior Inter-University Championships on the 7th of February, and the Senior Inter-University on the 12th of February. The Club also intends to send a Junior team to meet Bray. All this activity shows that the Club has no intention of resting on its laurels, after a prolonged period of success. It is interesting to note that the British Universities' and Hospitals' Championships will be decided in the Gymnasium of Dublin University this year.

Mr. Maurice Griffin, ex-Treasurer of the Historical Society, and for many years Secretary of the Boxing Club, who holds a commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps, is now welter-weight champion of the Northern Command in India.

CALLED TO THE BAR.

Two Trinity men were called to the Bar this week, Mr. W. I. Hamill and Mr. T. Wallace. Mr. Hamill was a keen member of the Football and Rowing Clubs, and in former years shared rooms with Mr. Max Brontë Parker, now Lieutenant of Police in Barbadoes. Mr. Wallace is a member of the amphibious family of that name. He is a Cambridge half-Blue for water polo. His brother, Mr. O. S. Wallace, is at present in Cambridge on probation for a Colonial Service appointment in Rhodesia.

MR. T. WALLACE.

The revived Officers' Training Corps has continued its recruiting activities, with great success. The first parade will be held at Griffith Barracks next Tuesday night. The Free State Minister for Defence will address the Trinity recruits, after which the usual routine drills will be held. A parade will be held in College at an early date.

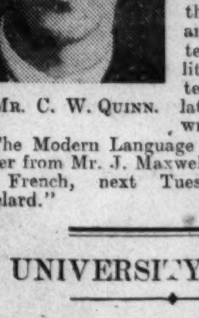

MAINLY ABOUT WOMEN.

Next Wednesday the College Historical Society will hold their first debate of the term on the motion "That the time has now come for the establishment of a Women's University." The "Hist" is a most conservative society, and most of the opinions expressed will be, doubtless, very reactionary.

Even more reactionary, in all probability, will be the views of Mr. R. C. Sutton, who will read a paper to the Biological Society on Tuesday on "The place of women in the Medical World." This Society has recently been much exercised over the threatened intrusion of women, and it is not impossible that the paper may have some bearing on the problem. Mr. W. M. E. Anderson will then soothe the audience with a paper on "Tobacco."

VIRGIL IN THE BLASKETS.

The Classical Society will also hold its first meeting of the term next Friday night, when Mr. W. B. Stanford will read a paper on "Cicero's Letters." The Secretary of this Society is Mr. C. W. Quinn, who has just returned from the Blasket Islands, where he has been studying Irish. Rumour has it that he lived on stewed rabbit, and even more stewed tea, depending for mental pabulum on a copy of Virgil and an Irish Bible. Mr. Quinn is a gold medallist of the Historical Society, and is keenly interested in Italian literature and architecture, on which latter subject he has written considerably.

MR. C. W. QUINN.

The Modern Language Society will hear a paper from Mr. J. Maxwell Henry, F., T.C.D., in French, next Tuesday, on "Pierre Abelard."

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

MALAHIDE ROAD "HOLD-UP."

THREE BROTHERS CHARGED.

WHAT SEARCH OF HOUSE REVEALED.

(BEFORE MR. LITTLE.)

A parcel containing many thick wads of bank and Treasury notes and several bags of silver was produced in Court, together with a black waterproof coat, cap and trousers similar to those worn by the Civic Guard, when the three brothers, John, Archibald and William Doyle, of Ring street, Inchicore, were charged, on remand, with conspiring and taking part in the armed "hold-up" on the Malahide road on January 11, when two men, one of whom posed as a Guard, stopped a motor car and made off in it with a sum of £1,609 5s. 10d., the property of Messrs. John Kenny and Sons, building contractors. The accused men also were charged with stealing the car, which was found abandoned in the vicinity of the Phœnix Park after the robbery.

Mr. J. Healy (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Patrick Campbell, solicitor, for the defence.

It was intimated that there were nearly twenty witnesses to be examined for the prosecution. Less than half that number had given evidence when the case was adjourned again until Tuesday next. Bail in the sum of £100 was allowed in the case of William Doyle, but Archibald and John were remanded in custody.

BANK TELLER'S EVIDENCE.

The first witness called yesterday was Mr. Charles Gifford, teller of the Bank of Ireland, who deposed to the cashing of a cheque for £2,082 5s. 10d. for Mr. Kenny on the morning of January 11, and detailed the manner in which the money was issued in notes, silver and copper. He had not taken a note of the numbers of the notes issued, but was able to identify, by means of the wrappers, bundles of notes when called to the Lower Castle Yard.

Mr. Alphonsus Sheehan, Orwell Park, Rathgar, a nephew of Mr. Kenny, said that he cashed the cheque at the bank, and left the amount of money that was required at the office in Harcourt road. Afterwards he and Mr. Kenny left in the latter's private motor car with the balance of the money to pay the wages of the men employed on the housing scheme at Donnycarney. There was altogether a sum of £1,609 5s. 10d., including £10 and £5 notes, in the back of the car. He positively identified one of the bundles of notes produced by a note which he had made on the wrapper.

THE "HOLD-UP."

Referring to the "hold-up," the witness said that they had gone as far as the Clontarf Golf Club, on the Malahide road, when a man, who appeared to be a Civic Guard and was accompanied by a man in civilian clothes, walked out from the footpath and held up his hand for the car to stop. The witness stopped the car and was called upon by the man dressed as a "Guard" to show his driving licence, which he did. First Mr. Kenny and then the witness were ordered to get out of the car, and when they had done so the man in uniform told his companion to get in and see if it was the car for which they were looking.

As the civilian got into the driver's seat the man in uniform produced a "gun" and pointed it at Mr. Kenny, saying, "You had better go away now." He then entered the car, which was driven away in the direction of Malahide.

When the car was stopped, the witness proceeded, he saw the man in civilian clothes produce a revolver. It was then that he realised that something was wrong. The man in uniform wore a coat and cap like those produced in court. When the witness saw the money again over £70 was missing.

The witness identified Archibald Doyle as the man who was dressed as a Civic Guard. He was present at an identification parade at the Bridewell, but was not able to pick out any other man.

Mr. John Kenny was then called, and said that he was seated beside the driver in the car when the man dressed as a Civic Guard crossed the road, said that they were "speeding" and asked Sheehan to produce his licence. The whole affair occurred as the previous witness had described it. After the "hold-up" he went with Sheehan to Donnycarney, where he telephoned to the police.

IDENTIFICATION PARADE.

Coming to the identification parade, the witness said that he identified Archibald and John Doyle as the men who took part in the robbery. To the best of his opinion John was the man who was dressed as a Civic Guard, and Archibald was in civilian attire. At the parade, referring to John, he said, "You are the man that held me up and robbed me."

Mr. Campbell—Mr. Sheehan said that it was Archibald who held you up. Which of you is right?

The Witness—I feel now with regard to the identification parade as I did the day it was held.

Replying to further questions, the witness said that he was too frightened to tell how long the "hold-up" lasted—whether it was one or three minutes. The car was value for about £300, and was recovered.

Detective Thomas Doyle, of the E Division, deposed to meeting the defendant, Archibald Doyle, in the Furry Glen, Phœnix Park, some days after the "hold-up." He interrogated him, and, in view of his answers, brought him to the Bridewell. There a parade was held, when the defendant said, "If I am identified at it, I will admit the charge."

Detective John Scully gave evidence of finding a map in the house of the accused men.

AN OVERCOAT.

Detective-Sergeant John Lynch stated that on January 16 he saw a black overcoat in the Detective Office similar to the one produced in court. Later he went to the Leyland Rubber Company's office in Abbey street, where he was given a purchase order for an overcoat bearing a rubber stamp, "Hanley, Clare lane." He went there and saw William Doyle, who was employed in the place. He asked Doyle if he had the firm's order book, and, in reply, Doyle asked whether he was inquiring about the coat which had been stolen from him a couple of hours after he had got it in O'Connell street. He arrested Doyle and took him to the Castle, where he asked him to account for his movements on the day of the robbery. Doyle refused then, but said that he would make a statement when required. A sum of over £4 was found on him. Later Archibald and John Doyle said that they would make no statements until they had legal advice.

Superintendent Ennis said that the three defendants were put into a parade of twelve men at the Bridewell. Mr. Kenny, having gone up and down the line, singled out John Doyle and afterwards Archibald. Afterwards Mr. Sheehan identified Archibald as the man who was in uniform.

When charged and cautioned the three defendants said that they had nothing to say.

To Mr. Campbell—Later "Archie" told me that John and William had nothing to do with the "hold-up."

SEARCH OF HOUSE.

Detective Hickie gave evidence of a search of the house in Ring street, Inchicore, where the accused men lived. In the lavatory, behind the cistern, a sum of £61 in single notes was found.

Detective Donnegan described how the bulk of the money was found in a search of the house, which was conducted between 12 midnight and 1 a.m. on January 17 by the light from an electric torch. When the linoleum on a landing was raised the witness noticed that one of the boards underneath was held in position by two screws. He removed the screws and lifted the board and saw underneath a number of bags. He opened one of them and found that it contained silver. There also were four empty bags, and under three small boards a parcel which was found to contain a number of bundles of notes.

When he showed some of the money to Mrs. Doyle she said: "For God's sake, leave me alone. I have seen enough of it."

The assistant manager of the Leyland Rubber Company, Abbey street, was next called, and gave evidence of a visit paid by two young men, at whose suggestion he set aside a black waterproof coat of the type produced. He recognised Archibald Doyle as one of the men.

An assistant in the shop said that he identified William Doyle as one of the men who called. William came back alone afterwards and paid 42s. 6d. for the coat produced in court.

A CAP.

Evidence of the purchase of a cap by a young man was given by an employé in a tailor's shop in Oakland terrace, Terenure.

Mr. Campbell applied for bail on behalf of William Doyle, and Mr. Healy said that he did not object.

The Justice—Considering the gravity of the charge, I cannot say less than £100.

Archibald and John Doyle, as stated, were remanded in custody until Tuesday.

When the depositions in the case were read over to the witnesses, the Justice paid a high tribute to the deputy chief clerk, Mr. Cleary, for the exceptionally clear and accurate manner in which he had recorded the evidence. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Healy concurred.

FALSE PRETENCES CHARGE.

A well-dressed man, James Scott, of no fixed address, was brought forward in custody charged with fraud by pretending that he had been authorised to collect subscriptions for St. Ultan's Hospital, Charlemont street.

Evidence was given by witnesses who had given the accused man contributions of 2s. 6d. each.

Detective Weir said that the accused man admitted the charges, and he asked for a remand for a week, as there were many complaints as to bogus collections for hospitals.

The Justice granted the remand.

RETURNED FOR TRIAL.

Martin Donnelly and Eugene Caldwell, both from the Dominick street area, were returned for trial on bail on the charge of stealing an overcoat, value for £12, the property of Sir Thomas Ainsworth, Clonmel.

Sir Thomas identified the coat, which had been found in a city pawn office, and said that he missed it from his car after visiting the Kildare Street Club on December 26 last.

INFORMATIONS REFUSED.

Informations were refused in a case against a 'bus driver in the employment of the Dublin United Tramways Company. Patrick Butler, who was charged with causing the death of Kathleen Patterson, 8 Camac place, by knocking her down with his 'bus in Dolphin's Barn street on January 13. The evidence showed that the girl was knocked down when she ran off the pavement in front of a stationary cart. The 'bus was going slowly at the time.

Mr. E. H. Burne, solicitor, appeared for the defendant.

The Vatican yesterday denied the statement that Cardinal Gasparri's move to his new house on the Oppian Hill has already taken place. It is stated that he will move after the official confirmation of his retirement from the Secretaryship of State.—(Reuter.)

FERMANAGH WOMAN'S DEATH.

The death has taken place of Mrs. Elizabeth Carson at KILLYREAGH, near Enniskillen, the residence of her son, Mr. John N. Carson, a former High Sheriff of the County Fermanagh. Mrs. Carson was the third daughter of the late Mr. William Nixon, of Thornhill, Blacklion, Co. Cavan, and her other sisters are still living—Mrs. Cullen, Thornhill, who is 85; Mrs. Nixon, The Cottage, Belcoo, Fermanagh (mother of Captain W. WIDOW'S CLAIM FAILS.

Judge Wyse Power, at GALWAY Circuit Court, dismissed an application by Mrs. Delia MacLoughlin, Newford Cottages, Athenry, for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act for the death of her husband, William, who was killed by a Limerick to Athenry train, midway between Athenry and Craughwell, on April 20 last. The evidence showed that MacLoughlin was employed by the Great Southern Railway Company for over fifteen years as a wall builder's assistant, and, owing to shortage of work his services were to be dispensed with on April 20 (the day of his death) at 12.15 p.m. He should have started work at 8 a.m., but did not do so, and the judge held that the fatality, which occurred at 9.30 a.m., had not occurred arising out of, or in the course of, his employment.

THE ORANGE ORDER.

Major D. G. Shillington, D.L., M.P., and Mr. J. C. Davison, K.C., M.P., were the principal guests at the annual reunion in connection with PORTADOWN Women's Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 62, held in Carleton street Hall last Thursday night. Mrs. McDonald, J.P., County Grand Mistress, who presided, expressed the hope that when Mr. Baldwin visited Belfast next month the Ulster and Imperial members of Parliament would impress upon him the necessity of putting up a big fight for protection within the Empire. Mr. J. C. Davison, K.C., M.P., said that it was necessary that the Orange Order should be maintained in a strong position, because it was the cement that welds together all Protestants. They had got in the Church of Rome a powerful world-wide organisation ever on the alert. Major D. G. Shillington, M.P., referring to the education question, said that in the next session of the Northern Parliament a Bill would be passed which would assure their people that for all time Protestant schools would remain Protestant. During the present year he hoped to see work started on the Bann drainage scheme. In conclusion, he commended the Orange Orphan Fund to the sympathy and support of all members of the Order, and urged them to see to it that the income of that fund was not allowed to decrease.

SEARCHES FOR ARMS.

Several houses in NENAGH were visited last Thursday night by members of the C.I.D., who searched for arms, without result.

INQUEST SCENE.

There was a painful scene in the BELFAST Coroner's Court yesterday, when a young husband after giving evidence of the death of his wife suddenly burst into tears, and, as the Coroner (Dr. James Graham) was offering him sympathy in his bereavement, the young man fainted.

COUNTY KILDARE ROADS.

KILDARE County Council, at its meeting yesterday, passed the following sums for road maintenance:—Trunk roads, £11,083; link roads, £14,975, and county roads, £18,462 18s. The County Surveyor drew attention to the abnormal 'bus traffic in the Southern end of Kildare. The roads were rapidly deteriorating there, and the road grants were altogether inadequate to keep them in repair.

THE PROPERTY MARKET.

Corbeagh House, with a farm of 137 acres, near EDGEWORTHSTOWN, Co. Longford, has been sold to Mr. Creegan, Annaghmore, Mohill (Co. Leitrim) for £1,110. The property was purchased by Mr. James J. Brady some years ago for £2,700, and a short time before that it realised £3,000. Cartron Hall, a fine residence on Battery road, Longford, and the property of Mr. Joseph King, has been sold for £1,010.

EXCESS PROFITS CASE.

In the King's Bench, BELFAST, yesterday, before the Lord Chief Justice, the action was mentioned of the Crown against Samuel Orr M'Cabe and John M. Clarke Bulloch, who formerly had been in partnership in Belfast. The action was brought to recover excess profit duty for a number of years in connection with the partnership. Judgment for £6,000 odd had been given in default against M'Cabe, and judgment was now marked against Bulloch for £8,351 and costs on consent signed by that defendant.

FOUND DROWNED.

The identity of the body of a man who was found floating in the BELFAST Harbour last Tuesday has not yet been established. At the inquest yesterday Dr. James Graham, the Coroner, recorded a verdict of "Found drowned," as there was no evidence to show how he came to be in the water. The police witnesses and doctor who examined the body said that there were no marks of violence. The body was dressed in a fawn overcoat, dark brown suit, soft white collar and brown tie. In the clothes were a brown leather wallet and a copy of a Glasgow newspaper.

IRISH IN WESTMEATH.

At a meeting of the Westmeath County Committee of Agriculture and Technical Instruction which was held in MULLINGAR yesterday, Mr. P. Dooner, County Councillor, presiding, the Free State Department wrote declining to sanction advertising for a teacher in Irish in succession to Miss Diffley on the grounds that no evidence was given to show that there was any considerable demand for additional Irish classes, and that in view of a new centre having been recently discontinued, any special demands for classes could be met by a redistribution of the existing staffs.

KILMOREY ESTATE.

The Earl of Kilmorey and the trustees of the Kilmorey estate brought an application in the Bankruptcy Court, BELFAST, yesterday, before Mr. Justice Brown, to have certain documents and papers belonging to the estate, but formerly in the possession of Mr. J. Moore Boyle, solicitor, Newry, a bankrupt, handed over to the trustees. Mr. Monroe, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Reeves and Sons), for the trustees, explained that the documents were now in the possession of the Official Assignee. Mr. J. M'Gonigal, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. M'Ildowie and Sons), for the Assignee, said that they were anxious to assist the trustees, but there might be certain costs due. Mr. Monroe said that he was instructed that if there was a lien for costs due to Mr. Boyle the balance was in favour of the trustees. Mr. M'Gonigal said that it was believed there was a claim for £2,000 commission due to Mr. Boyle over the sale of the Kilmorey estate. Mr. Monroe replied that that should come out of the money paid by the Land Purchase Commission. The judge granted the order, subject to a lien, if any at present existing.

ROAD MONEYS.

The cost of rebuilding a bridge, known as the Fallon Bridge, between LONGFORD and Tammbany, was £2,800. The original estimate of Mr. Murphy, the County Surveyor, was £850, but extra work had been undertaken on the approaches to the bridge. It was assumed that 50 per cent. of the original estimate would be borne by the Roads Board, but a definite assurance had not been obtained to this effect, and the Council discovered that it would be a matter for the ratepayers. A deputation of the County Council, including the Chairman (Mr. Garahan) and Mr. E. D. McCann, Secretary, County Council, waited upon Messrs. McCarron and Moylan, of the Free State Department, and, on the instructions of the Council, placed the facts before them, with the result that the Council has been given a grant of £1,000 towards the expenditure, with permission to borrow £950. The Council at its meeting thanked the deputation and the Department for this concession, which relieved the ratepayers of a heavy responsibility. A letter from the Department stated:—"The Minister is much concerned at your failure, and that of the County Surveyor and County Accountant, to keep a sufficient check on the expenditure of road moneys, and he trusts that closer attention will be given in future, so that there may be no recurrence of the present financial embarrassment."

According to a Madrid message received yesterday at Hendaye, on the Franco-Spanish border, the Professors of the Madrid Central University have decided to suspend lectures, as the Government has not yet replied to the students' request for the pardoning of their leader, Sbert, who has been in prison since the original troubles last year, and to reinstate professors who resigned at the time Sbert was detained.—(Reuter.)

The Rev. Patrick Gannon, S.J.; Sir Joseph Glynn and Chief Justice Kennedy were among the speakers at the opening meeting of the Literary and Historical Society in University College, Dublin, last night. The Auditor, in his paper, discussed "The Irish Catholics and the Penal Laws."—(Page 5.)

Thomas Francis Cashin, a teacher, and Edmond Morrissey, a labourer, both of Stradbally, Co. Waterford, were brought before District Justice McCabe, at Waterford last night, charged with the murder of Laurence Griffin, a postman, who has been missing since Christmas Day. They also were charged with secretly disposing of the dead body and with the theft of a post bag and the postman's cap.—(Page 10.)

FINANCIAL.

London Stock Markets were dull and uncertain. Anglo-Americans generally displayed a firm tone.—(Page 14.)

The Treasury bill rate was lower at 3 15/16 per cent. against 4 per cent. last week, and discount rates were easier on the result. Overnight loans were 3½ to 3¾ per cent. The Bank received £21,881 in sovereigns from abroad.—(Page 14.)

In Dublin, Guinness shares rose to 104s. Industrials were dull.—(Page 14.)

At the Bank of Ireland meeting Captain Nutting (Governro), after referring to the change in the note issne, gave an interesting classification of the Bank's advances to its customers. These fell into three categories—£4,000,000 purely to agriculture, £4,500,000 to trade and commerce, and £2,250,000 to "miscellaneous," including substantial advances to public bodies of all kinds. The Governor took a hopeful view of the economic prospects of the Free State.—(Page 15.)

At the meeting of the Munster and Leinster Bank in Cork, Mr. D. J. Daly (who presided) congratulated the Bank on having come successfully through a trying period in world finance, and it was with pride and satisfaction they presented a balance sheet showing a position of remarkable strength. He replied to the critics of bank rates, and contended that they were dealing in the most liberal manner, consistent with sound banking, and with every demand made upon them.—(Page 15.)

The Hatry Frauds.

A black period in the history of the London Stock Exchange has been closed, as we must hope, by the end of the Hatry trial. Yesterday Clarence Hatry and his three accomplices withdrew their last defence, and pleaded guilty to the forgery and utterance of valuable securities which purported to be bearer scrip certificates relating to authorised issues of three municipal stocks. Hatry was sentenced to fourteen years' penal servitude, and the others to terms ranging from seven to three years. Few who have followed the tale of their crime—complicated in detail, but simple in its principle, or lack of principle—will feel that justice has erred on the side of harshness. However their temptations may be urged, these four men were wholly reckless in their greed of gain and wholly consciousless in their devices to save their own pockets and skins. When their biggest venture, a great steel combine, was in danger they began to make good a deficiency of some £1,000,000 by the utterance of forged securities on a huge scale. Yesterday Mr. Justice Avory described their acknowledged frauds as "the most appalling that ever have disfigured the commercial reputation of the country." The material consequences of their crime are heavy and far-reaching. It is true that banks and large financial houses have been the chief losers, and that among these the recent settlement has relieved and softened the shock. Nevertheless, Hatry threw his net widely and audaciously. Some companies have been broken, others have been staggered, by his frauds. Many millions of pounds have been lost, and—merely because these men were burning to get rich quickly—the spectre of want has invaded thousands of middle-class homes. Already large losses have fallen upon numbers of Irish investors in consequence of the involved position of at least one finance company.

The moral effect of the Hatry frauds is not less grave, and may be more lasting, unless British finance takes swift steps to set its house in order. "It was not easy," said the Attorney-General, "to conceive how four men could have made the restoration of the country's prosperity more difficult than the four men in the dock." To-day, more than ever, confidence is the main-spring of British finance; for a new type of investor has come into the field. The "small man" has discovered the Stock Exchange, and the result has been a vast expansion of the investing public. This is an entirely beneficial development; but, as soon as the small investor begins to feel that he is not protected adequately, commerce will receive a deadly blow. Even before the Hatry exposures the "small man's" confidence had begun to be shaken. He is not a financial expert, but some recent changes in the character of the stock markets have filled him with a vague uneasiness. He notes the financial megalomania which, no longer content with hundreds of thousands, must deal in bewildering millions. The innovation of "holding companies," which seem to have smaller companies at their mercy, disturbs him. He suspects that the quite recent overlappings and involutions of company promotion on the gigantic scale must furnish for unscrupulous wits opportunities which did not exist when British finance was content with more pedestrian methods.

Nobody questions the essential soundness of the Stock Exchange, but the Hatry case is only the worst of a succession of financial crises which show that certain reforms are needed and ought to be undertaken without delay. In the first place, the public must be protected from the more manifest dangers of speculative finance. In the next place, the whole average working of the company system must be improved; for company law has ceased to be able to control modern practice. Some limitation, for instance, ought to be imposed on dealings in scrip certificates for stock or debentures. A check must be put on the growing number of so-called "trust companies," which compete furiously for underwriting and other commissions. A speedier publication of fuller balance-sheets is required. The system by which directors may be mere figure-heads, who receive fees for the use of their names, ought to be abolished. If these and similar reforms are an early result of the Hatry frauds, good will have come out of evil. The vastness of the issue is illustrated by the fact that there are in these islands to-day nearly one hundred thousand limited companies, with an aggregate paid-up capital which approaches the stupendous sum of five thousand million pounds.

Legacies of War.

Although the second conference at The Hague was not so spectacular as the first, it had some very important results. From the point of view of general interest, of course, its principal achievement was the final ratification of the Young Plan for the settlement of the reparations problem; but it also cleared up a number of less prominent, if equally troublesome, matters. When the Allies decided to compel their former enemies to pay reparations, Germany's share, naturally, was very much greater than that of any of the other Powers. Definite sums, however, were apportioned between Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Czecho-Slovakia, and until the second Hague Conference nobody knew exactly how these countries stood. The case of Czecho-Slovakia was peculiarly difficult. Towards the end of the War, when the Czechs openly were on the Allies' side, large sums of money were raised in the Allied countries—especially in France and the United States—in order to encourage these brave people's fight for freedom; and a "Liberation Loan" was provided for Czecho-Slovakia. In addition to this loan, which is outstanding, a certain proportion of the Dual Monarchy's reparation debt was allotted to the new Republic. It has been agreed now that the Republic shall pay £500,000 per annum in settlement of the liberation debt, and that it shall be released from most of its other liabilities to the Allies. Austria has been freed of all obligations in respect of the War; Bulgaria, which, five years ago, was expected to pay £1,500,000 a year, henceforward will pay £400,000, and Hungary will pay no reparations at all after 1943.

We do not suggest that the countries in question—with the possible exception of Austria—are pleased with these terms. Nevertheless, a settlement has been made which, if it does not satisfy everybody, at least ought to improve the financial situation in Central and Near Eastern Europe. Hitherto the "non-German" nations that have been involved in the reparations problem have been virtually excluded from the international loan market. The general effect of The Hague settlement will be to create more stable conditions in a part of Europe which suffered very severely as a result of the War. One by one the problems of post-war Europe are being liquidated. The problem of Central European tariffs and trade restrictions remains a stumbling block; but here, too, there are signs of improvement. Sanity is returning to Europe after many frenzied days. Those peoples who took part in the War are becoming increasingly anxious to forget it, and its horrid legacies of hatred and prejudice are disappearing. The Hague's success ought to provide a bright example for the delegates who have met in London to tackle the problem of disarmament at sea. Issues will be raised during the next few weeks which go right to the roots of human nature, and the difficulties to be surmounted are truly formidable. Good-will in negotiation, however, often can be more important than concrete results, and, even if expectations are not realised in full, the mere activity of the Conference will promote the cause of peace in our time.

Amari Aliquid.

The United States, as the receptacle of the world's gold, has acquired a reputation for economic invulnerability. Hence we learn, with a mild surprise, that a serpent lurks within that financial Eden. It is not enough that the City of Chicago is virtually bankrupt and that one of the largest film-producing companies is beneath the hammer. In answer to President Hoover's recent statement that the unemployment situation is improving, Miss Frances Perkins, Commissioner of Labour for the State of New York, asserts that the number of unemployed in that State is greater than it has been for many years. The charitable agencies, who report an unprecedented increase in the number of applicants for relief, supplement the Commissioner's figures. It is contended, writes a correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, that President Hoover based his reassuring statement on an inadequate survey, since no returns had been furnished by New York State at the time of his speech. A recent estimate by the President of the American Federation of Labour makes the number of unemployed 3,000,000, out of a total population of 120,000,000; and, even at its lowest, the number never drops below 1,800,000. It may be that America's inordinate wealth is her bane. The rapid rise of her enormous corporations gives employment to myriads, who may become destitute if the corporations fail or are merged into others. Moreover, the condition of the unemployed is apt to be worse than in Europe. On account of the higher and more expensive standard of living in America, habits of thrift are not formed readily; and unemployment relief is comparatively unknown. It is not surprising, therefore, that the underworlds of the large cities are populous.

The Price of Beauty.

John Stuart Mill, in his "Principles of Political Economy," held that the skill of a violinist, in every respect, was as much a part of the world's wealth as the violin itself. Translated into physical terms, the violinist's skill is dependent entirely on the delicacy and flexibility of his right arm. Hence the insurance companies can claim, with good reason, that they insure against a loss of wealth-producing property when they issue a policy to safeguard the loss of that right arm. We are accustomed to reports of actresses who insure their hair, legs and teeth for enormous sums. Those go further who are willing to pay annual premiums, as large as a statesman's salary, in order to provide against the loss of the smiles that have brought them fortune and fame. The Paris Correspondent of The Times writes of an analogous development. So many actions have been brought in French Courts for damages, "in respect of injuries of a character to militate against physical beauty," that a special term, "æsthetic prejudice," has been coined to describe such offences. A detective inspector, injured in a street accident, claims £800 damages. A woman barrister, similarly injured, claims £1,600. The plea in these and similar cases is that the inevitable loss of beauty is a serious inconvenience from the professional point of view. Perhaps, the day is coming when youths and maidens will seek compensation on the ground that their matrimonial prospects are impeded by facial injuries. Possibly, indeed, all justification will be cast aside, and cautious parents will take out policies against the potential unattractiveness of their infants.

LONDON LETTER.

THE HATRY SENTENCES.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
FRIDAY NIGHT.

The course of the Hatry trial underwent a change this morning, when the four prisoners withdrew their plea of "not guilty," and pleaded guilty to the indictment charging them with conspiracy to forge and utter certificates of Corporation Stock, on which it was stated that £789,000 had been raised. This change of plea enabled the trial to be finished to-day. Mr. Justice Avory did not spare the principal figure, either in the extent of the sentence, which is the maximum penalty for the offence, or in his remarks in announcing it. He referred to the operations as "the most appalling frauds that have ever disfigured the commercial reputation of this country," and those who have followed the course of the trial will agree with this description. The sentence is severe; but the crime was great, and the smaller penalties imposed upon the other three prisoners are accounted for by the state of affairs revealed during the trial, when it became clear that they were not so directly involved as the central figure. The Attorney-General expressed his belief that the case was without precedent; and it is to be hoped that it will remain for many years an isolated blot upon the commercial history of the country.

The Naval Conference.

Proceedings at the Naval Conference to-day consisted mainly of a number of meetings between Mr. Ramsay Macdonald and the delegations; it is reported that everything is going well, as far as the preliminary point of view is concerned. The task is one of such magnitude that it is not easy for the delegations to settle down to an agreed point of view, but when they have reached that position advance should be more rapid. At present, all the work is really organisation for the business that is to come. One point of the day's proceedings was certainly most interesting; for the French Premier, who intended to go to Paris for the week-end, decided to change his plans and remain here. This was due, it was said, to the fact that such rapid progress was being made with the preliminaries. Once the preparations for the serious business of the Conference are complete, the first difficulty to be overcome will be—who is to be the first to make a firm offer of reduction in a navy?

United States or America?

One point in regard to the Naval Conference has excited much comment among other delegations, more particularly those coming from our Dominions, since it takes the form of a rather startling innovation. The United States have usually entered conferences under the name of the United States or Etats Unis; but in the present Conference they are represented under the heading of America. This is the first time when the United States has been graded as America in the diplomatic world, and it will be interesting to see whether the innovation is acceptable to the several Republics of South America and the Dominion of Canada. South America, as a whole, and Canada alone, are both much greater than the United States territorially.

Unemployment Insurance.

The Government is likely to be faced with a position of some little difficulty when the Unemployment Insurance Bill returns to the House of Commons next week, following amendment by the Lords. The Upper House decided to reject Clause 4, which deals with the conditions which claimants must fulfil in order to obtain benefit, and revived the "genuinely seeking work" formula, which trade unionists in the House of Commons insisted should disappear. Lord Darling, being of the opinion that it would not be wise to strike out the clause altogether, has substituted a new clause, which he has lifted bodily from the rules of the National Union of Railwaymen. This lays down that any person in receipt of donation benefit who refuses without reason to work, when employment is found him, or who does not endeavour to obtain employment, shall forfeit his claim to the benefit. The point will have to be discussed. Though the Government, in moving its rejection, probably will not call attention to the nature of the suggested clause, it is certain that the Opposition will not allow the opportunity to pass.

Ladies' Lifeboat Guild.

The Ladies' Lifeboat Guild, of which the Princess Louise (Duchess of Argyll) is patron, and which unites in one body all women who work for the lifeboat service, has added three distinguished names to its officers. The Duchess of Northumberland, who is President of the Alnwick Branch of the Guild and patron of the Newcastle-on-Tyne Branch, has accepted the Guild's invitation to be one of its vice-presidents. The Marchioness of Londonderry, who is President of the Belfast Branch, has become a vice-president of the Guild, and Mrs. James MacNeill, the wife of the Governor-General of the Irish Free State, who is President of the Dublin Branch, has also become a vice-president. England, Scotland, Wales, and the Irish Free State, as well as Northern Ireland, are now all represented among the officers of the Guild.

The British Legion.

The acceptance by Lord Bridgeman of the invitation extended by Lord Jellicoe to investigate the administration of the British Legion has been well received; for everybody has great confidence in the late First Lord of the Admiralty. In addition to Lord Bridgeman, the London Chamber of Commerce and the Institute of Chartered Accountants have been asked to nominate representatives to assist Lord Bridgeman. It is probable that there is nothing wrong with the administration at the Legion headquarters, but, in view of the recent criticisms, it is a wise decision to hold a thorough inquiry.

An Arabian Conference.

The object of the forthcoming conference between King Feisul of Iraq and King Ibn Saud of Nejd is to discuss measures for avoiding frontier raids and to consider the exchange of diplomatic representatives between the two States. The conference was to have been held in Iraq, but the King of Nejd has now declined to cross the frontier of his country, and another venue is being arranged. The British Government is keenly interested in the conference between the two Arabian Kings, and there will be much satisfaction if it results in an avoidance of the untoward events on the Iraq frontier, which have threatened to be dangerous from time to time.

Pensions for the Blind.

Pensions for the blind are proposed in a bill presented by Mr. Groves and supported by Mr. Naylor, Mr. Lee, Mr. Ben Tillett and Mr. Will Thorne, all Labour M.P.'s. It is proposed that the pensions shall be given to all unemployed blind persons over sixteen. A blind person is defined as "any person who is so blind as to be unable to perform any work for which eyesight is essential."

R.A.C. Donations.

The R.A.C., in conjunction with the Race Committee of the Ulster Automobile Club, has voted the following donations from the proceeds of the Tourist Trophy Race last year as some small recognition of the most valuable assistance rendered to the R.A.C. in the organisation of the race by the doctors, nurses or voluntary ambulance workers and by the Boy Scouts of Northern Ireland:—£50 to the Royal Victoria Hospital and £25 each to the Mater Infirmorum Hospital, the Ulster Hospital for Women and Children, and the Ulster Association of Boy Scouts.

"MOST APPALLING FRAUDS."

JUDGE'S STATEMENT IN THE HATRY CASE.

PENAL SERVITUDE FOR FOUR DEFENDANTS.

COST OF TRIAL ESTIMATED AT £20,000.

The Hatry trial ended at the Old Bailey, London, yesterday, when sentence was passed by Mr. Justice Avory on the four prisoners, as follows:—

CLARENCE CHARLES HATRY, fourteen years' penal servitude.
EDMUND DANIELS, seven years' penal servitude.
JOHN GRAHAM GOODFELLOW DIXON, five years' penal servitude.
ALBERT EDWARD TABOR, three years' penal servitude.

In every case there were additional sentences, including two years' hard labour, which will run concurrently.

Passing sentence on Hatry, Mr. Justice Avory said that he stood convicted, on his own confession, of the most appalling frauds that had ever disfigured the commercial reputation of the country—frauds far more serious than any committed within the last fifty years. He did not think there was much genuine merit in Hatry's confession, because defendant knew at that time that investigation was on foot.

The Judge referred to the plea put forward in mitigation, that Hatry was engaged in large financial transactions from which he hoped to reap considerable profit. Stripped of rhetorical language, it was nothing more or less than the threadbare plea of every clerk or servant who robbed his master, who said he hoped to repay the money, before his crime was discovered, by backing a winner.

DRAMATIC END TO THE TRIAL.

LONDON, Friday.

Drama came quickly to the packed court at the Old Bailey, where Hatry, Daniels, Tabor and Dixon stood in the dock today.

As soon as the judge had taken his seat Mr. Norman Birkett, K.C., Hatry's counsel, said that since the prosecution closed on the previous night he had had an opportunity of consulting with his junior and of considering the position with regard to the indictment in all its bearings. Many considerations which had to be borne in mind at this stage of the case had received the most anxious and prolonged consideration, with the result that they had tendered certain advice to Hatry, who now desired—fully realising the nature of that advice and the responsibility which it entailed—to ask his permission to withdraw his plea of "Not guilty" and to substitute a plea of "Guilty" to the whole of the counts.

"PLEA OF GUILTY."

There was a buzz of excitement in the court as counsel sat down. The Clerk then ordered Hatry to stand up, and asked formally if he wished to plead guilty. Hatry, in a strong, clear voice, replied laconically "I do."

Counsel for the other defendants then stated in turn that they desired to take the same course. Accordingly the judge directed the jury to find a formal verdict against each of the defendants.

Sir William Jowitt, the Attorney-General, said that he would ask that either the other indictments should be allowed to remain on the file, or else he would ask that he might be allowed to state the facts alleged in those indictments. The time of the Court had already been occupied for four days, and public money had been spent on a case which he was glad to believe was literally without precedent.

Mr. Justice Avory—Before I listen to any evidence relating to the other indictments I must know what the defendants plead to them.

THE SECOND INDICTMENT.

Sir William Jowitt said that he quite agreed; he would ask the judge to proceed on the second indictment, which alleged dealings with the shares of the Drapery Trust and Associated Automatic. With regard to Tabor, he proposed to take a different course.

"Perhaps I am straining my duty," Sir William said; "but, although Tabor did take some part in connection with the allegations set out in the second count, it is just possible that he did not know the shares were false." Sir William added that he felt, after anxious consideration, that he would be justified in not tendering any further evidence against Tabor.

Hatry, Daniels and Dixon pleaded "Not guilty" to the conspiracy counts, but "Guilty" to the others.

Tabor pleaded "Not guilty" to all of the charges, and was formally found "Not guilty." Most of these counts charged defendants with obtaining advances by false pretences and fraud, and under others they were charged with conspiring with Gialdini. Tabor left the dock while the Attorney-General outlined the nature of the fresh charges.

In view of the course of events, the Attorney-General said: "I do not propose to proceed with these fresh counts, but to ask that they be allowed to remain on the file." He did, however, propose to tell the judge the facts connected with them. Serious as were the allegations they had discussed in the first indictment, the allegations in the second indictment were no less serious.

MONEY-RAISING SCHEME.

The defendants, being desirous of raising money for their steel scheme—a scheme which, if it had gone through, would have brought very large profits, but which, in fact, broke down—was a matter which, in his opinion, could not be put forward in much mitigation.

The Attorney-General said that the method adopted by the accused was simply one of purporting to sell shares which they had not got. The shares which they sold were shares in a concern known as the Drapery Trust, Ltd. "There seems no doubt," he said, "that Hatry was the prime mover, although I am bound to add that in Daniels he found a capable lieutenant. I venture to think that only one thing can be said for the defendants. It is that since September 20th they have given all the assistance they could to repair the damage they had gone."

IN MITIGATION.

MR. BIRKETT'S POWERFUL PLEA.

Mr. Norman Birkett said that his only remaining duty was to address the judge in mitigation of sentence. He disagreed profoundly with the Attorney-General's remark that there was only one thing which could be said by way of mitigation. Mr. Birkett said that he wished to place certain factors before the Court which, in his opinion, were important and serious matters of mitigation.

"We were compelled to advise him that, having regard to the fact that no answer to the charges was being attempted, and the answers which had been given so fairly and in accordance with the best traditions of English law by Sir Gilbert Garnsey, that it was the province of counsel now to endeavour to place before you mitigating facts which Hatry had desired himself to give in the witness-box.

IN JUSTICE TO HATRY.

"Certain things must be said in justice to Hatry, and equally important—in the judgment of Hatry more important—in the interests of those who sit behind him in that dock to-day. One thing I want to make clear is that the gravity of the offences to which Hatry has pleaded guilty is recognised to the full. There is no desire at this time, or, indeed, at any other time, to seek to say one word to minimise the gravity of those offences.

"Rather would I like to say, so that your lordship will know that the gravity is fully recognised, that Hatry realises that the foundations of security and confidence in the City and in the commercial world generally have been gravely injured, that a blow has, indeed, been struck at the integrity of public credit and of private dealing.

"Whatever the figure may be, your lordship will, I know, recognise that without this crime this terrible disaster would have occurred, but with this vital distinction—that Hatry, instead of sitting where he sits at this moment, and whatever the odium attaching to his name because of the failure, would have been outside the criminal law.

PLEDGED EVERY PENNY.

"As he himself said before the committing magistrate:—'I pledged every penny I possessed and my reputation, and maybe my liberty, to avert what I knew would otherwise have been a terrible crash. I took grave personal risks; whereas, I could then so easily have let things go and walked off a free man. When I leave prison, whenever that may be, my punishment will begin all over again.'

"If you take the history of Mr. Hatry before the events of 1929," said Mr. Birkett, "you will find it is a record of honour, of successful flotations, of confidence, and I use that word advisedly, of respect and esteem. The Attorney-General said the fact that Mr. Hatry made no personal profit through these irregularities was not much mitigation. If money had gone into the pockets of Mr. Hatry, the prosecution would have stressed that fact, and rightly so.

"Maybe I have the defending mind, but I think it is hard, when the defence has shown clearly that the motive was not sordid, not petty, and above all, not for personal gain, that this is not mitigation. You will find on the testimony of the prosecution itself that Mr. Hatry depleted himself of all his possessions, of his family settlement, and is now faced with bankruptcy. Those are mitigating circumstances."

APPEAL TO JUDGE.

There was not a rustle of paper or a whisper that could be heard as Mr. Birkett made his closing appeal to Mr. Justice Avory.

"I appeal to your lordship," he said, his voice shaking with emotion, "that the sentence, in its element of seasoning justice with mercy, should be one which will not crush or break or destroy, or give years of unrelieved gloom, but a sentence which will help him to maintain through the severity of the sentence—whatever it may be—the hope, which is the last earthly thing he has, that one day he may live to redeem that career which has been finally and tragically destroyed."

Mr. Birkett then sat down.

THE THREE OTHERS.

Sir Henry Curtis Bennett, for Daniels, sketched his career from bank clerk to director under Hatry. Daniels had not made a penny, but had put £128,000 of his own money into the companies. Of that he had borrowed £88,000 from a bank, which was now suing him for that amount.

Mr. Roland Oliver, K.C., said that Tabor had three children, the last being born just a month after his arrest. He had no knowledge of finance. He was in a subordinate position, and had no idea of the true financial position of these companies. He was the led, and not the leader.

Mr. Whiteley asked the judge to draw a distinction in Dixon's case. He wished to express regret that on that Sunday, instead of walking out of the house and being no party to what was suggested, out of loyalty to his chief he consented.

JUDGE'S STATEMENT.

"MOST APPALLING FRAUDS."

Addressing Hatry immediately after the Court re-assembled, Mr. Justice Avory said:—"You stand convicted on your own confession of the most appalling frauds that have ever disfigured the commercial reputation of this country—frauds far more serious than any of the great frauds upon the public which have been committed within the last fifty years. They have been carried out by means of wholesale forgeries of spurious securities in sale forgeries of spurious securities in trustee stocks, which neither banker nor broker, nor any member of the public, would ever dream of suspecting to be otherwise than genuine. By means of these forged certificates you have defrauded those to whom they were uttered of no less a sum than £795,000.

"In addition to the possibly endless litigation these forgeries may involve to

A GREATER DUBLIN PROPOSAL.

MALAHIDE DEMANDS INCLUSION.

By Our Political Correspondent.

The Greater Dublin Bill is likely to be the most contentious of all the Government proposals to be considered by the Dail during the session which opens on February 12th next.

The measure is being critically examined by the Executive Council, and it is stated that it has undergone various changes in detail.

THE MANAGERS.

One change which the Executive Council has made is that the paid Managers shall be selected by the Local Appointments Commission after the posts have been advertised.

The original proposal was that two of the present City Commissioners should carry on as City Managers during the transition period.

I hear that members of the Dail for the city and county are to be asked to press for the inclusion in the bill of proposals for a Northern Coastal Borough, which would include Howth, Baldoyle, Portmarnock, Malahide, Coolock and Raheny.

MALAHIDE MEETING.

Recently a meeting was held at Malahide, at which the matter was discussed and a committee was appointed to push forward the proposals.

The bill provides for a Corporation, with a Lord Mayor and a City Manager, for Dublin City (which will include Rathmines and Pembroke), and a Coastal Borough, also with a Mayor and a City Manager, which will embody the coast townships from Blackrock to Killiney.

MUCH-NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS.

At the Malahide meeting it was urged that a Northern coastal borough also would pave the way for badly-needed improvement schemes, such as the extension of the Vartry water supply, a better sewerage system, and a wide highway from Clontarf, through Sutton, Baldoyle and Portmarnock to Malahide.

It was suggested that at least some of the land was available free for the purpose, and that such a road could be built by the unemployed men who are receiving outdoor relief.

POSITION OF OFFICIALS.

A deputation representing the Irish Local Government Officials' Union yesterday discussed with Mr. Mulcahy, Minister for Local Government and Public Health, the position of the staffs of the various local authorities in Dublin city and county who will be affected by the bill.

The Minister outlined the proposals in the bill for the safeguarding of the positions and rights of the staffs and discussed with the deputation a number of proposals which had been put forward by the Union to this end.

Mr. L. J. Henderson, General Secretary of the Union, informed an Irish Times representative that the deputation were satisfied with their favourable reception by the Minister and with the Minister's knowledge of, and interest in, the position of the officials affected.

The Minister was accompanied by Mr. E. P. McCarron, Secretary to the Ministry for Local Government and Public Health; Mr. J. F. Miley, Legal Adviser to the Ministry, and Mr. J. Gavin. The deputation consisted of Mr. John P. Keane (President) and Mr. T. F. Burke, solicitor, Dublin Corporation; Mr. John Roy, F.L.A., Rathmines; Mr. J. S. McIntyre, Pembroke; J. J. Triston, Dun Laoghaire, and L. J. Henderson, M.Inst.P.A., General Secretary.

MISSING IRISH POSTMAN.

SEQUEL AT SPECIAL COURT.

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH MURDER.

There was a sequel at a special Court held in Waterford last night, before District Justice McCabe, to the disappearance of a postman, Laurence Griffin, on the Kilmacthomas-Stradbally route, when the capital charge was preferred against two men.

Griffin was a married man, with two children. He saw service in the South African and Great Wars. Since his disappearance on Christmas Day searches have been conducted by Civic Guards from several stations in County Waterford, assisted by hundreds of people from the district.

The two men charged at the special Court are:—

Thomas Francis Cashin, of Stradbally, a National School teacher at Ballylareen; and Edmund Morrissey, labourer, Stradbally.

THE CHARGES.

They were charged on three counts:—

1—That they did, on December 25 last, at Stradbally, murder Laurence Griffin;

2—That they, at the same time and place, did recently dispose of the dead body of Laurence Griffin, with intent to obstruct and prevent a Coroner's inquest; and

3—With the larceny of a post bag and postman's cap, value for £5, the property of the Postmaster-General.

Superintendent J. J. Meehan, Waterford, who was engaged in the investigation of the affair, gave evidence of arrest.

ACCUSED MEN'S DENIALS.

When charged and cautioned, Cashin denied all the charges. Morrissey said: "The only thing I have to say is that I was not out since 4 o'clock that evening." This was his reply to the first two charges.

Replying to the charge of larceny, Morrissey said: "Begorra, that's funny, sir."

When charged again yesterday Morrissey said: "Well, that is wrong, sir."

Cashin persisted in his denial of all the charges.

Morrissey later inquired if it would be any use producing a certificate of character from the nuns at Stradbally Convent, where he was employed for twenty-six years.

Superintendent Meehan replied that it was not necessary at this stage.

The defendants were not professionally represented and declined to cross-examine.

Cashin asked if bail would be granted, and the Justice replied that bail could not be granted on such a charge.

The second man was remanded in custody to Waterford District Court, which is to be held next Friday.

FURTHER RIOTING IN POLAND.

POLICE WOUNDED BY COMMUNISTS.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

WARSAW, Friday.

There were further Communist disturbances in several towns to-day, but nowhere was the rioting of so serious a nature as on Tuesday, when the police had to fire on the crowds and two Communists were killed.

At Grudziadz (Pomerania), where on Tuesday the Town Hall was attacked, several thousand unemployed, led by well-known Communist agitators, attacked the police, wounding several police officers.

Similar disturbances, but on a considerably smaller scale, also occurred at Torun (Pomerania), formerly known as Thorn. The rioters broke into the Town Hall and destroyed some of the furniture before they were expelled by the police, who were able to avoid using their firearms.

SIX MEN ATTACK A FORT.

SOUTH AMERICAN STRIFE.

APPEALS TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

GENEVA, Friday.

M. Zaleski, the President of the Council of the League of Nations, has addressed telegrams to the Governments of Bolivia and Paraguay saying that he is greatly distressed by the news with regard to Chaco Boreal. He reminds them that after the session of the Council in December, 1928, and of the Assembly in 1929, M. Briand congratulated the two nations on having adopted a pacific procedure for the settlement of their disputes in accordance with the stipulations of the Covenant.

M. Zaleski adds that he feels he is interpreting the feelings of the Council and of the whole League in conveying to the two Governments their confidence that no serious incident will compromise the pacific procedure which has been adopted.

Copies of M. Zaleski's telegram have been communicated to all members of the Council of the League.

SIX MEN AND A MACHINE-GUN.

Note.—According to information from Paraguayan sources, a Bolivian patrol attacked an outpost at Isla Poi on January 16th. The same sources claim to have intercepted a message from the Bolivian Chief of Staff showing that preparations were afoot for an offensive on a big scale.

The Bolivian authorities allege that the attack came from the Paraguayan side, six Paraguayan soldiers attacking Fort Boqyeron with machine-gun fire.

BOLIVIA'S PROTEST.

Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the League, has received the following telegram from Señor Cortadellas, the permanent Bolivian delegate: "On behalf of my Government I lodge with the League a formal protest against the false charge in which an attempt is made to place upon Bolivia the responsibility for the recent incident in the Chaco territory. This was provoked by a Paraguayan patrol which attacked a Bolivian observation post.

"My country, faithful to the Pact of Conciliation which it signed in Washington, after investigations made by the delegates of the United States, Cuba, Mexico, Colombia and Uruguay, who found that Paraguay had been the aggressor, has never departed from the line of conduct marked out for it by its duties as a member of the League of Nations. It awaits with calm the putting into force of the formula proposed by the Uruguayan Chancellery, which it immediately accepted."

This telegram was at once communicated by the Secretary-General to the Government of Paraguay and the members of the League.

A further communication received by Sir Eric Drummond is a note from Señor Cortadellas dated January 22nd, stating that he had so far received no official information regarding the Chaco affair reported by the Paraguayan Minister in Paris, but that, even so, he considered the accusation of responsibility made against Bolivia to be unfounded.

THE BOY SCOUTS.

LORD BADEN-POWELL AND THE JAMBOREE.

A tribute to the fine spirit of the Boy Scouts at the coming-of-age Jamboree in Arrowe Park, Birkenhead, last year, was paid by Lord Baden-Powell, the Chief Scout, in a letter read at the annual meeting of the Council of the Boy Scouts' Association in London.

"The spirit of patriotism and love for the old country which brought their fathers to serve together in the Great War was at the Jamboree," he wrote, "renewed in the new generation, and we may well hope with lasting effect. Also a wider patriotism was awakened when these future men of the British Commonwealth mingled in their hundreds with the future men of the forty-two different nations assembled in a common comradeship.

"It is in this direction that lay the supreme import of the Jamboree—namely, in the hope and possibility that the mutual friendship and understanding formed in the camp may live and help to form a guarantee for peace in the world in the years to come."

The annual report referred to the remarkable growth of the Scout movement. The total of all ranks in the British Empire, including British Scouts in foreign countries, was 690,586—an increase of 36,456 over the preceding year.

Great Britain and Ireland totalled 397,648—an increase of 27,392 over the previous year.

There are 1,907,772 Scouts registered in the countries recognised by the International Committee. These figures show an increase for the year of 122,212.

The Wolf Cubs, the junior Boy Scouts, aged eight to twelve, have increased by 20,000 in the United Kingdom to 143,841, and by 24,000 in the Empire to a total of 213,630.

The financial report showed an excess of income over expenditure, generally due to the Jamboree, of £9,547.

SCHNEIDER TROPHY.

BRITAIN TO DEFEND IF CHALLENGED.

Lieutenant-Commander Harold Perrin, the Secretary of the Royal Aero Club of Great Britain, yesterday told a Press Association reporter:—There has never been a question of Great Britain not defending the Schneider Trophy, if challenged.

Commander Perrin pointed out that, after Britain won the trophy last year, the Air Ministry announced that they would not again take part officially. "We shall not think about the Schneider Trophy for another six months," he continued. "Then, if challengers should come along, you can be assured that we shall defend the trophy. Entries have always been made in the name of the Royal Aero Club, and I suppose they always will be."

COAST EROSION.

LOCAL AUTHORITIES ASKED TO SEND IN REPORTS.

A meeting of the Inter-Departmental Committee on Coast Erosion was held yesterday at 51 St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, at which all the members were present, Sir Philip Hanson presiding.

The meeting was not open to the public, but it is understood that local authorities of the areas in which the more serious cases of erosion have occurred recently—namely, Greystones, Wicklow and Rosslare—are being asked to furnish copies of any engineering reports which have been made as to the damage recently caused and the measures necessary to prevent further damage.

A sixteen year old youth named Patrick O'Reilly, of Parnell street, Dublin, fell from some scaffolding at the Four Courts yesterday. He was taken by the Corporation ambulance to Jervis Street Hospital, where he was found to have sustained injuries to his head, left wrist, and stomach.

A new alloy—consisting of tin and lead—that will prevent the bursting of water-pipes, because of its greater resistance to stress, has been discovered in Great Britain.

WENT DOWN WITH HIS SHIP.

RESCUE REFUSED BY LINER CAPTAIN.

PASSENGERS LANDED AMID CONVICTS.

BUENOS AIRES, Friday.

The German liner, Monte Cervantes (13,913 tons), which struck a rock in the Straits of Magellan, near Terra del Fuego, on Wednesday, healed over to starboard to-day and disappeared beneath the waves.

Captain Dreyer, the commander, refused to be rescued. He stuck to his post on the bridge, and went to his death as the vessel pitched over and quickly sank. He was born in Germany fifty-six years ago.

The skeleton crew left on board had narrow escapes from drowning, but were eventually rescued.

CRUISERS LAND PASSENGERS.

Official telegrams confirm the statement that the 1,120 passengers and 302 members of the crew had been rescued earlier in perfect discipline by Argentine cruisers, which took them to the Penal Settlement of Ushuaia. Apparently most of the baggage also was saved.

Fruitless efforts were made until the end to salve the liner.

Some concern is being felt for the comfort of the passengers and crew of the Monte Cervantes, who have been put ashore at Ushaia, the prison colony, which contains some of the most notorious criminals in the Argentine.

There are very few buildings at Ushaia, except some disused mission structures and a few shops, and the place hardly affords provision for so many people.

RELIEF SHIP ON THE WAY.

The Monte Sarmiento, of the same line as the Cervantes, has been ordered to discharge her passengers at Monte Video and proceed immediately to Ushaia to pick up the stranded travellers. She is stopping en route for supplies at Mar del Plata, but, since she has accommodation for only six hundred, she will have difficulty in accommodating so many, and more than one relief journey may be necessary.

Since the Argentine does not demand the death penalty, the very worst malefactors are sent to Ushaia. Among the prisoners is the anarchist who, in 1909, hurled the bomb which killed the chief of the Buenos Aires police; while another prisoner—a German—is there for killing and quartering one of his friends.

FIVE-POWER NAVAL CONFERENCE.

M. TARDIEU SATISFIED WITH PROGRESS.

Mr. Dwight Morrow, one of the principal members of the American delegation, visited M. Tardieu at the Carlton Hotel last night.

M. Tardieu told newspaper representatives that he was very satisfied with the progress that had been made. He had intended to return to Paris for the week-end, but is remaining in London, and to-day he will visit Signor Grandi.

Mr. Macdonald left for Chequers last night. To-day he will entertain the Dominion delegates to lunch.

FRENCH PRESS OPINION.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday.

The reason for the calm and patient leading articles in the evening papers on the subject of the Naval Conference is probably the phase of consultations and grouping which the Conference is undergoing. Such an attitude is logical and inevitable in view of the importance of the issues at stake which do not admit of improvisation. The Temps, however, utters a warning against dragging the preliminaries on too long, which, it says, would only result in aggravating the existing confusion on the subject of basic principles. The Journal des Débats writes: "The idea of regional agreement is making progress."

The Liberté is less sanguine. It observes that to alleviate the burden of armaments "nothing would be so effective as alliances and understandings between countries imbued with the same spirit and having the same interests. That is what the Franco-British naval co-operation in 1914 obtained so successfully."

END OF AN INDIAN DISPUTE.

VILLAGERS ABANDON "CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE."

From Reuter's Correspondent.

BOMBAY, Friday.

Following the settlement of the dispute at Khakharechi, a village in Kathiawar, those taking part in the "Civil Disobedience" campaign have resolved to cease further activities with regard to the dispute.

The leader of the local farmers, who was arrested for his part in the resistance to the system of "forced labour" and certain taxes which were thought to be unjust, has now been released, and declares that the farmers are quite satisfied with the settlement.

When the passive resistance campaign began, Mr. Gandi expressed his approval of it.

AMUSEMENT TAX IN FRANCE.

THEATRES THREATEN TO CLOSE DOWN.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday.

The various federations representing theatres, music halls and cinemas throughout France have formed a national confederation to protest against the amusement tax. The first meeting of the new confederation has now been held, and it was unanimously resolved to take all necessary steps to obtain an equitable solution.

The managers of places of amusement maintain the attitude that the tax, which they affirm is a nunwanted relic of wartime, is exorbitant, that it drives away audiences and eats up profits. They threaten to close down theatres, music halls and cinemas throughout France if they are unable to secure satisfaction by any other means.

BOY MURDERER EXECUTED.

SEQUEL TO MASSACRE OF FAMILY.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

DIGNE BASSES ALPS, Friday.

Joseph Ughetto, the eighteen years old murderer, was guillotined this morning. He and a friend, Stephan Mucha, three years younger than himself, were convicted last September of the wholesale massacre of a family of five. Ughetto was sentenced to death, while Mucha was sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude on account of his age.

Up to the last Ughetto had hoped for a reprieve. He left a letter to his father reproaching him for having demanded the death sentence at the trial, and blaming him for the crime on the grounds that he had neglected his education.

LATE NEWS.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH "THE TIMES."

THE HATRY TRIAL.

LAXITY IN MUNICIPAL FINANCE.

The Times to-day in a leading article says:—Stern, but appropriate, sentences were passed at the Old Bailey yesterday upon the four defendants in what will long be remembered as the Hatry case. The Extradition Treaty between this country and Italy does not provide for the surrender of nationals by either, and Gialdini, an Italian, and another of Hatry's collaborators, is in his own country. Had he remained within British jurisdiction, he would have been put on trial with the four men who have now begun their varying terms of imprisonment for forgery and fraud.

But, with this exception, the part of the criminal law in the liquidation of the Hatry affair is complete. How much that is complex and contentious must still be submitted to the process of civil law remains to be seen.

After the disclosures of the past few days there is more reason than ever to be grateful for the masterly plan contrived by members of the Stock Exchange which has so much diminished the area of possible litigation. In the end, even the criminal proceedings were shortened by the confessions of guilt made at the close of the case for the prosecution and virtually necessitated by the evidence offered.

The mass of details most competently marshalled during the five days of the trial discloses in the heart of it a fraud which can be distinguished from the meanest of its kind only by the extravagance of its ambition and the impudent simplicity of its technique.

DIFFICULT TO LEGISLATE.

It is at all times difficult to legislate against fraud, and legislation against Hatry, in so far as it complicated or impeded the flexible traffic of affairs, would do more harm than he has done. Dishonesty so determined as Hatry's will not be checked, because it has two obstacles to surmount instead of one. A signalman has deliberately tampered with the signals. A rogue has traded upon the common expectation of integrity in finance. Legislation ad hoc would have no more effective value than the inevitable rider of a coroner's jury.

The fact that Hatry so far rehabilitated himself as to attract to his boards the innocent assistance of certain names and reputations might warrant a fresh outcry against guinea pig directors; but Hatry's credit, while it lasted, was of his own making. He owed little to the respectability of others, and, in any case, the responsibilities of directors have been restated and increased by the latest company legislation. The ornamental director is fast becoming an object of alarm, rather than of awe, to the average investor.

Yet there are some matters thrown up by the Hatry trial which will require serious examination or re-examination. What changes in the practice of banks are necessary for their own protection may be left to their directors.

MUNICIPAL FINANCE.

But other laxity was exposed in municipal finance. A system under which a firm can act as Hatry acted, as both issuer and banker for a municipality, seems definitely mistaken. It is for consideration whether trustee securities of this kind should be placed through such agencies at all, and whether they should not be issued by the Bank of England. It is also to be questioned whether a company should control the registration of its shares, and whether this control should not be entrusted to a bank or to some other independent authority. The system by which registration is the business of an interlocking company, such as Secretarial Services, Ltd., seems altogether indefensible. If the Hatry case induces some such amendments of law and regulation, all that written prescription can do will have been done to circumvent a successor to Hatry.

But the best conclusion to the whole affair is that it is likely to remain unique. It has been by far the greatest public sensation in its kind of a century. It seemed incredible that this class of fraud could find its way into the heart of the City. To that extent Hatry, as the Attorney-General claimed, has cheapened and injured a national asset. But it is not Hatry himself—it is the code which he offended that has won him a world-wide notoriety. The rule is still there, nothing weaker in validity nor lower in estimation, even when the discreditable exception has been registered.

CARNERA WINS.

PETERSEN KNOCKED OUT IN FIRST ROUND.

NEW YORK, Friday.

Carnera won in the first round in his fight here to-night against Big Boy Petersen.

Carnera scaled 19st. 3½lb. and Petersen 14st. 13lb.

RUSSIA'S WAR ON RELIGION.

PROTEST MEETING INTERRUPTED.

Two men who created a disturbance at a meeting held at the Free Trade Hall, Manchester, last night, to protest against religious persecution in Russia, were escorted from the gallery by policemen. Handfuls of leaflets had been thrown from the gallery on to the audience below. One young man was carried out of the building.

The two men at the end of the opening prayer jumped to their feet and shouted protests. Their words were drowned by the counter protests of members of the audience, who demanded that the interrupters should be ejected. There was no further interruption during the meeting.

Prebendary Gough, who was the principal speaker, said that he wanted to make it clear that the movement behind the meeting was not a political one. He did not believe that any political action regarding religious persecution in Russia would be worth undertaking.

A WORLD WEAKENING.

"I am sure that our movement will commend itself to the common conscience of England," he said. "This prolonged spiritual tragedy of Russia is no mere material thing, but comes out of a weakening of the spiritual forces of the world."

It was true, he said, that there were not now so many people shot and tortured in the prisons of Russia because of their religious beliefs as was the case a few years ago, but the martyrdom of Christians was still going on. Executions of people who believed in God were still being carried out.

A resolution moved by the Rev. F. Paton Williams, Vicar of St. Anne's, Manchester, was carried, protesting against "the persistent and cruel persecution of our fellow worshippers in Russia, and especially against the suppression of religious instruction of the young."

Mr. Hywell Glyne Jones (25), of London, son of Mr. Cyril Jones, solicitor, Wrexham, is to be approached with a view to being the Labour candidate in Anglesey, in opposition to Miss Megan Lloyd George.

The Belgian Cabinet yesterday gave its consent to the fusion of the Royal Belgian Lloyd with the Belgian Congo Maritime Company.—(Reuter.)

PHŒNIX PARK MOTOR RACES.

THE GUARANTEE FUND.

EXPECTATION OF 100 ENTRIES.

PROMOTERS HOPEFUL OF SUCCESS.

So great was the success of last year's Irish International Grand Prix Motor Races in the Phœnix Park that competitors and spectators alike urged that the fixture should be made an annual one. The Organising Committee after the races issued a statement in which they promised that this should be done, subject to certain conditions.

Events have shown that on the races of July last there was a deficit of approximately £3,000. This would have involved a call upon the guarantors, but the Free State Government undertook to introduce a vote in the Dail to meet the deficit, and it is believed that the House will give it favourable consideration.

In the meantime, the Organising Committee of the races—which are to be held under the auspices of the Royal Irish Automobile Club—have asked for guarantees to the amount of £15,000 for the races, which are to be held on the 18th and 19th of next July. The amount guaranteed to date is £12,491. The guarantee fund will be closed on February 7th, and the Organising Committee state that unless a further £2,609 has been guaranteed by that date they cannot undertake to hold the races.

Under its constitution the Royal Irish Automobile Club cannot undertake financial responsibility for such a fixture, and, therefore, it must be protected against liability. Circumstances last year demonstrated that a guarantee fund is necessary: it is no less necessary now, though there is little probability that there will be a deficit.

POSSIBLE ECONOMY.

The Finance Committee of the races has gone into the whole matter of expenditure, and is satisfied that, if the attendance on both days approximates to last year's figures, the coming races will be a financial success. There is a non-recurrent expenditure of over £1,000, and from the experience gained last year the Committee can economise in respect of many items, which will more than counterbalance the deficit of £3,000.

It must not be supposed, however, that there was a wasteful expenditure last year; but experience has shown that things then considered necessary can be either done without or cut down more or less.

In connection with guarantees, it must be borne in mind that the financial gain to the community in geeral will outweigh ay seeming loss. As was proved last July, the hotels, cinemas, theatres, shopkeepers and traders generally profited immensely by the races. The country's prestige was enhanced beyond the measure of hard cash.

At a recent meeting of the Organising Committee it was decided that the guarantors should receive certain advantages in recognition of their services. Last year they had a prior call on the grand stand seats. This year, however, they will be given, in addition, free admission to the Phœnix Park on both practice days and on the day of the race itself. This is a big concession; for the public were completely excluded from the practices in July last.

SUCCESS CERTAIN.

That the races will be a success from the point of view of entries is certain from the considerable number of inquiries that have been received by the Organising Committee from intending competitors. From England, France, Germany, Italy, the United States and Canada inquiries have been made for rules and regulations. These rules and regulations have been the subject of some slight revision, and will be issued by the middle of next week, and sent all over Europe and America. It is too early to make any forecast as to the likely number of the entries, but that they will be somewhere in the region of 100 is more than probable.

Immense interest is being taken in the races in motor racing circles in England, and one or two rumours about probable entrants are being accepted. One of those states that Sir Henry Segrave, Mr. K. Lee Guinness and Mr. Birkin, the millionaire racing driver, are likely to form a team in one of the forthcoming races. Sir Henry Segrave and Mr. K. Lee Guinness were the sponsors of the Phœnix Park motor races. What is more natural than that they should try their luck on the course that they declared to be the finest and fastest road race course in the world?

At any rate, the coming races are expected to beat all records. It has been tentatively decided to start them at about 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon. This change will be appreciated by many who are working in the morning, particularly those whose half-day falls on Saturday. Even to those who are working until the evening, the change will be advantageous, as the races will not finish until about 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening, and late comers will be able to see the second half and the finish of the contests.

THE PAPAL FLAG.

With regard to the questions which have arisen regarding the Papal flag, the Free State Department of External Affairs states that some months ago the Pope decided that the crossed keys surmounted by the triple crown should be shown in the centre of the white ground and not, as in the older flag, across both yellow and white grounds.

THE PRINCE DINES WITH SIR ABE BAILEY.

From Reuter's Correspondent.

CAPE TOWN, Friday.

The Prince of Wales dined this evening with Sir Abe Bailey at Muizenberg. Sir Abe Bailey's estate at Muizenberg lies about half-way between Cape Town and the extreme southern tip of the Cape of Good Hope.

Earlier in the day the Prince spent some time surf-bathing at Muizenberg.

COURTS OF JUSTICE REFORM.

FREE STATE SYSTEM CRITICISED.

"The Administration of Justice" was the title of a lecture delivered by Mr. James Geoghegan, K.C., under the auspices of Fianna Fail, in Wynn's Hotel, Dublin, last night. Mr. Cormac Breathnach, a former President of the Gaelic League, in the chair.

In the course of his lecture Mr. Geoghegan traced legal history in England and this country for centuries, and came on to the Act of 1924, when, he said, the people, or a section or group of them, proceeded to change the old machinery, and to introduce new courts, and under the aegis or chairmanship of Lord Glenavy, a system was introduced, and a number of changes made here.

Though only five years had elapsed the volume of criticism upon the system had grown so greatly that virtually the same group or party who introduced the system in 1924 were now, if not all at least many of them, anxious to throw all that into the melting pot and to evolve a new or radically amended system.

ENGLISH LAW CHEAPER.

He went on to compare the administrative system of law under the old system and the present, and said that under the old system it was a peculiar and extraordinary class of case, in which they did not find the religious, political or landlord aristocracy involved. He next referred to the old Quarter Sessions, which, he said, was a cheaper court, but, for the causes mentioned, was unsatisfactory. There was, however, always a cheap form of appeal from these courts. From 1924 they had these courts more or less swept away.

Speaking of the present Circuit Court system, and the system of appeals from it, he said that the appeal was now heard on the transcript of the shorthand note taken in the court below, and the appeal was heard on a question of law, and not on a question of fact, because only the transcript of the evidence was considered. Under the old system an appeal amounted almost to a re-hearing of the case. It had been found, since this new Act came into force, that the expense was necessarily very high. In one case, under the old system, he knew the appeal could be brought for not more than £7; whereas, under the new system, he knew of one solicitor who succeeded in taxing the party to an amount of £84 10s.—but that, he added, could not be taken as a typical case.

HOW CASES ARE PROLONGED.

Now that the evidence was being taken down in shorthand for the purpose of appeal, advocates applied themselves to getting a beautiful story down on paper, and having plenty of it, with the result that every possible witness was put into the box on both sides, and the hearing before Circuit Court Judges was prolonged. That had led to great delay owing to the Courts getting glutted, and in Dublin people had to wait sometimes as long as fourteen or fifteen months in order to get a hearing.

Accordingly, it was stated that there was now sitting a committee of the two Houses to consider the remodelling of that whole system, and, he thought, especially the matter of hearing of appeals. Some people were inclined to regret that the legislature there had not in 1924 passed the Statute, and suspended its coming into force for two, three, or four years, during which there would be time for reflection, and the new system might have been made more workable.

It was suggested and strongly advocated by a great many people that amendments ought to be rushed through, and this system ought to be recast, and that the new system ought to come into force by Easter. But, having the experience of the 1924 Act, it might be well if the new or amended Act, when passed, were suspended for some time, so that it could be discussed and commented upon and considered, and, if necessary, amended, before it would come into operation.

DUBLIN AND BLESSINGTON STEAM TRAMWAY.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE OF CONTROL.

A meeting of the Joint Committee of Control of members of the Dublin and Wicklow County Councils, appointed by the Ministry of Local Government to conduct the management of the Steam Tramway Company's line, was held yesterday at the company's offices, Terenure.

The Secretary, Mr. G. H. Gibson, presented the audited accounts of the results of the working of the line for the past year, which were examined and passed. The statement of accounts showed a small loss, which compared favourably with the accounts of previous years, especially having regard to omnibus competition along the company's route.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

BLASPHEMY LAW.

PROPOSED LIMITATION OF OFFENCES.

FROM OUR PARLIAMENTARY CORRESPONDENT.
WESTMINSTER, Friday.

In the old days, when Mr. Lansbury was in Opposition, he made several attempts to amend the Blasphemy Law by limiting the number of offences that are amenable to common law. Now, as a Minister of the Crown, he is debarred from bringing in a private bill, so he passed over the task of making another effort to persuade Parliament to revise its former decisions to his son-in-law, Mr. Thurtle, the Labour member for Shoreditch.

The bill, a one-clause measure, provided that no criminal proceedings should be instituted in any court against any person for schism, heresy, blasphemy, blasphemous libel, or atheism.

The Home Secretary's view was that the bill went much further than the declared object of its promoters, and if it passed it would no longer be possible to take proceedings for blasphemy under the common law. He was not opposed to the second reading, but the bill would have to be substantially altered in Committee.

Mr. Oliver Baldwin, the son of the ex-Prime Minister, was all in favour of liberty of expression, in so far as it was not calculated to lead to breaches of the peace.

Lord Eustace Percy urged that the bill would go beyond its purpose, and remove from the purview of the courts cases that were likely to cause public disorder.

The second reading was carried by 131 votes to 77.

DUNGANNON ROYAL SCHOOL.

OLD BOYS' ASSOCIATION REUNION.

The annual dinner of the Old Boys' Association of Dungannon Royal School was held last night in the Grand Central Hotel, Belfast. Dr. J. A. Smyth, M.D., presided, and there was a good attendance.

Dr. Andrew Trimble, who proposed the toast of the Royal School, Dungannon, said that it had sent forth many good men, who had done their duty in various parts of the world; men who had extended the Empire, and had gone to all corners of the Globe. They all wished the old school prosperity, for they had carried away a great deal from it. The toast having been honoured, was followed by the school song.

Mr. Jack Gillespie, ex-President of the Northern Branch of the Irish Rugby Union, proposed the health of the Head Master, Mr. R. W. Bingham, M.A. He said that they always regarded the Headmaster as one whose rulings were always just, and whose smiling countenance they always looked upon with affection.

Mr. Bingham, responding, paid a tribute to Mr. Dill, the former Head, and then said that he was glad to see so many present at their reunion dinner, as many of the Old Boys seemed to be going abroad to India, South Africa, Canada, and other parts of the Empire.

The Rev. Dr. R. L. Marshall, proposing the toast of "The Old Boys' Reunion," said that all round the seven seas were to be found Old Boys of the school.

ACCIDENT AT RAILWAY STATION.

WOMAN KILLED IN STEPPING FROM TRAIN.

Through faulty judgment on her part, a woman named Mrs. Browne, aged sixty, of Rockfield, County Roscommon, was killed last night as she stepped off the Midland mail train at the small station of Dunamon, about five miles from Roscommon town.

Mrs. Browne has been travelling on the train from Castlereagh to Dunamon, which was her destination. As the train was pulling slowly into the station platform it is stated that she stepped from the carriage, apparently thinking that the train was no longer in motion. The wheels passed over her body, and death was instantaneous. The train was delayed for more than an hour.

Mrs. Browne was the mother of a family, one member of which is a member of the Civic Guard force stationed at Kanturk.

THE HATRY TRIAL.

the Municipal Corporations of Swindon, Gloucester and Wakefield, you have fraudulently withheld or appropriated no less a sum than £822,000, which ought to have been paid over to those Corporations resulting from the sale of genuine stock.

AN ELOQUENT PLEA.

"I have listened to an eloquent plea made to me on your behalf by your learned counsel. I am asked to take into consideration in mitigation of your offence, first, the fact that you made a voluntary confession. I do not think there is much, if any, merit in that confession; because you knew at that time that investigation was on foot, and you knew that the moment there was any investigations these forgeries must inevitably be discovered, and the proof of those forgeries would have been comparatively simple. Thereafter, in making that confession, you were merely succumbing to the inevitable.

"Next I am asked to take into consideration that which is, in fact, the chief ground in which this plea has been put forward in mitigation of your offence—namely, that you were in June, 1929, engaged in a large financial transaction from which you hoped to reap considerable profit. What does that plea amount to? Stripped of the rhetorical language in which it has been put before me, it is nothing more or less than the threadbare plea of every clerk or servant who robs his master, and says he hopes to repay the money before his crime was discovered by "backing a winner." Except that yours is on a large scale, there is no difference between that excuse put forward and the excuse made by a dishonest clerk or servant. Therefore, I can give no effect to that plea.

THE SENTENCES.

"I have had to consider what is the appropriate sentence to be passed upon you. When it is realised that each one of these forgeries would merit a sentence of penal servitude; when it is realised that some of them consisted in the alteration of a genuine certificate for one thousand pounds into a fictitious certificate for five thousand pounds, no one can suppose that anything less than a sentence of penal servitude would have been passed upon the discovery of any one of these forgeries.

The Statute under which you are indicted has provided the maximum punishment. I am unable to imagine any worse case than yours. Under this Statute, and therefore, upon the forging and uttering counts of the first indictment, the sentence of the Court is that you be detained in penal servitude for fourteen years."

Hatry, who had held his head high during the Judge's observations, and had looked directly at Mr. Justice Avory, braced his shoulders when sentence was passed upon him. His face showed no signs of emotion, but with an almost imperceptible bow, he turned as if to leave the dock.

"Stay," cried Mr. Justice Avory sternly, and Hatry was brought back again to the front of the dock.

OTHER CHARGES.

Mr. Justice Avory said that there were other charges of procuring money to be paid with intent to defraud by means of forged certificates, and on each of these counts the sentence would be five years' penal servitude, while on the conspiracy counts the sentence would be one of two years' hard labour. These sentences were all to run concurrently with that of fourteen years' penal servitude.

Hatry then left the dock, but was brought back a second time.

"I have omitted to notice," said the judge, "that you also pleaded guilty to the second indictment, and the sentence on those charges will be one of five years penal servitude, to run concurrently with your other sentence."

Again Hatry turned. He glanced to right and left of the court, his pale face still unmoved, and then disappeared down the stairs leading to the cells.

SENTENCE ON DANIELS.

Mr. Justice Avory then addressed Daniels. "There is no question," he said, "that you have taken a leading part in the perpetration of these forgeries and fauds, but I give effect to the statement made by Hatry that he was primarily responsible, and that in that sense you only acted a subordinate part. But it was a very active one, both in carrying out the forgeries and the frauds.

"The sentence upon you is, upon these forgery counts, that you go to penal servitude for seven years."

Daniels was also sentenced to five years penal servitude and two years hard labour on other counts, to run concurrently.

CASE OF TABOR.

After Daniels had left, the judge addressed Tabor. "There is," he said, "no question, on your own admission, made through your counsel, that on June 23rd, last year, you became a party to this gross scheme of forgery, and in July, at all events, you took some active part in carrying out these forgeries, and the obtaining of money by means of them. But the prosecution presents to me the view that, in their opinion, you were playing quite a subordinate part in these transactions, and giving effect to that suggestion, I see no reason to dissent. I mitigate the sentence in your case, and you will be detained in penal servitude for three years, with another sentence of three years penal servitude, and two years' hard labour, all sentences to run concurrently."

THE DEFENDANT DIXON.

Turning to the remaining defendant, Dixon, Mr. Justice Avory said: "In your case I am asked to say that all you did was to act with loyalty to your leader or master, Hatry. I have some doubt whether I am justified in making the distinction I am going to make between your case and that of Daniels, because you undoubtedly took the most active part in procuring these forged certificates to be printed, and it appears from the evidence of Mr. Page that it must have been the very day after these arrangements had been arrived at at the house of Hatry that you gave the order for this fictitious scrip to be printed.

"In your case the sentence is that you be detained in penal servitude for five years, with sentences of five years' penal servitude and two years' hard labour to run concurrently."

APPLICATIONS BY PRISONERS.

The prisoners, who left the dock one by one as they were sentenced, all maintained perfect composure. The tension relaxed and a buzz of conversation went round the court. Then there was silence when Mr. Norman Birkett rose to address the judge.

He said that he wanted to make an application on behalf of Hatry, and that was that he might be allowed to see his son and solicitor before being removed to prison.

Sir Henry Curtis Bennett asked if Daniels might see his mother and solicitor.

Mr. Cecil Whiteley made a similar application that Dixon might see his wife and brother.

Mr. Roland Oliver asked permission for Tabor to see his wife.

Mr. Justice Avory granted all these applications. Then he rose from his seat, bowed to counsel and left the court. One of the greatest financial dramas of the criminal courts was over.

HATRY'S COMMENT TO JAILER.

When Hatry got down to the cell from the court he turned to the jailer and said, "Well, fourteen years; well that's that."

WHAT SENTENCE MEANS.

Some confusion seems to have arisen in the minds of people in regard to the passing of the concurrent sentences. The passing of a hard labour sentence does not mean that Hatry and his former fellow-directors will have to serve a sentence of hard labour. It has been laid down by the Home Office that shorter concurrent sentences are quite nominal, being all included in the longest sentence.

HATRY'S METEORIC CAREER.

FROM CLERK TO DIRECTOR.

Clarence Charles Hatry was one of the spectacular figures of the City, and before he was thirty he was dealing in millions. To-day he is forty-one, but looks less. He is slight, debonair, and dark-complexioned, and he has a soft and pleasant voice. He is a man of enormous energy. In 1912 he became an insurance broker's clerk. Two years later he controlled the City Equitable Company. In 1919 he became a racehorse owner, and by 1921 he was a director of fifteen companies. Then came, in 1924, the Commercial Corporation of London crash, and Hatry's personal losses were estimated at £750,000. But 1925 saw the flotation of the Drapery Trust, and 1928 the formation of Steel Industries of Great Britain, with £8,000,000 capital.

Hatry's mansion in Great Stanhope street, Mayfair, was described as "like something out of the Arabian Nights." It contained a private swimming pool, marble bathrooms, a gymnasium, and a reproduction of a Tudor hostelry. In November last it was announced that the freehold of the house would be put up for auction. Hatry was married on June 28, 1909, at Brighton Registry Office. His bride, who was twenty years of age, was Miss Violet Ferguson, living at Devonshire place, Brighton. On the marriage certificate Hatry was described as a silk merchant, and the son of the late Mr. Julius Hatry.

Some years ago Hatry was a well-known figure in racing circles, and had a number of horses in training with Percy Woodland at Alfriston, Sussex. His best was Furious, which won the Lincolnshire Handicap in 1920, the connections bringing off a very substantial coup.

Hatry was also keen on yachting, and bought the well-known schooner Westward, with the object of competing at the principal regattas in the British Isles.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatry have two children—a boy approaching manhood and a girl of about fifteen.

THE OTHERS.

John Graham Goodfellow Dixon is thirty-seven years of age and a company director and secretary. The contents of his house, St. Helier, Temple avenue, Oakleigh Park, North London, were sold in October last by order of Mrs. Dixon when Dixon was on remand. He has no children.

Albert Edward Tabor, who is thirty-six years of age, was born in Manchester. Tabor received a telegram announcing the birth of a son while he was at Brixton. Later he was released on bail of £5,000.

Edmund Daniels was at one time a bank clerk and a scoutmaster. Later he became a director of sixteen different companies. He lived at Leatherhead, where he was a popular figure. He gave £4,500 to the Leatherhead Cottage Hospital.

COST OF THE TRIAL.

ESTIMATED AT £20,000.

It was one of the most costly trials in recent years. The original estimate was that it would cost between £35,000 and £40,000. The shortening of the trial, however, by the presentation of only one part of the charges by the prosecution and the sudden decision of the defence to withdraw the plea of not guilty, considerably reduced the cost. Had the trial proceeded on the other charges it would have meant at least another week's hearing, and the expenditure of large sums of money both in counsels' fees and those of the many expert witnesses who would have had to be called.

Apart from the Attorney-General, who put the case for the prosecution, four of the leading K.C.'s at the Bar were briefed for the defence. In addition, ten junior barristers were engaged, and two others held watching briefs.

It is understood that Mr. Norman Birkett, K.C., received a thousand guineas and a hundred guineas a day refresher fees. Each of the other three leaders was briefed at two hundred and fifty guineas and a refresher fee of fifty guineas a day.

It is estimated that the whole of the trial and previous proceedings have cost at least £20,000.

SENTENCED FINANCIERS.

OTHERS WHO WERE SENT TO JAIL.

Previous sentences on financiers have been:—

Jabez Spencer Balfour, who controlled the Liberator Building Society and allied companies, which failed for £8,360,000—Fourteen years' penal servitude.

Whitaker Wright, who controlled the London and Globe Finance Corporation, which failed with a deficiency of £5,500,000—Seven years' penal servitude. Wright committed suicide.

Gerard Lee Bevan, who controlled the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company, which failed for £2,000,000—Seven years' penal servitude.

Horatio Bottomley, who was convicted of fraudulent conversion of National War Bonds, an allotment letter for Victory Bonds and bankers' drafts—Seven years' penal servitude.

Thomas Farrow—Four years' penal servitude for the bank fraud.

QUESTIONS IN COMMONS.

TO BE ASKED NEXT WEEK.

FROM THE PRESS ASSOCIATION'S LOBBY CORRESPONDENT.

Sir Kingsley Wood intends to put a number of questions regarding the Hatry case to Ministers in the House of Comomns next week. The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs will be asked on Wednesday whether he proposes to take up with the Italian Ambassador the question of the Extradition Treaty between the two countries, with a view to a mutual arrangement for the surrender of persons charged with offences of the character described in the Hatry case.

On the same day the Financial Secretary to the Treasury will be invited to give an estimate of the costs of the trial to the public exchequer.

On Thursday Sir Kingsley Wood will ask the Minister of Health if he can make a statement regarding the position of the municipal corporations which have lost money through the Hatry transaction, and whether any question of personal liability arises affecting the members or officials of the municipal corporations concerned.

WHERE HATRY LOSSES WENT.

What has become of the millions lost in the Hatry crash? This is a question which many people must have been asking themselves during recent weeks, writes a Press Association City Correspondent.

The actual destination of the large sums which have disappeared cannot be ascertained with anything approaching accuracy. All that can be done is to indicate some of the directions in which it has gone.

In his evidence and cross-examination Sir Gilbert Garnsey stated that the total shares of the group issued to the outside public was £1,200,000, and that the total loss of investors could be put at a maximum of £3,250,000. This is a huge amount, but it assumes less gigantic proportions when compared with the £100,000,000 given as the probable annual turnover of the Hatry group.

The transactions making up this total, consisting largely of loans and share deals, designed, no doubt, to raise funds and support market prices for the group's securities, involved considerable expenses in commissions and interest, which must have absorbed a very large aggregate sum over a term of several years. In addition, a large sum must have found its way into the pockets of investors at one time or another.

Shares of the Hatry companies at one time stood at substantial premiums, and some investors who sold them must have taken profits which in one sense came from the buyers who held the shares during the subsequent decline.

It is quite possible, therefore, that a part of what some investors lost went to more fortunate operators in the shares. The above are two possible explanations as to where some of the Hatry losses went. The drawings of the principal actors in the drama and office expenses accounted for a large part of the remainder.

ROMAN ENGINEERING.

WATER SUPPLY OF ANCIENT CITY.

At a meeting of the Dublin University Engineering Society held last night Mr. R. I. H. Northridge read a paper entitled "Roman Engineering."

The author dealt first with the building stones, bricks and other materials used by the Romans in construction. Concrete was discovered about B.C. 117, and was made with ground volcanic ash and lime. Its discovery made possible the construction of large domes and arches, and this form was largely used by the Romans in public buildings.

Water conduits, pipes and aqueducts were discussed. It was pointed out that the popular idea that the Romans built aqueducts because they were unaware that the syphonic action of water was a false one. They were well acquainted with the syphon, and the reasons for building aqueducts were—(1) That slave labour was cheap; (2) aqueducts were not likely to be tapped by water thieves, and (3) the Romans were not able to construct satisfactory earth pipes of large bore.

The lecturer dealt also with bridges, tunnels and roads as constructed by the Romans, and gave an interesting extract from the writings of Vetruvius, recounting an official correspondence carried on between the governors of Numidia and Mauretania in 150 A.D. concerning the misconstruction of a tunnel and the defence of the engineer in charge.

In the ensuing discussion Mr. A. H. Moore thanked Mr. Northridge for his paper, and gave a description of the Roman baths and the gymnasiums attached. These baths were extremely popular and of great size. The lecturer had mentioned that the water supply of Rome amounted to 84 million gallons per day, which, assuming a population of one million, gave 84 gallons per head per day, as compared with 30 gallons per head in Dublin at the present day.

The Correspondence Secretary (Mr. J. D. Gwynn) spoke of the great sewers of Rome, and mentioned a cyclometer used on the Roman chariot. Mr. J. R. Cotter, M.A. (Vice-President) pointed out the great difficulty involved in making mathematical calculations in the Roman system. The following also spoke:—Messrs. T. S. S. Mallagh, R. C. Atock, D. Brennan and the Record Secretary (Mr. H. T. Baker). The Chairman (Professor D. Clark, Sc.D. (Lond.), M.Inst.C.E., President) having summed up, the lecturer replied, and the meeting adjourned.

DUBLIN LITERARY SOCIETY.

APPRECIATION OF SHAKESPEARE.

Mr. M. D. Collins, a recognised authority on Shakespeare, delivered an interesting lecture on "Shakespeare Up To Date," last night, before the members of the Dublin Literary Society in Lincoln Chambers.

Some persons, said the lecturer, held that Shakespeare was out of date, or behind our times, and that they are unable to read him for that reason. Others said that he was dull. He submitted that on all that concerns man's life to-day Shakespeare was, as ever, a great moral teacher and guide. The interest in Shakespeare is of perennial growth, and has never waned, and every generation has discovered new meanings in his works. The "roaring loom of time" had been the theme of all poets, but no poet had been so obsessed with it as Shakespeare.

The vision of Shakespeare, said Mr. Collins, anticipated some of our recent inventions. What better name could one call our airplanes than "couriers of the air?" We are worshipping speed to-day and moving at a rate of 360 miles an hour. Hamlet mentions something that travels even faster than that when he exclaims: "Haste me to hear it that I with wings swift as meditation, or the thoughts of love, may sweep to my revenge," while the tricky spirit, Ariel, in "The Tempest," says: "I will return ere your pulse beat twice." Puck seemed to be heralding the coming of the wireless when he talks of "putting a girdle round the earth." The man in the street to-day habitually quotes Shakespeare without being conscious of it.

Mr. Collins quoted freely from Shakespeare in proof of his statements.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SOCIETIES.

WHY THEY ARE NECESSARY.

"Why League of Nations Societies are Necessary" was the subject of an address delivered by Mr. Lothian Small, Assistant Secretary to the International Federation of League of Nations Societies, at a meeting arranged by the Dublin Committee of the League of Nations Society of Ireland, in Dublin last night.

Dr. Bodkin presided.

Mr. Small, having led up to the formation of the League of Nations, said, in the course of his address, that there were people like Lord Cecil and the French statesman, Leon Bourgeois, who felt that besides an official international organisation, the League of Nations itself, it would be necessary to have an unofficial organisation of public opinion to make sure that the real ideas underlying the Covenant of the League would be carried out by the Government. In that way was born the Federation of the League of Nations Societies, in which the Irish League of Nations Society played an active part. It might be asked, since the Irish Free State was a member of the League and the Government sent its delegates to the League Assembly and to the International Labour Conference, which was the industrial side of the League, what role was left for the League of Nations Societies?

The answer was that it was necessary to inform public opinion in ways more popular than were at the disposal of the Government, of the questions to be adopted at Geneva and of the attitude to be played by Ireland. When draft conventions affecting education, conditions of labour, and economic and tariff problems were adopted by the Geneva official assemblies, they had to be referred to the Legislature in Ireland. The Government would feel justified in ratifying the decisions in Geneva only if it felt that there was behind it a well-informed public opinion.

Among the objects of the League there were some of special interest to Ireland, for example, the Commissions dealing with the artistic relations of people where attempts were made to preserve expiring folklore and picturesque traditions of life. In such Commissions Ireland had a rich contribution to make, and yet had not been represented.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Small for his address.

TRANSFERRED CIVIL SERVANTS.

Judge Cahir Davitt presided at the sitting of the Free State Civil Service Compensation Board at 89 Merrion square, Dublin, yesterday.

Up to present the Board has heard evidence in ten cases of men from the Land Commission, the Post Office, the Board of Works and Prisons, and, arising out of these cases, the question of compensation had come up in two respects—first as to unestablished service, and, secondly, as to pension on reduced pay for alleged misconduct, uniform, sick pay, and customary and normal promotion.

Mr. Dickie proceeded to put forward arguments covering, as far as possible, all the legal arguments advanced up to the present on behalf of the transferred officers.

NO RIGHT TO REDUCE SALARIES.

He argued that the Government had no right to reduce salaries. If the argument of Mr. Lavery was correct, salaries could be reduced without dismissal. Mr. Boland could reduce the salaries of the men sitting there on behalf of the Ministry. That was not the law. No Department and no Treasury had, in the time of the British Government, power to reduce any salary. They had power to dismiss for misconduct, and, possibly, the King had power to dismiss on other grounds.

Since the passing of the Treaty all the rights of civil servants were legal rights, and these rights all the transferred civil servants possessed. There was no power to dismiss except with compensation, and the Treasury had no right whatever over them. If the officials were guilty of misconduct they could dismiss, but for that only.

All the Tribunal had to do was to find the number of years' service, multiply it by a sixtieth or eightieth, as the case might be, add the proper number of years, and that was the basis of compensation.

The Board adjourned until next Monday at 10.30 a.m.

The Board consisted of Judge Davitt (Chairman), Messrs. H. P. Boland and W. Doolin, representing the Department of Finance, and Messrs. J. Irvine and A. McE. Kelly, representing the Civil Servants.

QUICK SERVICE, ATTENTION AND COURTESY TO CUSTOMERS

CIRCUIT CRIMINAL COURT.

ESCAPE OF PRISONERS RECALLED.

SILENT MAN CONVICTED.

(BEFORE JUDGE GLEESON.)

A young man, Patrick Norton, was charged with having, on November 27, 1925, unlawfully escaped from Mountjoy Prison, where he was being detained awaiting trial on a criminal charge.

The prisoner made no answer when the charge was read out to him by the Clerk of the Court, and a plea of "not guilty" was entered on his behalf.

William J. Brogan, who was chief warder at Mountjoy Prison during July and November, 1925, said that the prisoner was committed to his charge on July 25, 1925. Witness was on duty between 7 and 8 o'clock on the morning of November 27, when a party of men entered the prison and attacked him, taking away his keys. It was discovered later that nineteen prisoners were released by the men and escaped, including the man in the dock.

In reply to the Judge, witness stated that he had absolutely no doubt as to the identity of Norton.

The prisoner was taken into custody at Mullingar on November 15 last on a warrant issued by District Justice Collins on January 6, 1926.

Sergeant Scully gave evidence that when the accused man was taken to the Bridewell on November 16 last and charged he made no reply.

The jury returned a verdict of "guilty," and the prisoner was put back.

Later the prisoner was put forward, and on entering the dock he took a seat, and appeared to take little interest when being addressed by the Judge. He was directed to stand up, but refused to do so. Later he stood up in the dock when directed by the Judge.

The Judge, in addressing the prisoner, said that it was the duty of a judge, no matter how prisoners provoked him, to carry out the verdict of the jury. Although there was some attempt of disrespectful behaviour on the part of the accused man, he would not allow that to influence him as regards the sentence he proposed to place upon him. What he proposed to do was to pass a sentence of imprisonment of three months from the date of his arrest—November 15 last—without hard labour.

BARRISTER ATTACKED BY MASKED MEN

COURT SEQUEL.

Laurence Hudson, of Carroll's cottages, Adelaide road, Kingstown, was indicted with having, on November 23 last, while armed with a revolver, assaulted Mr. Paul Gleeson, barrister-at-law, of Kilcolman House, Glenageary, with intent to rob him.

Mr. G. A. Moonan (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted, and Mr. John Maguire (instructed by Messrs. McHenry and Maguire) represented the accused man, who pleaded "not guilty."

Mr. Gleeson, in reply to Mr. Moonan, stated that he was an extensive farmer at Fassaroe, near Bray. On the date in question he visited his farm, and on his return to his home about 6.30 he was proceeding to his residence at Glenageary when two men approached him, and one of them said, "Put them up." At first he thought someone was playing a trick on him, but the same man shouted, "Knock him down." He was knocked to the ground, and while there one of the men placed his hand in his inside pocket. Witness got his hand free, and he caught hold of the second man by the ankle, but failed to bring him down. The other man, who at this time was lying on top of him, became frightened and released his hold and ran away. The men who attacked him had masks on, and he pulled the mask off one of them. At an identification parade the following day at Kingstown he identified the prisoner as one of the men who attacked him. He would not say definitely that the prisoner was the man, as it was very dark at the time. The prisoner was of the same height and build as one of the men who attacked him.

"NOT SURE."

Replying to the Judge, witness said that he was not sure that prisoner was one of the men. He was like him in build.

At this stage, Mr. Moonan said that he did not propose to call any further evidence in view of Mr. Gleeson's evidence. The identification had not been made clear, and he would leave the matter to the jury.

The jury, without leaving the box, found the prisoner "not guilty," and he was discharged.

Before leaving the court, Mr. Gleeson, the last witness in the case, on behalf of the Senior Bar, congratulated the Judge on his appointment as Judge of the Circuit Criminal Court.

The foreman of the jury endorsed the remarks of Mr. Gleeson, and expressed their appreciation of the manner in which he himself had given his evidence in the case.

CHILD KILLED IN 'BUS ACCIDENT.

JUDGE AND DRIVER.

Colm Cahill was charged with the manslaughter of Hugh Mulally, a child aged between six and seven years, at New road, Inchicore, on November 6 last.

The accused man pleaded "Not guilty."

Mr. Vincent Rice, K.C., who (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor) prosecuted, said that on the date in question the accused man was driving a 'bus in New road. It was between five and six o'clock in the evening, and, although very dark, there were numbers of children playing about. The conductor of the 'bus got out and drove most of them away, but a little later the little boy Mulally was knocked down, and the left wheel of the vehicle passed over him. The contention of the prosecution was that the 'bus was a very big, unwieldly thing, and more care should have been used in its management.

Mrs. Mary Galvin, who witnessed the accident, said that she saw the 'bus coming from the direction of Ring street towards New road. Three little children ran out and jumped up on it, but one of them slipped off, and witness next saw him lying underneath the 'bus. The 'bus was going slowly at the time and preparing to reverse.

The defendant, in evidence, said that he did not see the child until he felt a bump and got out. When he found what had happened he immediately took the child to hospital, and told Guard Tarpy about the occurrence when he met him on the way.

The Judge—You acted with commendable propriety. Whatever the result of this case, you certainly deserve great commendation for what you did after the accident.

Mr. James Cawley, Barrister-at-Law, who (instructed by Messrs. James O'Connor and Co., solicitors) appeared for the defence, asked for a direction.

The Judge said that the case would have to go to the jury.

The jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty" without leaving the box. They added that Cahill had, in their opinion, acted in the matter in a very upright and praiseworthy manner.

The Judge concurred, and Mr. Rice also associated himself with the remarks.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE

PEERTOI AGAIN.

AFRIKANDER'S GOOD FINISH.

BIG WONDER BEATEN TO SECOND PLACE.

(From Our Travelling Correspondent.)

KEMPTON, Friday Night.

Springlike conditions prevailed for the opening stage of the Kempton Park fixture to-day, and there was a good crowd present when proceedings were begun. The going was in that condition usually appreciated by trainers, although somewhat yielding, and a respectable average of runners contested each event. Several of the races were very open betting affairs, and visitors had no cause to compalin on that account.

It seems to be taking the official handicappers a long time to get to the bottom of Peertoi, and notwithstanding the fact that he carried top weight in the chief race, the Kempton Park Hurdle, he was a very easy victor. As soon as betting opened it was obvious that the layers were taking no liberties with Stanley Wootton's five-year-old, and it was difficult to obtain more than 11 to 10 against for some time.

At one period of the race Peertoi was last of all, but it was palpable that Ingham was in no way alarmed. Making up ground after half the distance had been covered he came into the straight in company with Sunny Trace and Prince Cherry, and then drew away to score with ease.

It is probable that the prime factor in the victory of Afrikander in the Littleton Steeplechase was the superior finishing powers of F. Brookes, who, once over the last fence, forced his mount, finally to wear down and beat his opponent. Only May King of the favourites put up a respectable show, and his effort nearing the straight was quite a short-lived one. Captain Sassoon on Mythologist made nearly all the running, and had command of his field at every stage except the vital noe, where he was a head to the bad.

A WARM FAVOURITE BEATEN.

A fairly warm favourite was made of Big Wonder in the race for the Amateurs' Steeplechase, but Mr. G. S. Whitelaw's National horse failed to overcome the second market choice, Glen Andred, and was easily beaten into second place. Apart from Big Wonder and Glen Andred, only Phibisher and Quite Alone received any fair amount of support, and the market proved a fairly good guide.

Wood Owl soon went off to establish a long lead, and placed a big gap between himself and his opponents. Glen Andred took it up at about half-way, and, although Big Wonder once looked like making a fight of it, he found the weight too much, eventually being beaten by a wide margin.

Having been peppered twice during the day by the followers of Frank Wootton's stable, the layers took no liberties with Adage in the Middlesex Hurdle, and it was difficult to obtain more than evens for some considerable time. Eventually, backing for Lordland caused Adage to be offered at 5 to 4, and that this was quite a fair price was proved in the result, for Adage won his race with great ease.

Alan Malone and Blunt were in the van for three-parts of the journey, while Lordland was always within striking distance, the favourite generally lying about fourth or fifth. Adage easily asserted his superiority in the straight, and it was a late run which took Muezzin into second place.

SECOND FAVOURITE SUCCEEDS.

The first five horses in the betting on the Weybridge Steeplechase were continually changing places, and it was no easy matter to place the first and second market choice until the off was sounded. Magic Bard, with G. Wilson in the saddle, gave quite a good display in scoring by two lengths, and the verdict did not adequately indicate his superiority over his opponents. Long before the straight was entered it was apparent that Newtown Wonder, Magic Bard, or Signal Rocket would score, and this trio had the finish to themselves.

It was a fairly open betting market, which was offered to backers on the Sunbury Hurdle, but only those who remained faithful to Wootton's stable achieved any tangible benefit from a wagering point of view. Beroadach was made favourite, but Yarmouth alone of the front rankers in the betting had any concern with the finish. After an uneventful race during the early stages, Sir Crispen was sent into the lead in the straight to go on and score with some ease, Colenso being the only one to get within striking distance.

KEMPTON PARK TO-DAY: PROBABLE STARTERS AND BETTING.

KAKUSHIN FANCIED.

SELECTIONS.

At Kempton Park to-day the Cranford Handicap Steeplechase over two miles is the tit-bit of the programme, and, although The Druce Machine and Castletown will not be saddled, there is still plenty of material for a most interesting race. Gib, who will carry top weight, is one of the most improved 'chasers in training, and he is certain to go close if reproducing his best form. He has not been seen out since accounting for Blaris, Kakushin and others at Sandown Park last month, and he has won each of his last six races. On the Sandown Park form to which reference has been made, Kakushin has a pull of 8lb. for a nine lengths beating, and this indicates that there may be little to choose between them. There is no doubt that Kakushin is a really good fencer at his best, as at Newbury in November he had Gate Book, The Druce Machine and others well beaten. General Advance comes into calculations on the balance of his form, but in choosing between Kakushin and Gib I have more liking for Kakushin, who won over this course at the last meeting here.

The Brentford Handicap Hurdle Race has an open appearance, and the best at the weights may be Frank Wootton's charge, Abdul, Polish Patriot and Dream Ship. Apparently Khadir does not compete, and, in his presumed absence, I take sides with Dream Ship, who, before failing at Gatwick, haw won two nice races at Folkestone and Fontwell Park last September.

The Novices' Steeplechase will attract a big field, and, as Phaeton may not be saddled, the issue may be fought out by Magic Moon, Blue Vinny and Nicklette. Of this trio I have most liking for Magic Moon, who was not disgraced when second to Tide at Newbury last month, as he would have had more to do with the finish if he had not blundered.

GOLF.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY CLUB ON TOUR.

OXHEY WIN BY FOUR MATCHES.

Dublin University yesterday played the second match of their English tour against Oxhey, who won by eight matches to four. The conditions were much better than for the opening match.

The first pair played steadily, and J. O. Wisdom was two up on the turn. He increased the lead to three with a 2 at the eleventh. Stephens fought splendidly to square, but Wisdom cannoned in off his ball for a 3 at the nineteenth, and won at the next hole.

J. D. Parsons started splendidly with 3, 4, 3, and was four under bogey. Unfortunately he completely lost his touch, and was beaten at the sixteenth. His opponent, White, is the new captain of Oxhey. H. C Silcock played excellent golf, winning at the sixteenth with a 3. R. J. McKeown had a very even match, in which stymies played a prominent part. There were six in the first seven holes. L. C. Kolb, the American, played well, and might have saved his match, had not his opponent got a "birdie" at the seventeenth.

One of the best matches of the day was between H. J. Watson and Jones. Watson was three up at the sixth, but Jones won the next three to square. He became three up at the thirteenth, and the Trinity player squared at the sixteenth. The Oxhey man became dormy one, and a half followed. The South African, C. Warren, was round in bogey, and won easily.

In the foursomes, Wisdom and Parsons, getting an early lead, held on to it all the way. Watson and McKeown made a gallant fight. They were three down, with four to play, and they won the next two. At the seventeenth, where the match finished, Watson lipped the hole with an eight-foot putt. Silcock and O'Neill played well, but could make no impression on their opponents, who were several strokes under bogey for the round.

HUNTING.

THE MEATH.

A FINE HUNT OF AN HOUR AND 25 MINUTES.

January 23rd—Grangegeeth. This covert had not been drawn for twenty-five years, and the country people were delighted that the meet was there. Grangegeeth Hill was full of foot-people and the school children had a half-holiday.

A great hunt was brought off. There were a brace in the covert. We hunted up the hill, and hounds ran slowly over the Slane road. They came up with the fox in a rushy field, and ran very fast pointing for Hussey. Soon they turned to the right over the hill, pointing for Minerva bog, but the fox was headed and turned back along the bottoms. He again breasted the hill, as if for Carrignagow; but kept it on the left and ran on for Mount Oriel. Hounds were run out of scent near Collon, which the fox probably made. The time was one hour and twenty-five minutes over a heavy, trappy line, and as everyone had had enough hounds were sent home, although it was only 2 o'clock.

Yesterday the meet was at Corbalton Hall. Began by drawing Corballis blank, but hounds found in the road wood at Corbalton. The fox went away through the garden wood, and the plantation, and on over the Oberstown road to Corballis. From here he bore away on the Macetown side, but was headed, and made for the plantation, through it, and into Corbalton, and out again the same way, coming back to Corballis, where he got to ground after an hour's hunting.

Ross plantation and Arlantown were blank. Found at once in Curtistown, and the hunt was carried on across the Meath railway line, and over the Bective-Kilmessan road into Ennistown. Here the fox recrossed the road and ran back towards the covert; but he left it on his right, and ran up to Miss Wilkinson's house, where they killed him in the garden. Swainstown was blank, which finished.

KILDARE HOUNDS.

The Kildare Hounds met at Davidstown Cross-roads on Thursday with a good-sized field out. The local covert held at least a brace of foxes, and forcing one of the tenants out hounds ran fast up to Hughestown Hill, where they marked the quarry to ground. Sheriff Hill was blank, but in Moone Park a fox was dusted around the covert for some time before he was induced to break. Crossing the Moone road he ran in a circle over about four fields and was killed on the banks of the river Greese after a sharp twenty minutes. Scrathams failed to respond and Major Mitchell gave the order for Sprattstown.

Finding here hounds were soon in full cry over MacConran's hill pointing for Ballinure. Wheeling right-handed the fox next pointed for Ballycore, and when near this covert swung again to the right, crossing the main Dublin road. Gaining the river Greese, he held to the bank as far as Crookstown, where hounds followed him across the river and hunted him almost as far as Narraghmore wood. Turning again to the right, the fox ran nearly up to Blackrath, where he was marked to ground short of the bog after an hour and a half in the open. This brought a most enjoyable day to a close.

THE COUNTY LIMERICK.

TWO FINE RUNS.

On Monday, January 20th, hounds met at Sheehan's Cross, and first drew Lady's Gorse, which held. After some up and down hill hunting they killed their fox beyond Inch St. Laurence. Ballinagarde was tenantless, and Carnarry was next tried, with the result that a fox, after fifteen flying minutes, got to ground at Roxborough. MacNamara had a "stranger" in the wood, this time at Friarstown, and after a couple of circles to the bog, and trying the earth near the covert, he made his way at a very nice pace, leaving Kilpeacon on the left, to Greenmount, where he completely disappeared, though he was only just in front of hounds when they drew up.

The time from find to finish was nearly an hour, and hounds kept running on an improving scent the whole time. This was nearly a four-mile point, and seven as hounds ran.

There was a very large field at Cherry Grove Cross-Roads on Wednesday, including many strangers, who stayed on after the dance in Adare the night before. Finding at once in Dohora, hounds raced into Mourane. Dwelling there, they hunted across the road into Liskennett on the north side of the hill, where the fox turned right-handed, and pointed as if for Croom. With an improving scent they continued over the Ballingarry-Croom road into Ballymackamore, where they bore right-handed as if for Carrigeen. Short of the Adare-Croom road the fox turned back, and made his way towards Cluish. Without touching the covert he ran on past the Rectory as if for Islandmore, but turning short of the road hounds hunted at a nice pace past Lyon's Gorse, nearly to Ballinahoune, where the fox, bearing left-handed, made a circle past Carrigeen, and was lost short of the Croom-Ballingarry road—a very good hunt of one hour and forty-five minutes.

The first part to Mournane was at racing pace, but after Liskennett hounds continued at a very fair pace nearly to Carrigeen, where scent began to fail, and hounds were unlucky to loose their fox, as he was only a very short way in front of them.

It being 2 o'clock, and hounds and horses having had enough, the order was for home. The nearest covert which had not been touched would have been the Black Hill, which was four miles away.

WESTMEATH HOUNDS.

Thursday, January 23, Ballyknock.—A fox was speedily found in Lynch's covert. He broke three times, but was on each occasion headed back, eventually being left. We found again on the top of Clondaliever Hill. The fox descended the hill and made for Jigginstown, but before reaching there he turned right-handed through Jeffystown, nearly to Edmonton. A left-handed turn brought us to Reynella Church wood. There was no delay here, but the pack divided, the main body racing through Williamstown, Killulagh, Dysart, into Clonyn. The pace that hounds went was tremendous. They covered over 10 miles, and, though not timed accurately, were only running for about an hour.

THE QUEEN'S COUNTY.

Hounds met at Ironmills on Monday, Jan. 20th. Heywood was blank, and a move was made to Brennan's furze at Lowhill, where there was a quick find. The fox went away towards Barna, but, after a few fields, turned left-handed, and, leaving Brennan's covert on his right, ran across the Heath at Firoda and on in the direction of Donagile Wood. After about a couple of miles hounds checked, and when they hit the line off again inclined right-handed and, leaving Ballymartin on their right, pointed straight for Finnon.

Here they turned left-handed again near the Seven Cross-roads, crossed the Castlecomer-Ballyragget road, and lost him about half a mile beyond. The time was 55 minutes, with a 3½ miles point.

The whole of this run had been in County Kilkenny, so, as we were very far from our next draw, it was decided to try Brennan's again. We found there, and had a fast gallop by Barna and Knockboot to ground in a rabbit-hole at Boleybawn. Time—25 minutes.

TIPPERARY HOUNDS.

A BRILLIANT HUNT.

The Tipperary Hounds met at Ballingarry Village on the 21st and found several foxes in Grawnacole, but failed to get on terms with one, who usually goes over that splendid line towards Kilkenny. However, they were treated to a very interesting exhibition of good hound work and clever casts, which put an end to a troublesome twisting fox, who was rolled over in the open.

From Prout's Furze they had what may justly be called the run of the season. On the banks of the Shangarry River, close to Ballingarry Bridge, a magnificent dog fox jumped up in view, and, crossing the stream, went towards Prout's, and within a field of the Ballingarry-Mullinahone road turned left towards Grawnacole. Bending down the hill through Grawn again, he crossed the river, going straight as a gun for eight miles up wind, traversing the townlands of Grawn, Springfield, Lisnarock, Ballyphillip, Knockadive, Knockanure, Ballynonty, Kilbrannel, Killeens and to ground in Lanespark. This point would be about nine miles, and ten as they ran. From start to finish there was not the semblance of a check, and the Master, Sir T. Ainsworth, and a few others just kept them in view always a field in front.

On Wednesday we had a great hunting run of one-and-a-half hours from Rockwell, followed by an hour from Tullamaine, with a very diminished field. The season so far has been the best for many years.

LAWN TENNIS.

TILDEN AND HUNTER TO CARRY ON.

NEW YORK, Friday.

Although both W. T. Tilden and F. T. Hunter have decided not to take any further part in the Davis Cup competitions, they are not yet giving up "big" tennis in favour of younger men. Hunter has stated that both he and Tilden will compete in all the big American outdoor tournaments this summer and autumn, including the National championships.

Hunter is already in training for the season, and intends to compete in the National indoor championships next month, and if Borotra, the present holder of the title, does not defend it, the American will be an outstanding favourite.

BILLIARDS.

LINDRUM V. DAVIS.

At the Holborn Hall, London, yesterday, Davis took his overnight unfinished 8 to 264, following shortly afterwards with a 168. Davis recorded a further break of 445. Lindrum having paid two fruitless visits to the table before he got in with a useful 324. Lindrum compiled 129, and Davis replied with 105, supplemented later with 201. After Lindrum had 383 Davis was at the table at the interval with an unfinished 107. Davis scored 1,330 points, and Lindrum 925. Interval scores:—Lindrum, 25,363; Davis (in play), 22,873.

Lindrum, in the night session, recorded his 35th four-figure break of the season, and his fifth in the present match—namely, 1,027, in which he had runs of 162, 80, 65, 67 and 41 close cannons. Davis added only 2 to his unfinished 107, but he had other runs of 238, 221, 208 and 156 (unfinished). Lindrum scored 1,509 points for an average of 167, and Davis totalled 951 for an average of 106. M'CONACHY V. SMITH.

Smith made a fine recovery during the first session yesterday of his match with McConachy at Newcastle-on-Tyne, and in scoring 1,429 almost caught the New Zealander, who totalled 611. Smith scored 367, 109 and 189 before McConachy got going to register his only break of note, which totalled 597. Smith afterwards played out time with 619 unfinished. Interval scores:—McConachy, 8,953; Smith (in play), 8,780

Smith, in the night session, took his unfinished break of 619 to 1,043, his eighth four-figure break this season. His other breaks were 99 and 150. Smith totalled 1,556 for the session. Closing scores:—Smith (in play), 10,336; McConachy, 9,152.

YACHTING.

CONFERENCE TO FIX REGATTA DATES.

There will be a conference of yacht and sailing club representatives and of delegates from regatta committees held at Wynn's Hotel, Lower Abbey street, Dublin, at 8 o'clock on Monday evening next, to decide upon the dates for regatta fixtures upon the Dublin and neighbouring coastline during the summer to come.

BOAT RACE PRACTICE.

So bad was the weather when the Oxford crew went out yesterday for practice that the foul weather flag was hoisted over the boathouse. The crew made two journeys to Iffley and back under the supervision of Doctor P. C. Mallam. On the second outing No. 6 thwart was filled by the old Christchurch Blue, R. R. A. Edwards. Low, of University College, vacated No. 4 to allow Clive, of Christchurch, to come in.

RUGBY.

IRELAND'S FIRST INTERNATIONAL.

TO-DAY'S MATCH AT BELFAST.

WILL THE FRENCH FORWARDS BEAT THE IRISH EIGHT?

(From Our Rugby Correspondent.)

BELFAST, Friday Night.

When the teams arrived at Belfast to-day in the drenching rain the outlook was anything but promising. As the day advanced, however, the conditions improved and the afternoon was fine and dry.

The Southern members, who form the bulk of the Irish team, travelled by the 9.15 train from Amiens street, and accompanying them were W. McComish (Wanderers) and W. Crowe (Lansdowne), as substitutes for the forward and back positions respectively, and the officials of the Union.

The French side arrived in the early hours of the morning and went to the Midland Hotel. The crossing of the English Channel was pleasant, but on the run from Stranraer to Larne very heavy seas were encountered, and most of the party suffered from sickness.

The Irish team who, by the way, were without J. Casey, who should have travelled as substitute forward but was ill and could not do so, turned out for a practice spin at the North of Ireland ground at Ormeau. The usual scrummage practice was indulged in, the order as they passed under the leadership of James Farrell being:—Front row, Farrell, Hanrahan, Payne; second row, McVicker, Dunne; third row, Carroll, Beamish, Clinch. The backs had some passing runs, and George Stephenson, who will captain the team, in an exchange of kicks with Hunt, gave the latter almost as many tests of fielding as he would get in an ordinary match. O'Hara O'Neill, who is another substitute forward, was also in the practice.

It was expected that the French team, who had arranged to go to the Ravenhill ground first to have a look at it, would come on from there to Ormeau for light practice, but their trainer considered that after the tiring journey a day's rest would be better; consequently they did little apart from their visit to Ravenhill.

The party consists of the team and the substitutes—R. Causse and G. Celads (forwards), L. Dausset (half-back), L. Coulon and M. Soler (three-quarter backs)—and the following officials of the French Rugby Federation:—M. Maurice Rigaud, President; M. Marcel Belond, Hon. Treasurer; C. F. Rutherford, Hon. Secretary; Henri Bru, Allan H. Muhr, J. Cadonet, C. Birussa and H. Boursiango, Selection Committee.

I understand that the French order of formation for the scrummage will be:—Front row—Bioussa, Gallia, Ribere (captain); second row—R. Majerus, M. Camel; back row—Choy, Dunhau, Ambert.

The party are very confident that France will win, and, what is more, they consider that the team holds a big chance of winning the championship. They are justifiably satisfied with their success in the opening match against Scotland, and place great reliance on their forwards and on Magnanou, the cut-half. It appears that R. Houdet, the wing three-quarter, who has been replaced by J. Tailloutou, was not dropped, for the reason that he could not travel. The opinion expressed by the French officials I spoke to was that the team is quite the equal of the side which defeated Scotland. They also considered that, if they can beat Ireland, they would have an excellent chance of defeating the other countries.

A remarkable feature about the match is that in Dublin and the South there seems to be a far livelier interest taken in it than in Belfast. All the incoming trains to-day were packed with enthusiasts, all with the same object in view, and to-morrow it is expected the three special trains will be taxed to the full.

Tickets for the stand, touch line and goal line seats were procurable in the city to-day. No changes have been notified in the teams.

FRENCH CONFIDENCE.

GALLIC KEENNESS OVER TO-DAY'S STRUGGLE.

From a Special Correspondent.

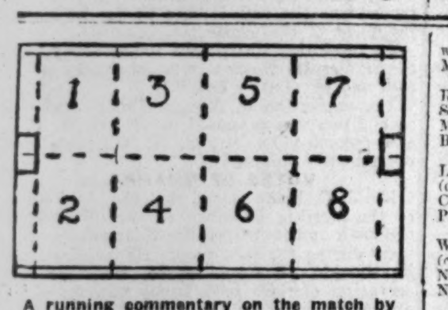

PARIS, Friday.

Not since matches between the two countries were first played has there been such keenness on the French side as is manifested in connection with the Franco-Irish Rugby International at Belfast. For the first time in the history of these matches special excursions have been organised, and such is the interest taken in the match among French followers of the game that the limited number of tickets were soon snapped up, and many who were ready to face the inconvenience of the long journey, with its double sea crossing each way, were disappointed.

French keenness is accounted for by the fact that for the first time in the history of the contests the French believe they have a reasonable chance of becoming champions this year, and this hope rests almost entirely on their ability to beat Ireland, or at least to draw. Their success over the Scots satisfied the French that their new method of selecting fifteens was giving better results, and special attention was given at the New Year's Day match with Scotland in Paris to noting the play of the men, so that weaknesses might be eliminated for future matches.

STRONGEST FRENCH TEAM.

It is the opinion of experts who have seen the Frenchmen play that this is undoubtedly the strongest team the French have ever put in the field, and since it was selected steps have been taken to improve the team work by means of practice matches. The members of the team are unusually confident that they can repeat their victory over Scotland in the Irish match, and they hold that if able to beat Ireland they should have no difficulty in accounting for England and Wales.

A running commentary on the match by Mr. Wallace Harland, the international referee, will be broadcast from Belfast (and relayed to Dublin) at 2.45 approximately to-day. Listeners will find this plan of the field useful.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR CUP TIES.

WANDERERS V. RAILWAY.

On this afternoon's programme the Irish Senior and Junior Cup ties figure prominently. Whilst all the senior games present individual points of interest, probably the visit of the holders to Serpentine avenue to engage Pembroke Wanderers will provide followers with the best exhibition, as on recent form both teams are at their best. The two matches at Dun Laoghaire should produce fine games, and the visit of Dalkey to Wicklow in a replay is not without interest. The junior ties in the College Park and at Park avenue should furnish exciting struggles, as the victors will probably figure in the Leinster final.

DUBLIN UNIVERSITY DEFEATED.

HANTS AND DORSET... 2 DUBLIN UNIV.... 1

Dublin University lost the last match of their tour, when Hants and Dorset Wanderers beat them by 2 goals to 1 at Bournemouth yesterday.

The ground was rough and slippery from a drizzling rain. The game, however, was played at an exceptionally fast pace. Trinity attacked from the bully, and kept up pressure for the first ten minutes, all the inside forwards shooting wide. Wanderers then attacked, and in a raid on the goal Curle turned badly, and hit half-heartedly in the direction of the goal. The Trinity defenders let the ball run into the net, and the referee awarded, not a free hit, but a goal. Trinity again attacked, but McVeagh twice sent wide when well placed. Again Wanderers scored contrary to the run of the game, when Aylward made use of a defensive mistake, but Trinity were not to be denied, and Good got in a beautiful high shot from Deverell's centre. This ended the first half, and the scoring for the match. The first twenty minutes of the second half was spent in the Wanderers' half, but the Trinity inside forwards frittered away one chance after another.

This game marked McCarrigle's, Keyms' and Moynihans' hundredth game together for Trinity, and they all signalised it by playing very soundly. Griffith worked very hard at half, while the inside forwards played well through the field, but feebly in the circle. The Wanderers' goalkeeper played remarkably well, his kicking being very fine. Page at centre half was ubiquitous, and Pearce and Curle sound, with occasional patches of brilliance. Trinity have thus two wins and two losses to show for their tour.

Wanderers—G. E. Buck; W. K. Pearce, H. Hanham; H. Lipscombe, E. Page, G. Yates; H. Stack, C. B. Aylward, J. R. Peacocke, J. Burnett, V. Curle.

GAELIC GAMES.

DUBLIN SENIOR LEAGUE.

CONVENTIONS IN THREE PROVINCES.

(BY PAT'O.)

Terenure Park to-morrow has the biggest claim on Gaelic followers; for, in addition to the U.C.D. v. Erin's Hopes game, the old rivals, Geraldines and Kickhams, meet in the second round of the Dublin Football Senior League. Thirty years ago Geraldines and Kickhams were struggling for leadership, and though both clubs have had their vicissitudes, recent recovery in either camps has won new interest and revived old rivalry. Both teams won their first matches on Sunday, and the struggle for points is already keen. O'Reilly (Kildare) will be in goal for Kickhams, with Supt. Creagh at full-back. Geraldines hope to field Paul Russell, O'Sullivan and McCoy. Football should reach a high standard, and a division of the points is not unlikely. The forenoon match at the same venue between U.C.D. and Erin's Hopes is also an open issue. Erin's Hopes have all the enthusiasm of a newly-strung team, and their recruiting field from counties strong in Gaelic football is a wide one.

University College, having won last Sunday's game against Round Towers at Clondalkin, forfeited the points for unpunctual appearance. The students will line out in good time to-morrow, and try to recover lost ground. At full strength, U.C.D. are a formidable side; for they include ten men with inter-county and all-Ireland experience.

Dolphins' level scoring with O'Tooles in the opening round was a big surprise, and the Barr men will travel with confidence to Crumlin to-morrow, where they meet Parnells. At Clondalkin Crumlin and Round Towers are evenly matched, and at Balbriggan the O'Dwyers, fresh from their victory over Parnells, will have more difficulty in snatching a point from O'Tooles, who are chastened by Dolphins' opening challenge, and will approach the game seriously with their League honours of last year at stake. The neighbouring clubs, St. Josephs and St. Marys, will attract a big local following to Parnell Park. Josephs should add a brace of points to their total, for they are playing with fine cohesion and accuracy at the moment.

Several County Conventions are listed to-morrow—Cork, Antrim, Waterford, Monaghan and Louth amongst the number. All but Louth will have a progressive year's work to report, and Cork can boast of capturing two championships in hurling within a twelvemonth.

St. Kevins, Dublin, travel to Rockwell College to-morrow to meet the home hurlers in a challenge game, and on recent form the Tipperary schoolboys should add to their long winning list.

In connection with the forthcoming visit of London-Irish footballers to Croke Park to play Westmeath in the Junior All-Ireland football final, a reception committee has been appointed, with Mr. McGalvin, of the Central Council, as Hon. Secretary.

BIG SCORE BY NEW ZEALAND.

TWO CENTURIES.

WELLINGTON, Friday.

By some great batting against the M.C.C. in the second Test match here to-day New Zealand did much to redeem the prestige they lost through their failure in the first Test at Christchurch earlier in the month. They kept the Englishmen in the field all day, and scored 399 for the loss of only three wickets.

After a slow start Mills batted attractively in scoring 117, and brought off many beautiful hook strokes. He hit thirteen 4's during his long stay of four hours and twenty minutes. He was fortunate in being missed three times, especially on the last occasion, when 102. Gilligan, fielding at square leg, made a simple catch, but with the blinding sun in his eyes he let the ball slip through his fingers.

Dempster, who scored 136, was forceful almost from the start, but was lucky in not being caught once or twice off dangerous uppish strokes. He was dismissed through a brilliant piece of stumping by Cornford off Woolley, who took the three wickets that fell. Batting a quarter of an hour longer than Mills, he hit eight 4's. Nichols made the ball get up awkwardly, and off one of his deliveries Dempster was hit on the head, but fortunately was not seriously hurt. Lowry, the captain, only scored six, and was uncomfortable against Woolley, and was soon out to a magnificent catch in the slips by Duleepsinhji.

On the whole, the bowling was not impressive, but Bowley's skilful slows occasionally had the batsmen in trouble.

CENTURY BY W. ST. HILL.

TRINIDAD'S FINE STAND AGAINST M.C.C.

PORT OF SPAIN, Friday.

The game between the M.C.C. and Trinidad was in an interesting state when the third day's play began here this morning. The M.C.C. finished their first innings yesterday, 17 runs to the good; and at the close of play Trinidad had made in their second innings 128 for 3 wickets. The wicket was faster this morning, when the overnight not outs, J. D. Sealey and W. St. Hill, continued the innings, and both men started well to the bowling of Rhodes and Stevens. With the score of 157, Sealey was l.b.w. to Rhodes, after putting up a valuable stand. W. St. Hill, however, batted steadily in successive partnerships with Constantine, Betancourt and Grell, and the score steadily mounted to 223 for 6.

Grell, who is making his first appearance in the Colony team, played an excellent innings of 54 before he was caught by Hendren off Rhodes. W. St. Hill continued to play careful, patient cricket, after lunch and at tea was 101 not out, without having given a chance. By this time Trinidad had scored 328 for 8 wickets.

W. St. Hill had only added a single to his score after tea, when Hendren brought off another fine catch, and Trinidad's ninth wicket had fallen for 329. Trinidad's innings closed with a total of 333, and the M.C.C. are thus left to get 316 to win. Rhodes took 5 wickets for 76, and bowled 14 maidens out of 37 overs.

LEINSTER "FLY" CHAMPION HARD PRESSED.

PORTOBELLO CONTESTS.

There was a big attendance at the Gymnasium, Portobello Barracks, last night, when an interesting series of contests was provided by the home club, the representatives of which met St. Andrew's and St. Tarcisius in a series of inter-club bouts.

A large proportion of the contests were in the juvenile class, and of these chief interest was centred in the meeting between E. Smith, a former champion, and Boy O'Brien, of the Portobello Club. Smith was the cleverer and more experienced of the pair, and was a good winner at the finish.

Bandsman Cullen, a former Army titleholder, made his re-appearance in the ring after a lengthy absence in a feather-weight contest with his namesake, J. Cullen, of St. Andrew's. The Army man showed that he had lost little of his skill, and, though outpointed in the first two rounds, made a splendid recovery subsequently and retrieved much of the ground lost. He had his man down for a short count in the last round, but lost on points. The verdict was not a popular one.

C. Caprani, who won the Leinster fly-weight championship, was given a very close run by Pte. Travers, and it was only due to the latter's failure to use his useful right to advantage that cost him the decision.

Light-Weight—Pte. Mitchell (Portobello) beat J. Doyle (St. Andrew's) on points; P. Whelan (St. Andrew's) beat Pte. Nugent (Portobello) on points; Pte. Nea (Portobello) beat J. Dandy (St. Tarcisius) on points.

Feather-Weight—Pte. O'Connor (Portobello) beat M. O'Brien (St. Tarcisius) on points; J. Cullen (St. Andrew's) beat Bandsman Cullen (Portobello) on points.

Welter-Weights—D. Byrne (St. Tarcisius) beat Pte. Buckley (Portobello) on points; Cpl. Henley (Portobello) beat R. Stephens (St. Tarcisius)) on points; J. Dunne (St. Andrews) k.o. Pte. O'Leary (Portobello) in the first round.

Fly-Weight—J. Caprani (St. Andrews) beat P. Travers (Portobello) on points.

Middle-Weight—Pte. Moore (Portobello) w.o., J. Simmonds (St. Andrews) absent.

Juvenile Contests—M. Byrne (St. Tarcisius) beat Boy Kelly (Portobello) on points; M. Byrne (St. Tarcisius(beat Boy Rogers (Portobello) on points; J. Carbury (St. Tarcisius) beat Boy McAvoy (Portobello), the towel coming from McAvoy's corner at the end of the second round; J. Smithers (St. Andrews) beat Boy O'Driscoll (Portobello) on points; P. Purcell (St. Tarcisius) beat Boy Phillips (Portobello) on points; J. Fagan (St. Andrews) beat Boy C. Conroy (Portobello) on points; J. Masterson (St. Tarcisius) beat Boy J. Conroy (Portobello) on points; E. Smith (St. Andrews) beat Boy O'Brien (Portobello) on points.

CONNAUGHT CHAMPIONSHIPS.

At Custume Barracks, Athlone, the Connaught championships were decided last night, before a big attendance. Results:—

Fly-weight.—Final—Barrett beat Private Sheridan (disq.).

Feather-weight.—Final—Corporal Brennan, w.o.; Private Dawson, scr. (injured).

Light-weight. — Final — Private McGarr (Athlone) knocked out J. Donnellan (Ballinasloe) in the first round.

CROSS-COUNTRY.

R.I. FUSILIERS DEFEAT DUBLIN UNIVERSITY.

Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers and Dublin University Harriers had an enjoyable cross-country contest over a six miles' course at Holywood, Belfast, the Fusiliers winning by 31 points to 47. Teams of eight took part, the first six home to count. Lance-Corporal McAnally finished first, the second and third places being also secured by the military. Final placings:—Fusiliers—1, 2, 3, 6, 8, 11—31 points. Dublin University—4, 5, 7, 9, 10, 12—47.

SQUASH RACKETS.

A large gallery watched yesterday's match between Fitzwilliam and St. Stephen's Green Club, which was played at Wilton place, and resulted in a win for Fitzwilliam by three matches to one. The victory of Fitzwilliam may be ascribed to their superior accuracy and general fitness.

Fitzwilliam are putting forward a second team to play a second string of St. Stephen's Green Club next Wednesday.

Results were:—A. Hamilton (F.) beat J. S. Miley (S.G.C.)—8-10, 9-2, 9-2, 9-3; G. H. Pilkington (F.) beat J. McCann (S.G.C.)—9-3, 9-4, 9-3; R. W. S. Greene (F.) beat C. O'Kelly (S.G.C.)—4-9, 10-8, 9-0, 9-1; J. F. Mahony (F.) lost to V. Miley (S.G.C.)—6-9, 9-2, 5-9, 6-9.

MISS GLEITZE'S ATTEMPT ON RECORD IN DUBLIN.

Arrangements have now been concluded for the forthcoming attempt by Miss Mercedes Gleitze to break the present endurance record of 26 hours 1 minute, made by herself at Edinburgh on the 31st December and 1st January last. Miss Gleitze will be remembered as having swum the English Channel, Straits of Gibraltar, The Wash, Loch Ryan, Firth of Forth, and Lough Neagh. The attempt will be made in Tara street Baths on Sunday, 9th February, commencing at 3 p.m.

The Leinster Branch of the Irish Amateur Swimming Association will provide official supervision for the duration of the swim. This will mean that stewards will be in constant attendance all the time.

Miss Gleitze will arrive in Dublin about the middle of next week to start her preparation for the event. This will consist, amongst other things, of daily massage of a special nature which the management of the Turkish Baths, St. Stephen's Green, have kindly consented to provide on their premises.

DUBLIN IRREGULAR.

GUINNESS VERY BRISK.

There were again features of weakness and strength on 'Change yesterday. Manufacturing Shares generally gave way. Bank of Ireland Stock recovered portion of the half-year's dividend of £9, less income tax deducted from the day's price. Guinness Ord. were the centre of brisk dealing. London bought freely at the morning session, but the best prices were not obtainable at the later market on profit-taking, which was to be expected after recent substantial advance. The shares closed firm to strong at a further advance, but under best points touched. Jameson Debs. were absorbed as offered. A Armstrong Pref. remain on offer at 10s., with 8s. bid. The Funds were generally well held, with India issues rallying. Bank of Ireland Stock and National Bank Shares were both better, allowing for the ex dividend prices quoted. Grand Canal Ord. were again materially higher on the favourable half-yearly statement. Cables, etc., Stocks were lower. The feature in Rails was the further reaction of 1¼ to 17 in Great Southern Ord. Stock. All other issues were firmly disposed on balance, especially Great Southern Debs., but Great Northern Pref. were weaker. Dublin United Tram issues were wanted, but sellers did not often respond. Textiles were discouraging at lower prices. Alliance Gas issues were sellers. Tobaccos, Chemicals and Margarines were weaker, especially the latter. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were weak, and Lever Bros. Pref. gave way. J. G. Mooney issues remain in keen request. Irish-American Oil Pref. were held for a higher level. Burke Ord. turned sellers, but the Pref. closed higher, and the Debs. left off in request at last marking. Thwaites issues were better. Alex. Thom Pref., Debs., and Ord. shares remain scarce.

LONDON UNCERTAIN.

CENTRAL ELECTRICITY BOARD SEVEN-MILLION LOAN.

Underwriting was proceeding in the City of London yesterday for a loan of £7,000,000 for the Central Electricity Board. The stock will bear interest at 5 per cent. and will be issued at 97½ per cent.; redemption dates are 1950-1970.

Interest in the Stock Markets remained on a quiet scale, but a somewhat steadier tendency was apparent in several directions. There were, however, again a number of heavy spots, selling being evident here and there in order to prepare for the differences to be met at the special Hatry settlement, fixed for February 13th.

In the gilt-edged section a feature was the rally in Indian issues, and, while the best values were not fully maintained, higher levels ruled at the close. Foreign Government Stocks attracted only small attention. There was a certain amount of offering of the Home Rails issues, and the leaders were scaled down all round. Among Colonial and Foreign Rails, Canadian Pacifics again made a firm showing, but Cordoba Centrals were marked off sharply. American descriptions presented a firm front and some good advances were scored.

In the Industrial sections, although there was no material expansion of interest apparent, the Anglo-American issues generally displayed a firm tone. Among Breweries, Guinness continued in the ascendant, reaching 105s. at one time. The Miscellaneous descriptions, as a whole, made an irregular showing, with Dunlops reacting, following a slight recovery from the previous day's slump.

THE MONEY MARKET.

TREASURY BILL RATE LOWER.

Applications were received at the Bank of England yesterday for £30,000,000 Treasury bills. Tenders dated Monday, Friday and Saturday of next week at £99 0s. 8d. will receive about 97 per cent., above in full. Tenders dated Tuesday and Thursday at £99 0s. 6d. and above receive in full. The average rate per cent. indicated is about 3 11/16 against 4 per cent. last week.

Easy conditions prevailed in Lombard street, borrowers being able to obtain accommodation over the night at 3½ per cent. to 3¾ per cent., while old day to day loans were renewed at the lower figure. Weekly fixtures went on at 4 per cent.

The tendency of discounts was firm at the opening, but later on became easier on the Treasury bill results. Fine three months bank bills, after being 3 11/16 per cent. to 4 per cent., weakened to 3⅞ per cent. to 3 15/16 per cent., while the "hot" Treasuries were being offered at 3⅞ per cent. The banks bought March maturities at 4 per cent.

Silver declined ⅛d. further for spot and 1/16d. for forward delivery to 20 7/16d. and 20⅜d. per ounce respectively on Indian selling.

Gold was quoted ½d. higher at 84s. 10½d. per ounce fine.

The net efflux since last return thus amounts to £79,057, influx for 1930, to date £4,997,696.

In the Foreign Exchange market yesterday the New York rate, after falling to 4.86 9/16, moved in favour of London and finished 1/16c. higher on the day, at 4.86 11/16. The peseta appreciated at one time to 37.20, but reacted towards the close, and was finally quoted at 37.30, as against 37.57½. The franc at 123.90 was 1c. lower on balance. Reichsmarks at 20.36⅝ moved against London to the extent of ½ pf. In the South American group the milreis was 1/16d. dearer, at 5 5/16d., and Argentine dollars at 45d., were also fractionally dearer.

OIL PRODUCTION.

The Mexican Eagle Co.—Production for the week ended 18th January, 1930, 259,000 barrels.

INDUSTRIAL MARKET.

MIXED TONE IN MOST SECTIONS.

GUINNESS MAINTAINED.

Considerable irregularity again characterised the Industrial Market yesterday. Wall street advices proved satisfactory, and this helped Transatlantic issues to maintain a fairly firm front. Elsewhere movements were of a mixed nature, there being little disposition to extend speculative commitments over the week-end. Dunlops remained an uncertain spot, for after opening slightly better they fell back again later. Apart from a further improvement in Guinness, the Brewery section finished on the dull side.

Underwriting was in progress for an issue of £7,000,000 in 5 per cent. Stock, at 97½, on behalf of the Central Electricity Board.

Assisted by satisfactory advices from the other side, the Anglo-American group had a harder appearance. Nickels improved fractionally to 37⅞, Brazilian Traction Common to 39, with Hydro Electrics finally 43½, after 43⅞; International Holdings remained around 5½.

Radio Corporations were a better market with an advance of 2½ to 40, but Cables and Wireless ruled rather on the dull side, the "A" Stock sagging to 73⅞ and the "B" to 35½. Columbia Graphophones found fresh supporters and closed ¼ to the good at 5 13/16. The rest of the Record section seemed undecided, H.M.V.'s easing to 4 3/16 and Vocalions to 13s. 1½d. A few inquiries from the provinces were reflected in Leylands, which strengthened 1s. 1½d. to 58s. Otherwise Motor shares displayed an easier trend. Electricals moved within narrow limits. Of the Equipments, Callenders attracted buyers at 74s. 6d. There was little variation among Coal and Engineering descriptions.

Erratic movements were witnessed among the Rayon issues. British Celanese Ord. dipped at first to 12s. 6d., following the proposed cut in yarn prices, but rallied later to 14s. 1½d., which left them a trifle better on balance. Courtaulds were offered in the early dealings around 2⅝, eventually closing buyers at slightly above this level. Snia Viscosa improved 9d. to 12s. 3d., but Rayweavers Ord. weakened to 5s.

Textiles had a dull appearance throughout, Sewing Cottons closing around 44s. 6d., and Bleachers at 22s. 3d. The rest finished moderately steady.

Stores, Catering and Food Supply did not move to any material extent. Margarine seemed rather uncertain, the Unies eventually closing at 3 17/32, and the Unions at a similar level.

Little disposition was seen to give fresh support to the Tobacco leaders. "Imps" hardened a trifle to 5, and Copes had buyers at 1 3/16, but "Bats" lost the turn at 5 11/16, while Carreras "A" shares were marked down to the extent of ¼ to 10 3/16, with the "B" shares offered at 26s.

Apart from Guinness, which responded to further investment orders and gained 6d. at 104s., the Brewery section remained on the dull side. Watney Defd. dwindled 10½d. to 54s. 10½d., with Courage Ord. on offer at 63s. 3d., and Ind Coope at 3 5/16. Bass, Benskins, Distillers and Allsopps were comparatively steady.

There was not a great deal doing in the Cement group. News issues were lower where altered.

Insurance issues showed little variation, while Banks were a little easier in places.

In the Shipping group, Cairn Lines yielded 6d. to 6s. 6d., and Cunards shed a few pence to 22s. 3d., while Furness Withys and P. and O. Defd. were barely maintained at 36s. and 51s. 6d. respectively. Royal Mail 5 per cent. Pref. Stock gave way a point at 36½.

Kreuger and Toll met with renewed support and advanced ⅜ to 27½. Swedish Match, however, drooped to 17. Dunlops improved to 13s. at one time, but later reacted to 12s. 6d., leaving off at the latter figure 4½d. lower on the day. Imperial Chemicals showed little disposition towards recovery, finishing with a further loss of 4½d. at 27s. 1½d.; the Defd. eased to 8s. 9d. United Molasses were on offer, changing hands down to 5 11/16, and closing ⅛ off on balance at 5 11/16.

British-Canadian Pref. strengthened to 20s., and E. S. and A. Robinsons Prefs. changed hands in fair numbers around 8d. premium. County of London Electric New slipped back a few pence to 7s. premium, and Gilford Motors eased to 13s.

OIL SHARES QUIET.

Dealers in Oil shares reported quiet conditions in the market for the greater part of yesterday, with attention confined to a few specialities. Chief interest among the recognised leaders centred on Anglo-Persians, some good buying being in progress mainly from the North, although a fair local demand also existed. Burmahs also displayed firmness, while a steady tone was maintained by Shells and Royal Dutch. Business in the Eagle issues was on only a moderate scale, but both Canadians and Mexicans strengthened.

RUBBER SHARES IDLE.

Interest remained on an extremely modest scale in the Rubber Share Market, and, despite the firmer tone apparent in the raw material section, share values showed practically no alteration. Rather wider attention, however, was devoted to the commodity market, and, although there was some reaction towards the close, higher quotations were registered. Spot and February sold from 7½d. to 7 7/16d. per lb. It is anticipated that the London stocks of the raw material on Monday next will show an advance of between five and six hundred tons.

DUTCH EAST INDIES AND RUBBER AND TIN RESTRICTION.

REUTER'S TELEGRAM.

BATAVIA, Friday.

The Dutch East Indies Government has issued a statement in reply to the request of the Committee of the People's Council for its opinion on the question of rubber and tin restriction, in view of the inception of the restriction scheme in the Straits Settlements. The Government declares that it is agreeable in principle to an eventual restriction of the rubber output, for the purpose of reaching better prices, provided that restriction is based on voluntary co-operation and is of a purely private character. The Government has taken no active part in the matter, because it primarily affects producers themselves, and Government action would give it an undesirable political character.

Moreover, the Government so far sees no acceptable solution of the question, which it could recommend to the interested parties. It will pay every attention to any proposals which may come from the producers, but it does not consider it advisable to take the lead in negotiations. The Government is also convinced that it is necessary that any proposals for the future should be based on a normal period in the past.

The Government will reply later on the subject of tin restriction. In its communication to the Government on the subject of tin restriction in the Straits Settlements, the Committee stressed the necessity of the Dutch taking similar measures to restrict tin output.

HUNGARIAN BANK RATE.

The Hungarian National Bank yesterday reduced the bank rate from 7½ to 7 per cent.

Sir John Campbell, representing India, yesterday informed the Opium Commission at Geneva that the consumption of drugs in India showed a considerable decrease. He also gave particulars of the seizures of drugs made by the Indian authorities.—(Reuter.)

BANK OF IRELAND MEETING.

GOVERNOR'S CLASSIFICATION OF ADVANCES.

NOTE ISSUE: BANK RATE FLUCTUATIONS.

Captain A. Ronald S. Nutting, Governor, presided at the General Court of the Proprietors of the Bank of Ireland yesterday.

There were also present:—Mr. Henry J. Millar, Deputy Governor, and the following directors:—The Earl of Meath, the Earl of Granard, the Right Hon. Jonathan Hogg, Sir John Keane, Bart.; Thomas S. Martin, Joseph X. Murphy, T.D.; William C. Odlum, Henry B. Pollock, and Mr. Alexander D. Stewart, Secretary.

Moving the adoption of the report and statement of accounts, which have already been printed,

The Governor said:—

The balance sheet speaks for itself, and shows, I think, that the business of the Bank has been well maintained throughout a difficult year.

REDUCED NOTE ISSUE.

If you will turn for a moment to the liabilities side, the first item calling for remark is notes and post bills in circulation, which shows a decrease of approximately £1,500,000. This is due, as I think you are all aware, to our position under the Currency Act of 1927, whereby our fiduciary issue was reduced from its old figure of £3,738,428 for all Ireland to £1,760,000 for the Irish Free State. We have, of course, in addition a fiduciary issue in Northern Ireland amounting to £410,000. Naturally the reduction in our fiduciary issue must have an effect on our earning capacity.

Our deposits, current and other accounts, as you will see, are somewhat less than last year, but in reality they have remained wonderfully steady, and, if anything, are showing a tendency to increase, and the reduction is due to the withdrawal of certain special deposits for end of the year purposes.

To turn to the assets side, our cash and money at call and short notice, and also our Government and other securities show a decline when compared with the figures for the corresponding period last year, but do not call for any particular comment, being largely offset by the fall in the note circulation already referred to. Advances to customers and bills discounted once again show an increase, showing, I think, that the Bank always meets liberally the demands and requirements made upon it.

CLASSIFICATION OF ADVANCES.

I have had some figures taken out setting out the proportions of our advances in the Free State which are absorbed by the community in various ways, and, although it is not always possible to determine with absolute accuracy the purpose for which each and every advance is actually applied, it may interest you to learn that we are in a position to classify these advances into three categories, namely, purely agricultural advances absorb approximately four millions, trade and commerce approximately four and a half millions, and what I must term "miscellaneous" about two and a quarter millions. This last amount includes, amongst other things, substantial advances to public bodies of all kinds.

Our shares in the National City Bank remain at the same figure as last year, and, although the return on our investment is at the present time small, the National City Bank is making very steady, continued progress, and I look to the day in the not far distant future when your Bank will be receiving a good return on its investment, and justifying the cautious and careful policy that it is at present pursuing in building up for the National City Bank a strong, sound position.

SMALLER PROFITS.

As regards the Profit and Loss Account, the net profit for the year is, as you will see, down as compared with last year, showing that a high level of money rates does not mean larger profits for the banks. Having made adequate provision for bad and doubtful debts, pensions and all other contingencies, the sum available for distribution, together with the carry forward from last year, amounts to £629,000. Of this sum £130,000 has been added to rest, and your directors feel justified in proposing a dividend of 9 per cent., payable on the 1st proximo, which, with the interim dividend of 8½ per cent. paid on the 1st August, makes a total distribution of 17½ per cent. for the year.

VIOLENT BANK RATE FLUCTUATIONS.

During the year under review we have had violent fluctuations in money rates, and we have had to pay dearly for money that we had from the public. For instance, you will all have seen that for money in New York the rate ruling was as high as 10 per cent. to 15 per cent. for long periods, but Irish banking funds did not flow that way, and every legitimate need of this country was taken care of at, of course, infinitely lower rates. We have, however, now seen a spectacular break in the Wall street market, and this break marked a turning point in the course of world money rates, and the trend is, I think, steadily downwards, all present indications pointing to the likelihood of a period of relatively cheap money. Industry should, therefore, benefit from a period of stable money rates at a lower level than prevailed last year.

THE BANK BILL.

During the past year we introduced into the Oireachtas a bill which has been passed, and the object of which, as you all know, was to give the Bank of Ireland the same powers and privileges as are enjoyed by the other banks operating in the Free State. We were functioning under a very old charter which was granted to us in the time of George III. by the Irish Parliament then assembled. During the passage of so many years this charter has been altered many times, and it was with a view to removing the many obstacles under which we were functioning that we decided to ask the Oireachtas to give us the necessary powers required by banks under modern conditions, and to remove the many anomalies existing in our old charter.

I must make a passing reference to the commencement this year of production of electrical current from the Shannon. One has heard many views expressed regarding its future; it is a bold and magnificent experiment, and I personally have little doubt that the scheme will justify itself.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

As regards general trade conditions in Ireland, during the last six or seven years we have been suffering from deflation and the consequent lowering of price levels, a most painful process, but it does seem as if prices were becoming stabilised, and I think that, on the whole, our great agricultural community can look forward to the future with some considerable degree of confidence. The enormously increased and perfected system of transportation means that in the export markets we are up against competition from all parts of the world, and it behoves us, therefore, if we are to compete successfully, not only to produce the very best of quality, but to produce at what I might term a world price. We have next door to us a magnificent market, which we must at all costs preserve and develop, and I have no doubt in my mind but that we can, and will, do it successfully.

ZEAL OF THE STAFF.

It gives me pleasure to express my gratitude to my colleagues of the Court of Directors for the constant and loyal support they have extended to me throughout the year that has passed. It is also a pleasant duty to testify to the efficiency and zeal of the staff of the Bank, more particularly the heads of departments and others with whom I have been in daily contact. Animated by a keen sense of duty in promoting the interests of the Bank, they have worthily maintained the high traditions of our ancient Corporation.

The Deputy-Governor (Mr. H. J. Millar) seconded.

A TRUSTEE INVESTMENT.

Mr. P. H. Grierson congratulated the directors on the very successful year they had had, taking into account particularly the increase in the Bank rate early last year, with the further increase in the autumn, and also taking into account the loss to the Bank of its power to print their own bank notes. In these circumstances he had expected a bigger fall in the profits, and thought that the Governors really merited congratulation on having done so well.

He mentioned that in charge of a trusteeship twenty-three years ago he had put the money into Bank of Ireland Stock. That money to-day was worth more than it was twenty-three years ago, and he doubted if there was any other trustee security in this country of which that could be said. Therefore, the Bank of Ireland was one of the soundest trustee securities that he knew of. Other stocks, such as Consols, Railway Debentures and Land Mortgages, were not worth half the price they were twenty years ago. The Bank of Ireland was progressing all the time: the shares were worth more, and dividends received were worth a great deal more.

The Governor thanked Mr. Grierson for his kind remarks, and said that possibly excluding the Bank of England no other trustee stock had maintained its value. The loss of their note issue was a serious deprivation, but personally he had little doubt but that they would be able to maintain their profits at a better level than last year, which was a very bad one from the point of view of Bank rate.

The motion was passed unanimously.

The Governor then moved, and the Deputy-Governor seconded, that a final dividend of 9 per cent., less income tax, payable on February 1st next, be declared.

The motion was agreed to, and the proceedings terminated.

MUNSTER AND LEINSTER BANK MEETING.

SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF TRYING YEAR.

CHAIRMAN'S REPLY TO BANK RATE CRITICS.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Friday.

The eighty-eighth ordinary general meeting of the Munster and Leinster Bank, Ltd., was held at the head office of the company, South Mall, to-day.

Mr. D. J. Daly presided, and the other directors present were:—The Right Hon. Sir Stanley Harrington, Messrs. E. Hallinan, C. E. Murphy, and R. MacMullen.

An apology for inability to attend was received from the remaining director, Mr. F. J. Lillis, who has been unwell, and is still unable to travel.

There was a large attendance of shareholders

Mr. E. B. Dillon, general manager, was also present.

CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT.

The Chairman, in moving that the report and balance sheet be taken as read, and be received and adopted, and that a dividend of 14 per cent. per annum, free of income tax, be paid for the half-year ended 31st December, 1929, on the paid-up capital of the bank to the shareholders whose names were on the register, said:—

I assume it is your pleasure, as on previous occasions, to take the report and balance sheet, which have been in your hands for the requisite period, as read.

I am happy, as the occupant of this chair, in being permitted to present to you the usual satisfactory statement of the position of the bank's business.

The period under review—that is, the half-year concluded on 31st December last—was one of dear money, discount rates having ruled unusually high. Dear money means, of course, that we have to pay higher rates for deposits, and consequently results in smaller profits.

HIGH BANK RATES.

In referring to the money market, you have, no doubt, recently seen some letters in the public Press written by persons who appear to think, and who endeavour to show, that too high rates for accommodation are charged by the Irish banks. We have gone closely into this question, and are satisfied that, notwithstanding the difference between what is called Bank of England rate and Irish Banks' rate, advances of a similar character (whether for trade or other purpose) are not charged higher rates here than in England. Transactions which in England are subject to Bank of England rate are handled by us at the same rate, and it is well known and acknowledged that small advances to farmers in this country are facilitated by the banks on conditions which do not obtain generally, if at all, in England.

BALANCE SHEET FIGURES.

I shall now, with your permission, make a rapid survey of the figures of the balance sheet. Profits for the half-year, after providing for all bad and doubtful debts, show a decrease of £693 as compared with June last, and a decrease of £2,002 as compared with this time last year. This is entirely owing to the high rates we paid our deposit clients—the average deposit rate being higher during the last six months than for any similar period during the last thirty years, with the exception of the latter half of the year 1920 and the first half of 1921. Were it not for some increased revenue which came to us from our new note issue and from an increase in our resources, the decrease in our profits would have been greater. Our chairman in July last explained the effect on our profits of the high deposit rates which prevailed during the first half of this year. Suffice it, therefore, to say that these rates have been still higher during the last six months.

We have made the usual allocations—i.e., transferred £20,000 in reduction of bank premises, on which considerable expenditure still continues to be necessary; £10,000 to contingencies account; £10,000 to staff pensions account; and we recommend a dividend at the rate of 14 per cent. per annum, free of income tax.

INCREASED DEPOSITS.

The large addition of £402,432 to the sum held on deposit and current accounts is a most noteworthy feature of our sheet, and indicates in an unmistakable manner the confidence of the public in the bank.

On the assets side, cash with money at call and short notice, £4,405,092, shows an increase on the year of £379,545. Investments stand at £10,236,941—an increase of £1,018,721—a strengthening of the holdings rendered desirable by the fresh liability on the other side of the sheet under the heading of Bank's Consolidated Notes.

Advances are less on the year by £152,847

The figure of bank premises shows little change.

A TRYING TIME.

The six months just concluded has been a troubled financial period, with crises in the Stock Exchanges of London and New York; difficulties in regard to the gold holding of the Bank of England—all these things tending to dear money and high rates. We have come through this trying time with but a slight decrease in our profits, and it is with pride and satisfaction, ladies and gentlemen, that I and my colleagues present to you a balance sheet showing a position of remarkable strength, as best evidenced by the fact that our liquid and readily available assets represent a proportion of over 56 per cent. of the bank's liabilities to the public, including our notes in circulation.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

I think we may say that the recently completed half-year has been, on the whole, progressive. The cattle trade of the country, one of our great basic industries, has been showing, especially during the last couple of months, much briskness and a healthier position; the harvest generally showed a good yield, and was saved in excellent condition without undue expense.

ADVANCES TO CUSTOMERS.

Criticisms have of late been voiced in reference to what is styled the "tightness" of the banks in regard to advances. We have been and are always ready to make fresh advances when any reasonable proposition is put before us; but critics should remember that, though trade and production can be stimulated by affording credit facilities, expansion in business must come initially from effort from within or on the side of trade and industry. It is no part of a bank's business to provide fixed or long term capital for any industry or purpose. In conclusion, ladies and gentlemen, I should like on behalf of the Board to convey to the staff of the bank our appreciation of their courtesy, zeal, and efficiency, to which so much of the bank's success is due. (Applause.)

Mr. C. Murphy formally seconded the resolution.

Sir John Scott said that the shareholders were again to be congratulated on having such a very successful statement put before them. The record of the bank since its foundation, forty-four years ago, was one of continuing prosperity and increasing popularity, as could easily be seen from the wide area over which the bank now done business. They were fortunate in having able and highly honourable men as directors, and they have been very fortunate in having excellent and experienced men at the head of the staff in the various departments, who had, with the assistance of a willing and loyal staff, undoubtedly brought the bank to its present sound and popular position.

DORMANT BANK BALANCES.

Sir John went on to refer to the dormant bank balances and unclaimed deposits and property held by the various banks, and expressed the hope that they would, if necessary, take a lead and do a very popular thing by publishing the names of those who could not be found and whose money had been lying idle and unclaimed for, say, 12 or 15 years past. If the directors could see their way to reduce the rate of interest on loans and to increase the rate of interest on deposits their action would be much appreciated. (Laughter.) Many people just now prefer to put their money on deposit in the banks rather than invest in stocks or shares, owing to the uncertainty and fluctuation of these things. He heard of a man who quite recently sent £5,000 to deposit in an English bank on account of getting better interest there. He had pleasure in congratulating the directors on the excellent report. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. P. Collins (Ballinrea) said he was glad the matter of the dormant bank balances had been raised by Sir John Scott. He suggested that the shareholders there and then should decide what was to be done with this money. The bank rate of interest he regarded as exceedingly high, and it would, in his view, be a good thing if it could be reduced. The report presented was very satisfactory, and he trusted such report would long continue. (Applause.)

Mr. D. O'Connor (Copstown, Mallow) said this was one of the best years the farming community had had for a long time. They had an abundant harvest, beautiful grass, and were able to keep their cattle in the best of condition. They had got increased prices for their cattle—more than they expected. Yet he contended that the country as a whole had not surmounted its great difficulties. Their public services were in financial difficulties, and had to be kept up by the aid of the banks. This was because the country was not getting on. They were in a better sphere of life, but the farming community could not be considered as well off.

DEAR MONEY.

He failed to see why money in this country should be charged for at a higher rate of interest than prevailed in England. If the people owed a debt of gratitude to the banks, there was also a debt of gratitude due by the banks to the people. At present they were in the hands of combines and great trusts, which was not for the good of this country, and the sooner they get away from them the sooner they would prosper. He did not accept the statement of the Chairman that the people were being treated well in this country in the shape of interest charges for money. He remembered when they could get money at 4 per cent. Fifty per cent. of the people in this country were unable to pay their rates or to pay the shopkeepers. Everything was 100 per cent. dearer than in pre-war days. Where was it going to end? They would carry on until they would meet a very bad year and then they would be compelled to stop.

Sir John Scott—Reduce the rates and taxes.

Mr. T. H. Mahony proposed that Sir Stanley Harrington and Mr. D. J. Daly be re-elected directors of the bank.

Mr. James Dwyer, in seconding, said the report was the best tribute to the far-seeing judgment of the gentlemen concerned.

Th resolution was passed unanimously, and Sir Stanley Harrington returned thanks on his own and Mr. Daly's behalf.

The re-election of Messrs. Purtill and Co. as auditors was proposed by Mr. H. H. Hill, and seconded by Mr. J. T. O'Regan, and unanimously adopted.

VOTES OF THANKS.

Mr. J. C. Foley moved that the best thanks of the meeting be given to the directors of the bank and its officers for their efficient services during the past year. He asserted, and he thought all would agree, that the conservatism of their Irish banks was the sheet-anchor of credit in this country, and that if the credit of the Free State stood high to-day that happy position was largely due to the wise administration of their Irish banks. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. A. J. Magennis seconded, and said that the directors might take it from every shareholder that they enjoyed their utmost confidence, and the staff also. From their esteemed general manager, Mr. Dillon, to the most junior member, he had received at all times not only courtesy, but also valuable help. He would like to put on record that the managers of the various branches were very helpful, in addition being most courteous. (Applause.)

The resolution was adopted, Mr. Dillon (Bruff) replying on behalf of the staff.

LONDON MINING MARKET DEPRESSED.

"KAFFIRS" FRIENDLESS.

The Mining market yesterday had a rather depressed appearance, and the majority of changes on the day were against holders. The Kaffir section was almost friendless, and as a result of a little belated selling by professionals who bought on the recent advance and were anxious to even-up their books over the week-end the trend of values was downward, there being very few buyers about. The news that the Governments of Northern Rhodesia and Nyassaland were opposed to recruiting in their territories no doubt helped to increase the depression, as Cape operators were more inclined to offer shares than to bid for them. Business in the Rhodesian department was almost non-existent. Chartered were a somewhat better market on the strong impression which prevails that the dividend will be increased to 2s. per share. Despite week-end realisations the fresh demand lifted the price to a trifle above the overnight's level.

The announcement is made by the recently appointed joint managing director of Marshall, Sons and Co., Mr. Arthur Colegate, who was formerly associated with Brunner, Mond and Co.

WELSH ASSOCIATED COLLIERIES.

Welsh Associated Collieries, Ltd., of National Provincial Bank Buildings, Bute street, Cardiff, has been registered, states Jordan's Daily Register of New Companies, to acquire inter alia the Abersynon collieries undertaking of Guest, Keen and Nettlefolds, Ltd., and also to acquire not less than ninety per cent. of the issued share capital of the following companies—viz., Guerett Llewellyn and Merrett, Ltd.; D. Davis and Sons, Ltd.; the Bwllfa and Cwmaman Collieries, Ltd.; Llewellyn (Nixon), Ltd.; Llewellyn (Plymouth), Ltd.; Llewellyn (Gyfartha), Ltd.; the Troedyrhiw Coal Co., Ltd.; D. R. Llewellyn and Sons, Ltd.; the Aberdare Craig Coal Co., Ltd.; the Duffryn Rhondda (1929) Co., Ltd.; and the Cynon Coal Co., Ltd. Nominal capital £8,500,000 in £1 shares—3,250,000 preference and 5,250,000 ordinary.

INVERESK CO.

Mr. G. Arthur Wingfield, writing on behalf of the committee representing the ordinary shareholders, in a circular letter says:—"The result of the committee's investigations so far only strengthens them in their conviction that it is absolutely necessary for the ordinary shareholders to combine to protect their assets from possible sacrifices. The policy of this committee is to ascertain who and what is responsible for the trouble, and to formulate a scheme for the future control and management of the Inveresk Co. and its subsidiaries under one central board of directors, representing both classes of shares. The committee will formulate a policy of construction which, if supported by the majority of ordinary shareholders, will place the company on a safe and sure footing."

"PHOTOMATON NOW ENTIRELY DISCONNECTED."

Shareholders of Photomaton (Lancashire and Midland), Ltd., meeting at Liverpool, yesterday, decided in favour of resolutions authorising the liquidation of the company to be carried to completion, in order that it could be taken over and become part of the newly-formed British Photomaton Trading Company, Ltd. Only one shareholder dissented. In exchange for shares, the Lancashire company shareholders are to receive fully-paid convertible Preference share of two shillings each in the British company, carrying a non-cumulative dividend of 20 per cent. Mr. J. H. Gold (Chairman) said that the capital of the new company was £81,600. The Hatry crash had seriously affected the Photomaton interests, but now that they were entirely disconnected from Mr. Hatry it seemed wise to get the capital down to a rock-bottom basis. The scheme was put forward with the concurrence of the Official Receiver, on behalf of the Austin Friars Trust and with the approval of Sir Gilbert Garnsey, the chief investigating accountant in the Hatry affairs.

C.P.R. ISSUES.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Co. has resumed its borrowings in London, and on Thursday £500,000 of 4 per cent. Preference stock and a similar amount of 4 per cent. Debentures were placed privately. The stocks are available in the market free of stamp, the Preference at 79½ and the Debentures at 81⅜. The former will receive a full half-year's dividend in April and the latter six months' interest in July. Only last month the company issued $30,000,000 of 5 per cent. Collateral Trust Gold Bonds in New York and Canada, doubtless owing to the less favourable conditions prevailing in London. It will be recalled that several times last year varying amounts of Preference and Debenture stock were placed privately in London. The need for new money is easily understood when it is recalled that the company put into operation over 300 miles of new branch lines during the year, and it is anticipated that the same will be done during the ensuing twelve months. In fact, the company has a very big programme on hand.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

VULCANITE (BELFAST).—The directors, in their 28th annual report, for the year to 31st October, 1929, state that the outlay on buildings, machinery, etc., during the year, as shown by the balance sheet, was the final payment on account of new machinery at the Wigan works. Trade for the year under review has not been good. In common with other businesses, the company suffered from the effects of general trade depression, particularly during the early months of the year. There was some improvement during the last six months of the period, but the leeway lost in the earlier portion of the year could not be made up. The net profit on the year's trading, including transfer fees, after deducting directors' fees for 1928 and income tax, amounted to £2,014, to which has to be added the balance carried forward from previous account, £333, making a total of £2,347, which the directors recommend should be appropriated as follows:—To pay dividend on Pref. Shares at the rate of 7½ per cent. per annum, less income tax, £1,464; to pay dividend on Ord. Shares at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, less income tax, £500; leaving a balance to be carried forward to next account of £383. It is proposed to pay the dividends on March 1st, 1930. In accordance with the articles of association, three of the directors, Mr. F. G. MaGuire, Mr. G. H. Andrew and Mr. W. J. Brown, retire, and, being eligible, offer themselves for re-election.

Assets of the group aggregate £1,901,798,422, comparing with £1,927,220,493 at June and £1,993,775,144 at December. The items are compared below:—

DEVAS, ROUTLEDGE, AND CO.—Final dividend at the rate of 7½ per cent., making 10 per cent. for the year.

DISTILLERS OF VANCOUVER.—A resolution has been passed by the directors to the effect that they are of the opinion that, although the net profits of the company for the year 1929 are larger than for 1928, it is prudent to conserve the cash resources at the present time by not distributing any further of the 1929 profits owing to the large expenditures made by the company in 1929, due to rapid business extensions. An interim dividend of 5 cents. per share was paid in July last, and for 1928 there was a total distribution of 15 cents. per share.

EASTWOODS.—Interim dividend at the rate of 5 per cent. actual, less tax, on Ord. (Same.)

The directors recommend the payment of a final dividend of 7½ per cent., and a bonus of 7½ per cent., making with an interim dividend 22½ per cent. for the year, less tax. (Same.)

JOHN LOVEYS AND CO.—Balance dividend of 3 per cent. on Pref. shares, making a total dividend of 6 per cent. on Pref. shares for 1929, and a dividend of 7 per cent. on Ord. shares; £4,575 forward.

MAIDENHEAD BRICK AND TILE CO.—Final dividend at rate of 10 p.c. per annum on Participating Pref. (same), and a dividend at the rate of 90 per cent. per annum on Ord. (against 56 per cent. last year), less tax in both cases.

PRODUCE AND FOOD MARKETS.

Birkenhead—Slow, dragging trade for Cattle and poor demand for Lambs. Dublin—Butter unchanged; Eggs falling; Poultry trade good; Fruit and Vegetables steady; Potatoes unchanged; Fish good sale; Grain firmer; Hay and Straw slow, dragging trade. Rubber firmer. Tin rising.

CATTLE.

BIRKENHEAD.—For the smaller supply of cattle on offer; a slow, dragging trade prevailed. Choice small heifers made 9d. to 9½d., bullocks 8½d. to 9½d., cows and bulls 6d. to 7d. A very poor demand was experienced for lambs, and, where sales were effected, lower prices were accepted, the best qualities making around 1/1 per lb., all prices sinking the offal. On offer—2,008 Irish cattle and 642 lambs.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN GRAIN.—Little business passing in grain at this end, but holders of oats rather firm around 11/3 to 12/3 per barrel for whites, and 10/6 to 11/- or 11/3 for blacks; extreme figures quoted, however, only tenable for extra good County Dublin quality.

MARK LANE CORN.—There was a good attendance of buyers at the week-end market, and a moderate business transpired at slightly irregular prices. WHEAT slightly irregular. No. 1 Northern Manitoba ex ship 53/3, No. 2 ditto 52/3, No. 3 51/3, No. 4 Manitoba 50/6, No. 5 46/9, No. 6 40/-; No. 1 Vancouver 52/6, No. 2 51/6, No. 3 50/3; No. 2 hard winter 47/6, No. 2 mixed Durum 45/-, Rosafe 63½lb. 46/-, Barusso 63½lb. 46/6, Australian 48/3 per 496lb.; English 9/4 to 9/6 per 112lb. OATS steadier. Plate landed 17/3 to 17/6, ex ship to arrive 16/3, black Plate landed 17/3, Chilian white landed 24/-.

LIVERPOOL.—Overnight cables and Argentine shipments turned out about as expected, and forward deliveries of wheat, after being the turn dearer during early trading, receded in the absence of support, fluctuated moderately, but late afternoon cables had an adverse effect, prices finishing at the worst point, and marking a fair decline from Thursday night; c.i.f. parcels of No. 1 Manitoba, about due, sold at 49/4½ per quarter, to Liverpool and Manchester, being the only business reported; c.i.f. parcels of maize, River Plate, February-March, sold at 26/7½ per quarter. WHEAT on the spot quiet, and favoured buyers. MAIZE—Spot parcels quiet at 6/- per cental for River Plate. FLOUR held for higher prices; straight-run quoted 38/- to 39/- per 280lb., ex-mill. Graded wheat futures showed ⅛d. to ⅜d. per cental advance during early trading, but afterwards gave way, with moderate fluctuations, the market closing easy at ⅜d. to ½d under Thursday night.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL.—BACON—No quotable change was made in values of any description at the weekly revision of prices at London and Manchester; but Danish killings for the past week were slightly less than the previous return. The demand for Continental is moderate generally, Danish meeting a fair inquiry at late rates, but American rather less active, especially Cumberlands, the high prices now ruling restricting operations. Irish is very scarce, and held for 10/- advance—viz., 130/- to 132/- per cwt. HAMS steady, and short cut in moderate request at late rates. Shoulders scarce and nominal. LARD on the spot quietly steady, buyers operating only for their actual needs. CHEESE steady for Canadian at late rates, but New Zealand advanced an additional 1/- to 93/- to 97/- for white, and 91/- to 95/- per cwt. for coloured. BUTTER steady, with more inquiry, and Australian 1/- dearer at 155/- to 159/- per cwt. EGGS quietly steady and unaltered; extra selected Irish hen, 16/9 to 17/-; selected, 15/9 to 16/3; medium, 14/- per 120; and duck nominal.

LONDON.—BUTTER—Trading pursued a quiet course, but the tone was fully steady. The recent reduction in retail prices has tended to stimulate consumption, while Continental markets have advanced 2/- to 3/- per cwt. during the week. Considerable quantities are afloat from the Colonies, but as buyers are reported to be working on light stocks demand may be sufficient to keep arrivals clearing. Production is increasing in Denmark and Germany owing to mild climatic conditions. New Zealand finest salted 153/- to 158/-, good to fine 150/- to 152/-, inferior 144/- to 149/-, unsalted 168/- to 176/-; Australian finest salted 151/- to 154/-, good to fine 146/- to 150/-, inferior 138/- to 144/-, unsalted 138/- to 158/-; Argentine finest unsalted 150/- to 156/-, good to fine 144/- to 148/-, inferior 140/- to 142/-; Danish 172/- to 173/-, Dutch 174/- to 176/-, Polish 140/- to 148/-, Siberian 148/- to 152/- per cwt.; Dutch rolls 19/6 to 20/-, French do. 23/- per dozen lb. CHEESE—Colonial in better demand, and prices hardened. Current arrivals are practically cleared, and the next consignment from New Zealand is not due until the 15th February; Dutch, however, met a slow sale at rather easier rates. English finest farmers 110/- to 116/-, good to fine 94/- to 106/-, loaf 105/- to 120/-, factory 84/- per cwt.; Cheshire 1/1½ to 1/3½ per lb.; Canadian coloured 92/- to 98/-, white 92/- to 100/-; New Zealand coloured 92/- to 98/-, white 92/- to 100/-. BACON—Market remains firm, with a fair trade passing. Officially Irish advanced 5/- to 10/-, Russian and Ukranian 4/- per cwt. Danish killings for the week, 87,000. Irish 130/- to 135/-, Danish 106/- to 112/-, Dutch 101/- to 107/-, Swedish 102/- to 108/-, Canadian 106/- to 108/-, Ukranian 94/- to 98/-, Russian 88/- to 96/-, Polish 93/- to 99/-, Latvian 96/- to 99/- per cwt. HAMS—Market firm, with a fair demand. English (as to weight) 160/- to 220/-, American long cut 102/- to 107/6, short 106/- to 108/- per cwt. LARD—After being firm, closed with a quiet tone. American boxes 55/- to 57/-, pails 60/6, cartons (1lb.) 61/6, do. (½lb.) 63/-; Danish bladders 66/-; Irish do. 72/- to 78/- per cwt. EGGS—Market weak on increasing supplies, and a generally quiet demand. English (national marked), specials 21/9 to 22/3, standards 19/9 to 20/-, pullets 17/6 to 18/-, ordinary 19/- to 19/6; Irish Free State, extra selected 17/6, selected 17/-, medium 15/-, ducks 18/-; Northern Ireland hen, specials 20/6, standards 19/6, selected 18/-; Danish ranges from 13/- to 17/6, Dutch all-brown 14/3 to 17/-, mixed 12/6 to 14/-; Belgian 13/- to 13/3, Brittany 12/- to 12/6, Normandy 12/6 to 13/-, Polish 8/3 to 12/6, Egyptian 6/6 to 7/6, South African 11/- to 14/-, Australian 11/- to 14/-, New Zealand 11/6 to 13/6, Argentine 12/6, Swedish 11/6 to 17/- per 120.

MANCHESTER.—BUTTER—Danish official quotation wired 5 kroner higher; top now stands at 285 kroner per 100 kilos, against 280 kroner the previous week, and 318 kroner for the corresponding period last year. Spot market firm, with prices of Continental makes advanced, in sympathy with the official quotation. Colonials also steady. Choicest qualities quoted—Danish, 173/- to 175/-, special dairies extra; Finnish, 162/- to 164/-; Swedish, 161/- to 163/-; New Zealand, 158/- to 160/-; Australian, 156/- to 158/-. BACON—Market generally quiet. No official change recorded in Continental cures, but Irish selections advanced 10/-. General quotations—Irish and North of Ireland rolls nominal; Danish, 107/- to 113/-; Swedish, 103/- to 109/-; Dutch, 101/- to 107/-. LARD quiet and easier; English refined, 60/6, boxes, wholesale; American, 55/- to 55/6, according to brand. CHEESE—Finest grass makes of home-produced scarce and nominal, late soft makes neglected; New Zealand shows a rather sharp advance, white 94/- to 95/-, coloured 93/- to 94/-; Canadian steady, fancy white 98/- to 99/-. EGGS quiet and favouring buyers; Irish Free State, extra selected 17/6, selected 16/9, mediums 14/6, ducks 19/-; English, 20/-; Northern Ireland, 18/6, 22/6; 17lb., 22/-; 15½lb., 21/-; Danish, 15½lb., 15/9; Swedish, 15½lb., 15/3; Dutch, 12/6 to 17/-; Polish blues, 12/-; Egyptians, 7/-.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE.—Only quotable changes in imported fruits, etc. Lemons 11/- to 12/6 per box; black grapes 2/- to 2/3 per lb.; Cape plums 6/- per tray; peaches 2/6 to 8/6 ditto; rhubarb 2/- per dozen bundles; Irish apples 1/6 to 3/- per tray, 4/- to 5/- per keg, 10/- to 16/- and 24/- per barrel. Cauliflowers good sales, 2/6, 2/9, 3/6, and selected prime 4/- per dozen. Supplies generally of moderate extent, and market finished well. Sprouts 2/6 to 3/- per float, 3/- to 4/- half bushel; artichokes 2/- to 2/6 ditto; York cabbage 18/- to 25/-, 30/- and 35/- per load; Savoy 12/- to 20/- and 25/- per load; celery 9d to 2/- and 3/- dozen, extra 4/- to 4/5 and 5/-; carrots 1/2 to 1/6 per dozen bunches, 3/- to 4/5 per bag; parsnips 1/- to 1/4 dozen, and 3/- to 4/- per bag; leeks 1/6 to 2/- dozen bunches; parsley 4d to 6d. and 8d. per tray; beet 9d. to 1/3 and 1/6 dozen; white turnips 4d. to 5d. and 6d. per bundle; jellies 5d. to 6d.; Swede turnips 1/3 to 1/7 per cwt.; mangolds 1/1 to 1/3 per cwt.; red cabbage 2/- dozen, spinach 2/- to 3/- per bag, etc.; thyme 2d. to 3d. per bunch.

DUBLIN POTATO.—Trade remains slow, and prices comparatively low for potatoes in all centres. Dublin consumptive enquiry easily covered on liberal supplies at from 3/- to 3/6 and 3/9 per cwt. delivered.

DUBLIN POULTRY.—Supplies of poultry continue of large and seasonable character. Trade still of good consumptive volume for prime chickens, hen turkeys and fat young hens, but mild weather rather curbs sale for other sorts. Rabbits plentiful, and not so freely cleared. Choice chickens (dead) 11d. to 1/1 per lb., small sizes 2/- to 2/6; prime fat hens and tender fowl 2/6 to 3/-, others 1/- to 2/- each; fat young ducks 3/- to 4/- each, others 2/- to 2/6; fat geese 6d. to 8d. per lb., live 3/6 to 4/6; choice hen turkeys 10d. to 1/- per lb., cock turkeys 8d. to 10d. per lb.; rabbits 1/- to 1/4 each.

DUBLIN BUTTER AND EGG.—Leading cross-Channel markets are up about 1/- or so for Danish butter in reflex of firmer official quotations, but there is a suspicion of weakness attaching to New Zealand produce. Here little actual change can be recorded. Imported butter is in very liberal compass, and a fair quantity of native creams, both fresh and cold stored, are yet available. Danish on scarce side. Trade generally quiet. Danish butter 1/6½ per lb.; Irish creams, fine 1/6 to 1/6½, fair 1/5½, some less; factories 1/3 to 1/4, New Zealand 1/5¼ to 1/5½, Australian 1/5 to 1/5½ per lb.; farmers' butter 1/- to 1/2½, superfine 1/3. With regard to eggs the fine mild weather has produced great expansion in supplies of hen eggs, yet 17lb. quality are hard to find in quantity. Duck eggs also on scarce side. The shipping trade for Irish eggs is being largely headed off by the enormous arrivals of Continental and foreign eggs. Cross-Channel and export offers are being levelled down in sympathy, and reflex of the keen competitive position yonder. Home trade dull at current rates, viz., selected case arrivals of hen eggs 16/- to 17/3, extra heavy picked parcels 18/- to 18/6, perhaps 19/- to 19/6 in some hands, mediums 14/- to 15/-, seconds 12/6 to 13/6, duck eggs 20/- to 21/- per 120.

CORK BUTTER.—The market continues dull. Prices unchanged. Creameries, 162/- to 164/- per cwt., f.o.b.

DUBLIN FISH.—Fish supplies fair from usual sources. Amongst arrivals, 8 chests lobsters, 100 boxes herrings and 20 of mackerel featured. Good sale. First pick lobsters 15/- to 25/- per 13, seconds 10/- to 12/6, others 5/- to 7/6 per lot; turbot 1/- to 12/-, brill 6d. to 4/- each; best soles 40/- to 50/- per lot, mediums 20/- to 25/- and 30/-, slips 7/6 to 12/6 per lot; half boxes plaice 30/- to 90/-, cod 30/- to 40/-, ray 15/- to 25/-, herrings 15/- to 30/-, mackerel 15/- to 22/-.

BILLINGSGATE FISH.—Soles 14d. to 17d., slips 14d. to 17d., lobsters 21d. to 33d. per lb.; live eels, also dead, 20/- to 28/- draught, turbot 11/- to 14/-, brill 9/- to 11/-, plaice 7/- to 14/-, halibut 18/- to 20/-, witches 7/- to 14/-, cod 5/- to 7/-, whiting 3/- to 6/-, hake 11/- to 15/-, skate 4/- to 6/-, haddocks 3/- to 8/-, lemon soles 15/- to 18/- per stone.

MANCHESTER MEAT.—Home-killed beef: sides 8½d. to 9½d., mutton 1/-, lambs 1/1, ewes 7½d. to 8d., calves 8d. to 1/1, porkets 1/1 to 1/2½, chilled hindquarters 6½d. to 7d., forequarters 5½d. to 5½d., frozen hindquarters 6½d. to 7d., crops 5½d. to 5½d., mutton wethers 5½d. to 6½d., ewes 5½d., lambs 7½d. to 8½d.

PRODUCE.

LONDON.—SUGAR—Market quieter for all spot parcels, but prices unaltered. Terminal sections quiet and prices lower, the rumour that Cuba intended to resort to crop restriction being denied. Of raw, March sold 5/6½ to 5/6 and 5/7½, May 7/- to 6/11½ and 7/0½, August 7/9 to 7/8½ and 7/9½, December 8/- to 7/11½ and 8/0½, white May 9/9½. COFFEE—Steady market on spot, with fair inquiries. COCOA steady, though quiet, Accra F/F February-April sellers 40/6 f.o.b. Terminal steady; January sold 44/-, closing sellers 43/6, May 44/10½. Day's sales, 30 tons. TEA—Private contract market unaltered. JUTE in quiet support. Firsts, January-February, quoted £26 7/6; February-March, £26 12/6; March-April, £27.

RUBBER—Market firmer, but slightly unsettled. Fair sales. Spot and February sheet sold 7½d. to 7 3/16d., March 7 11/16d. to 7¾d. and 7⅞d., April-June 7⅞d. to 7⅞d. and 7 15/16d. (later at 7 13/16d.), July-September 8⅛d., October-December 8 5/16d. to 8 3/16d. London stocks next Monday expected 5/600 tons up, and Liverpool 500. SHELLAC—Market firm, quiet. T.N. spot 155/-, March buyers 144/-, May sold 147/- and buyers, August sellers 151/-, buyers at 149/-. OILS—Linseed dull; spot 44/9, February 40/6, March-April 36/6, May-August 38/6. Rape quiet; crude spot 40/-, refined 41/6. Cotton dull; crude Egyptian spot 29/-, common edible 34/-, deodorised 36/-. Soya quiet; English crude extracted spot naked 32/6, deodorised barrels 38/-. Coconut inactive; Ceylon spot drums 36/-, January-February 33/3, Galle do. 32/9. Turpentine quietly steady; American spot 42/6, February-April 43/3 per cwt. OILSEEDS—Linseed—Market quiet, but sellers required generally late rates. Calcutta to London new April-May, sellers, £19 15/-; bold Bombay, February-March £20, March-April £19 17/6; Plate to Hull afloat, also February-March, £17 15/-; March to May, £18. Rapeseed dull. Toria to Hull Continent, January-February, also February-March £16 7/6. Cottonseed quiet and tendency easier. Egyptian black to Hull, January £7 15/-, February £7 16/3, March £7 18/9, April £8 1/3, with white sorts at 6/3 per ton less, respectively; Bombay, new January-February £7 10/-. Groundnuts quiet of sale. Coromandel machined February-March £16 16/3, March-April £17, April-May £17 2/6, May-June £17 5/-. Castorseed steady. Bombay, January-February £15 7/6, February-March £15 5/-; Brazilian, February-March £16 per ton.

OILCAKES—Linseed Cakes—Although values have declined somewhat, it is generally regarded that prices, even now, have not yet reached a sufficiently low level to be on a parity with other feeding stuffs, and consequently for the moment the trade is more or less at a standstill and restricted to a small retail consumptive demand. At the same time, there is no particular pressure to sell, as importations continue extremely light, and the production from the home mills is negligible. Best London-made remain quietly steady at £12 to £12 5/-, while foreign descriptions are more favourably offered at £12 ex store for the finest quality Calcuttas with 12 per cent. oil, and £11 5/- to £11 10/- for Bombays and screw-pressed Calcuttas. Cotton Cakes—Near positions of Egyptians have found buyers at £5 15/- per ton ex ship, and there is quite a good inquiry for January shipments at £5 10/- to £5 12/6, according to date of loading, the earlier positions commanding fully 2/6 per ton premium, while for February and March loading £5 7/6 to £5 10/- would still be accepted. English makes attract rather more attention at the lower quotations of £6 2/6 to £6 5/-.

LIVERPOOL.—CANE SUGAR firm, with sellers of basis 96 deg. pol. afloat at 7/9, and Feb.-Mar. shipments 7/10½ per cwt. c.i.f. to U.K. COCOA—West African, fair fermented Accra for shipment steady, with sellers Feb.-April at 40/6 and March-May 41/3 f.o.b. D clause, and buyers at 3d. less. Sales of Lagos, March-April shipment at 41/6 per cwt. c.i.f. Continent. Spot West African quiet, and 44/- per cwt. quoted for fine fermented Accra in bond during the week; spot sales reach only 170 bags West African at 42/- to 43/- per cwt. in bond ex store. COFFEE—Fine very steady, with values of lower grades unchanged. RICE—Burmah, No. 2 continues at 14/6 for store lots; forward shipments firm at 12/3 per cwt. c.i.f. new crop. OIL CAKES—Imported descriptions continue in slow demand. Linseed brands quoted £10 5/- for American, £10 10/- Bombay expeller, and £11 10/- River Plate Jan. shipments c.i.f. Egyptian Undecorticated Cottonseed unchanged at £5 17/6 for Jan. shipments ex ship terms. Burmah Ground Nut for arrival continue at £6 15/- 39 p.c. and £6 10/- 36 p.c. c.i.f. Liverpool-made Palm Kernel feeding stuffs quiet, but quotations repeated at £8 5/- crushed meals, £8 cakes, and £7 15/- sweetened crushed meals ex mills, and local-made Cocoanut Cake quoted £8 10/- per ton ex mills. MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW.—Both hay and straw supplies bulked a very heavy market, for which there was a slow, dragging sale. Choice strong hay is hardly so scare as was the case throughout the autumn season. Quotations governing principal sales averaged:—Choice 1st crop hay 4/6 to 4/9, and occasionally 5/- per cwt.; 2nd and 3rd crop 4/- to 4/3; best strong old meadow 3/3 to 3/9; other classes 2/6 to 3/- per cwt. Wheaten straw, loose, 2/9 to 3/-, baled 3/3; oaten, loose, 3/- to 3/3, baled 3/3 to 3/6 per cwt.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN RISING.

TIN—Market further improved, and sellers more reserved, despite weaker Eastern cables, and a moderate business resulted. Some irregularity, however, was noticeable, chiefly in forward positions. On balance, cash ruled 10/- to 12/6 and forward 5/- to 7/6 per ton dearer. Standard cash quoted £172 10/- to £172 15/-, three months £173 12/6 to £173 15/-; settlement price £172 15/-. Sales amounted to 425 tons; cash at £172 15/-, three months £173, £174 15/- and £173 15/-; English ingots quoted £173 15/- to £174 5/-. In the East 525 tons reported sold on the basis of £176 7/6 c.i.f. terms. COPPER in slow support, and slight irregularity continued, cash on balance being occasionally 2/6 per ton dearer, but forward 2/6 to 7/6 per ton lower. Standard cash quoted £71 10/- to £72, three months £68 2/6 to £68 10/-; settlement price £71 5/-. 125 tons sold early February at £71, mid-February £70 10/-, end February £70; electros quoted £83 5/- to £83 15/-, wire bars £83 15/-, best selected £76 10/- to £77 15/-, strong sheets £110. LEAD quiet and barely steady. 300 tons sold good soft foreign pig January £21 11/3, March also April £21 11/3; settlement price £21 10/-; English quoted £23. SPELTER firm, but generally quiet. 25 tons changed hands; February at £20 1/3, April £20 8/9, May £20 12/6; settlement price £19 17/6. ANTIMONY maintained. English regulus quoted £48 to £52 10/-. LONDON WOOL SALES.

Two catalogues were offered totalling 10,113 bales, including 2,242 New South Wales and Queensland, 745 Victorian, 2,646 West Australian, 441 South Australian, 3,146 New Zealand, 890 Cape. Competition was fairly well sustained and the portion sold realised steady prices, but withdrawals were rather numerous owing to firm selling limits. Cape descriptions marked a decline of 20 per cent. compared with the closing rates of last series, while Australasian superior greasy merino are now only about 10 per cent. lower.

NEW ZEALAND WOOL SALES.

Bidding was not animated at the Wanganui wool sale held yesterday. Bradford took the bulk of the offerings sold, and the Continent also operated. Compared with November prices fell 4d. to 4½d. for fleece wools and 3d. to 4d. for bellies. Many lots were withdrawn.

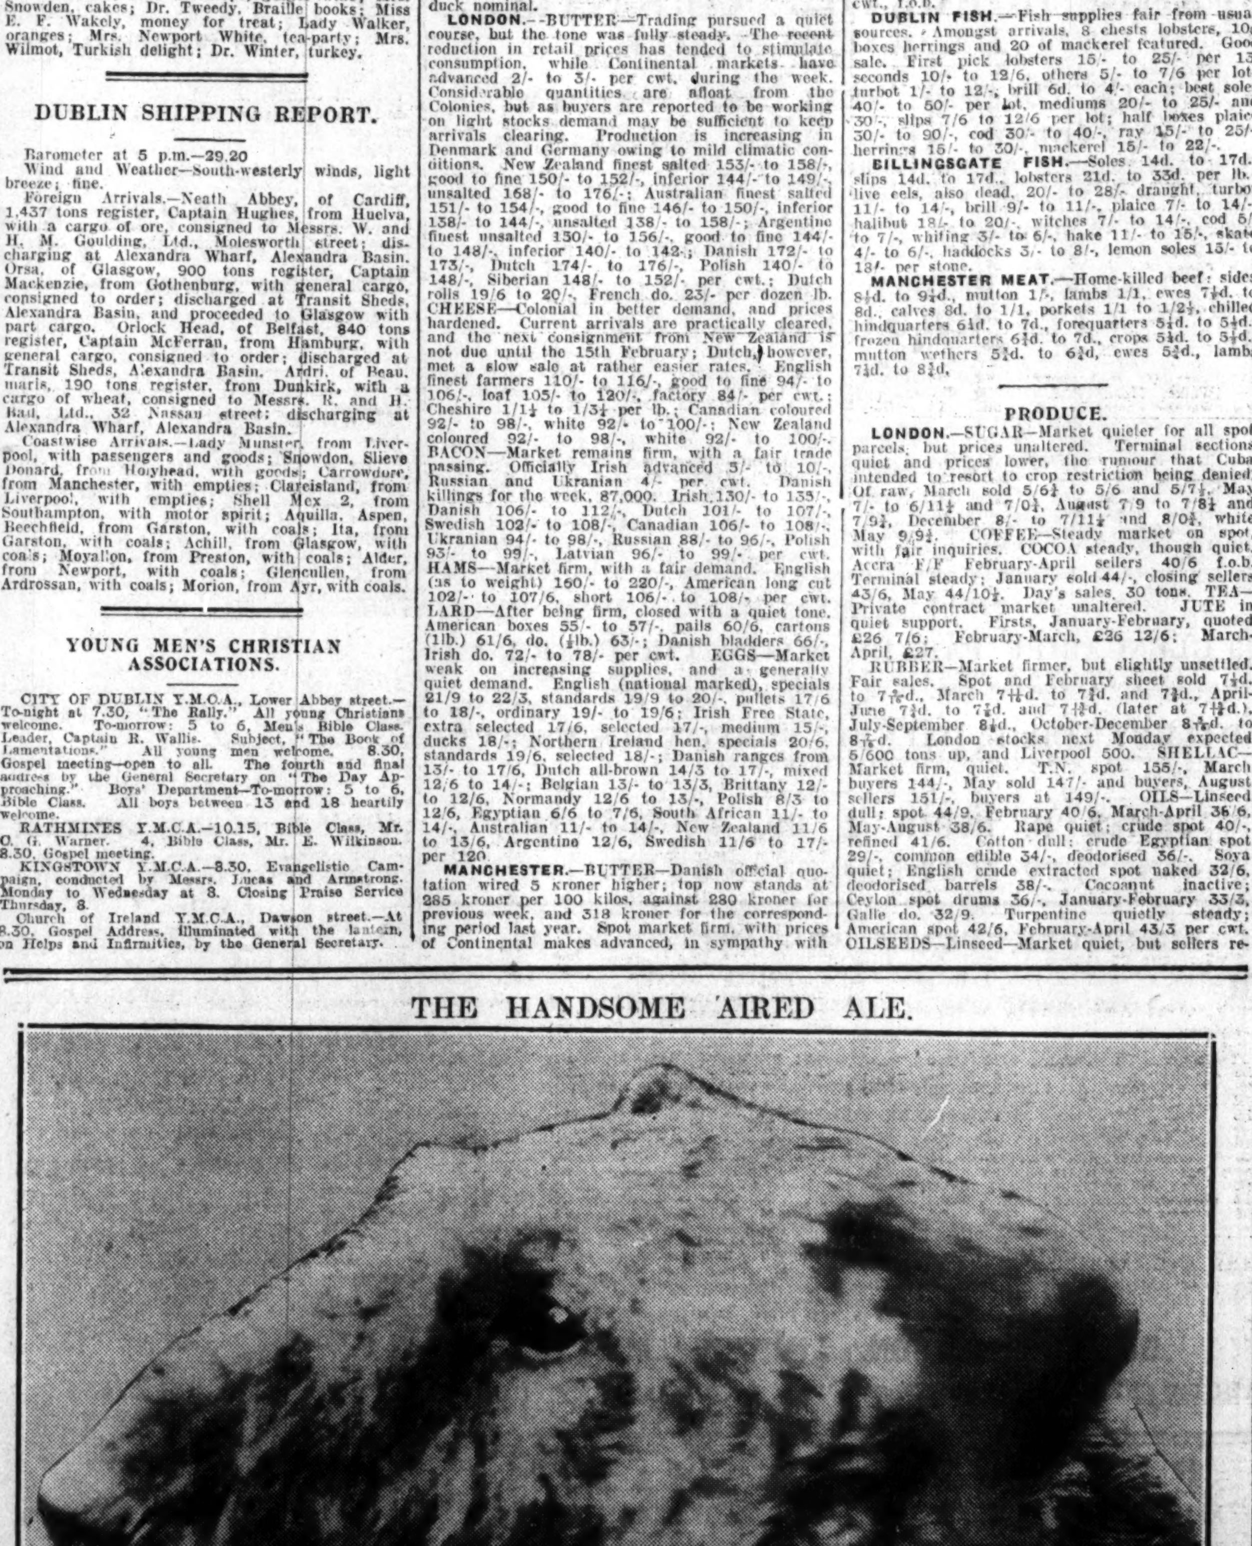

STORE CATTLE SALES.

R. AND J. WILKINSON.

With a representative attendance of both cross-Channel and home buyers in Dublin on Thursday, there was a very good demand for store cattle generally at improved prices, best lots being keenly bid for; other sorts were somewhat more easily sold than of late. A nice pen of Hereford cross heifers at £17 10/- were 45/6, whilst bullocks of the same cross, £19 10/-, £17 5/-, £16 7/6, were from 44/6 to 42/-; horned and polled bullocks, at £19 5/-, £19 10/-, £18 15/-, £18, £16 2/6, realised from 43/- to 45/- per cwt.

(UNLESS PREVIOUSLY DISPOSED OF BY PRIVATE TREATY),

VALUABLE CENTRAL CITY PROPERTY,
53 AND 54 LOWER O'CONNELL STREET, DUBLIN
(HELD UNDER FEE-FARM GRANTS).

FIRST-CLASS INVESTMENT. OFFICE BUILDINGS AND SHOPS, OPPOSITE O'CONNELL MONUMENT, IN THE HEART OF THE BUSINESS LIFE OF THE CITY.

THIS BUILDING is of substantial modern construction, with an imposing frontage to Lower O'Connell street of 42 feet. It consists of two Shops, each with a depth of approximately 84 feet, with trading entrances at rear, and also basement, used as Billiard and Gentlemen's Hairdressing Saloons, which also has a rear entrance. Upper floors are arranged in handsome and imposing Suites of Offices.

SHOPS AND OFFICES are let to excellent tenants on leases or agreements, which produce rentals of £2,165 per annum; out of this, in addition to two Fee-Farm Rents amounting to £237 13s. 10d., the Vendors only pay the rates in respect of the tenancy on the top floor, amounting to £11 14s. 8d. per annum—this leaves a Net Profit Rent of £1,915 11s. 6d. A portion of the second floor is at present in hand, and this is being remodelled and may be let to procure a further rental of £150 per annum, when complete, and which would bring the NET PROFIT RENT TO £2,065 11s. 6d. PER ANNUM.

This offer presents an unique opportunity of securing a first-class investment, secured on property in the very heart of the Irish Metropolis.

Plans of the Building may be inspected at the Offices of the undernamed, from whom the Conditions of Sale and all further particulars can be obtained.
